Graduated Income Tax Vote Likely

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — It seems all but certain that a proposal to begin a graduated income tax will be on the Nov. 2 ballot after opponents lost a last-minute court battle. The Court of Appeals said Thursday that more than 300,000 signatures submitted by backers of the proposal "should be presumed valid." It ordered the State Board of Canvassers to decide by 5 p.m. Friday whether to certify or invalidate the signatures. But the court said if the board deadlocks, as it has in the past on the issue, the proposed constitutional amendment should go on the ballot anyway. The court said it wanted to protect the right of the people to propose and approve new legislation.

It said opponents had not shown by "clear, competent and convincing evidence" that so many signatures were likely to be invalid that the proposal itself should be kept off the ballot. Donald Reisig, an attorney for opponents of the proposal, and board advisor Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Hackney agreed that the proposal is very likely to wind up on the ballot today by either board action or under the appeals court order. Reisig said he would not try to persuade the board to invalidate the signatures, saying that would be "futile." But he said he considering asking the Michigan Supreme Court to order the proposal off the ballot.

A former Ingham County Circuit Court Judge, Reisig says a private random sample of the signatures commissioned by the state Chamber of Commerce shows that many signees may be unregistered voters, invalidating those signatures. If approved by voters the graduated income tax proposal would remove the state constitution's ban on such taxation. It would reduce the state income tax from 4.6 to 3.9 per cent for all taxable personal income under $20,000, and allow higher rates for income over $20,000. The Michigan Citizen's Lobby, which spearheaded the petition drive, originally submitted 325,429 signatures to the state elections division. After the usual canvas and inspection by the office's staff, the number of valid signatures was reduced to 305,234. About 265,000 were needed to place the issue on the ballot.

Last week the four-member board split along party lines when it tried to decide whether to certify the signatures. Republicans favored conducting a random sampling of the signatures, as Reisig urged, while Democrats favored okaying the signatures and approving the proposal for the ballot. Reisig claimed that the private random survey showed up to 20 per cent of the signatures could be invalid. If true, there would not have been enough signatures to allow the proposal on the ballot. The appeals court said Thursday that "all doubts as to technical deficiencies should be resolved in favor of permitting the people to express their will on proposed amendments or legisaltion."

"We do not intend to establish a rule creating a presumption of validity in all such cases," the appeals court said. "Rather, we are convinced in this case by the large number of extra signatures obtained and the relative weakness of the evidence of insufficiency presented by the challengers. Were the number of signatures smaller or the evidence of insufficiency stronger, we might find the petitions to be insufficient even though the number of facially valid signatures exceeded the minimum requirements," it said.

Of the appeals court decision, Citizen's Lobby co-director Doug Ross said Friday: "It's a reaffirmation of the initiative process. What the court said is that it's not going to allow any one or two people to block the determination of a third of a million people to, in this case, vote on their tax system, and write their own law." But Reisig said the intent of his efforts to randomly sample the signatures is to put the petition process under closer scrutiny than it got in the past.

Duffy-Mott Moving Out Of Hartford

BY LARRY MacINTYRE
Staff Writer

HARTFORD — About 70 of the 120 workers at the Duffy-Mott fruit processing plant here will lose their jobs when the firm closes its production lines Sept. 17, the company disclosed yesterday.

A vice president at Duffy-Mott headquarters in New York said the plant will remain open as a warehouse "until further notice."

However, the plant's general manager, Harold Jackson, said the warehouse will remain open only for as long as takes to remove the current inventory.

He said company employes were notified of the plant closing Wednesday.

Miss Cornelia Van Sicien, vice president of administration, said the decision to cease production in Hartford was made because of the "high prices of Michigan raw products, primarily apples."

She said the high prices had resulted in reduced volume at the plant, making it too costly to continue operations here.

Duffy-Mott has processed apples, cherries and blueberries in Hartford since it purchased the plant from Cherry Growers Inc. in 1968. Only a year earlier, Cherry Growers Inc. had announced construction of the $1 million plant.

Jackson said the employes had been notified on Wednesday of the closing.

The announcement of the Hartford closing is the second in recent weeks to come from a major employer in Van Buren county.

The Du-Wel Metal Products Corp. in Bangor blamed poor economic conditions in Michigan as the reason it is moving some of its operations to a $4 million plant it is planning to build in Indiana.

The firm said a majority of its 200 workers idled by an April fire at its Bangor plant will not be rehired. Several of the Bangor operations are being moved to Indiana where the firm said economic conditions are more favorable for business.

Miss Van Sicien said Duffy-Mott will continue to operate fruit processing plants in New York, Pennsylvania and

Siljander's Foes Drop Write-In Plan

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

JONES — Three Rivers Republican Mark Siljander has survived a post-primary election skirmish within his own party in a bid for the 42nd state representative's seat — at least for the time being.

Meeting here yesterday, a group of Republicans unhappy over Siljander's victory in the GOP August primary election said they have dropped plans to slate a write-in candidate to oppose him in the November general election.

The disgruntled Republicans, calling themselves the "76 committee," announced at a press conference they would not stage the write-in effort as long as machines are used to record votes this fall.

But the group added that should the state be forced to use paper ballots because of a large number of minority parties, the write-in effort would be revived.

Harold Sparks, Cassopolis area farmer and one of the GOP losers to Siljander, will be the committee's candidate should paper ballots be used, the group said.

Siljander, 25, beat out seven other GOP candidates in the August contest. He and Democrat Dixie Almasi, Edwardsburg, will vie for the post held for the past 10 years by Rep. DeForest Strang, (R-Sturgis). Strang did not seek re-election.

The district includes most of St. Joseph and Cass counties, and a portion of Van Buren county.

Sparks said yesterday that after considerable study, the committee felt that staging a write-in campaign on voting machines would be too difficult. He said the process of using stickers or writing in candidates' names on rolls of paper was confusing to voters.

"If 100 people went into the booth to write-in somebody, we could lose between 50 and 90 votes," Sparks said.

If voting machines are used this fall, support for Siljander will be up to each member of the committee, Sparks said. The group denied that pressure from other Republicans was the reason for dropping the effort. Concern over complications caused by the machines was the only reason for calling a halt to the drive, the committee said.

Siljander could not be reached for comment yesterday.

The 76 committee has claimed that Siljander was not qualified for office and that he had misrepresented himself in campaign literature. Siljander countered that the allegations were "trivial" and "without validity." He said the effort was "sour grapes" on the part of the primary losers.

Support for Siljander's campaign for office has been pledged by party chairmen in both Cass and St. Joseph counties.

August Traffic Toll Down

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Traffic accidents last month in Michigan were down six per cent from August 1975, according to Michigan State Police records. A spokesman said Thursday that 190 people died in traffic accidents last month compared to 203 in August 1975. The August deaths brought the accumulated toll for the first eight months this year to 1,204, almost six per cent more than the 1,138 counted during the same period last year.

Sheriff Bound Over

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Washtenaw County Sheriff Fred Postill has been bound over for circuit court trial on a felonious assault charge in the beating of one of his deputies. Circuit Court Judge Patrick J. Conlin continued Postill's $1,000 personal bond Thursday, pending pretrial examination Sept. 11. Postill is accused of assaulting deputy Basil Baysinger — now under suspension because of the incident — at a July 11 wedding reception. The sheriff has maintained the charges were politically motivated. He is a candidate for re-election in November. Witnesses at a preliminary hearing testified Postill struck Baysinger in the face and put his handcuffs around the deputy's neck.

South Haven Will Hire Illinoisan For Manager

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven city council has tentatively agreed to hire as city manager the present village manager of Clarendon Hills, Ill. The council is expected to take formal action on the hiring at its Tuesday night meeting.

Paul D. Sharon, 36, agreed to terms with city council during an executive session last night at city hall. He was to submit his resignation to the Clarendon Hills village council today.

The city manager position has been vacant since mid-April when Albert Pierce was fired after serving for seven years. Howard McDougall, the city's assessor, has been serving as acting city manager.

Sharon is expected to be on the job in four to six weeks. His salary will be $27,500. Because of his background he is being paid $23,000 for serving as city manager and $4,500 for engineering responsibilities.

The council had emphasized in its advertising for the position that candidates should have strong engineering backgrounds. Sharon was selected from 80 applicants.

Clarendon Hills is a suburb of Chicago with a population of 6,000. It is primarily a residential "bedroom" community for Chicago commuters, according to Sharon.

Sharon has been village manager in Clarendon Hills since February, 1973. From 1967-73 he was director of public works for the village of LaGrange, Ill. and from 1964-67 was a solid wastes engineer for the city of Rochester, N.Y.

He was awarded a civil engineering degree by the University of Detroit in 1964. He has also studied at the University of Buffalo, N.Y., Clarkson (N.Y.) College of Technology and St. Bonaventure University.

He has been active in the Illinois Municipal League and American Public Works Association. He is a past president of the suburban branch of the Chicago metropolitan branch of the APWA.

He has been a member of the Jaycees and Lions and served on committees of United Fund drives in both LaGrange and Clarendon Hills.

Sharon and his wife Joan have three children.

Among projects Sharon said he has administered in Clarendon Hills was a program for central business district development. He has also worked to undertake storm water drainage improvements.

While in LaGrange, Ill. he designed a downtown street lighting program that won the Chicago Lighting Institute's award of merit.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Congress' Automatic Salary Increase

Last year Congress tacked a rider on a minor postal bill providing its members with an automatic cost of living pay increase. The amount was pegged at 4.8 per cent of the preceding annual salary.

This puts the current salary for a Representative and a Senator at $44,600 a year.

Unless the Congressional COLA is changed or repealed the 1977 salary will move up to $46,740.

The 1975 rider also applies to the Vice President, cabinet members, federal judges and top echoelon administrative personnel.

The rider drew severe criticism from within and without Congress. It sneaked by in the House on a 214-213 vote.

A fair share of the citizenry blasted their Senators and Representatives for coming in the back door.

Historically, Congress has adjusted its pay schedule by specifically voting on the matter.

The beauty of COLA, from its sponsors' view, is that it eases itself into the pocketbook with no fuss or feathers because not many voters keep track of such things.

Two days ago the House put the ax to COLA.

Rep. George Shipley, an Illinois Democrat, offered a motion to cancel it for House members.

This drew considerable protest from his colleagues because of its limited application.

Rep. Morris Udall, a fellow Democrat from Arizona who died with his boots on in the Presidential nominating contest with Jimmy Carter, came to the rescue reluctantly but effectively.

He offered an amendment slicing away the increase for everyone.

This whooped through the House by a 325-75 affirmation.

Udall put his finger on the proposition in this comment:

"We're saying here (by Shipley's original bill) that we are not worth as much as some third level Assistant Secretary of Agriculture. I think we are doing something here today that demeans the House of Representatives to make points with some people back home."

The Shipley-Udall bill now goes to the Senate where, we would guess, it might suffocate in committee.

Only a third of its 100 members stand for election this year, as contrasted to all 435 House seats coming up for grabs.

It would be our guess that the two-thirds not having to campaign will follow the reaction from Chuck Percy, R., Illinois, who told the reporters, "I can't see why our legislative people should take a pay cut and that's what it would be. The costs for Congressmen and Senators are very high."

If our hunch holds up, it should work out as an illustration of having one's cake and eating it.

The House members being bugged by constituents accusing them of stealing pennies from the helpless taxpayer can reply, "We tried, didn't we?", and if returned to Washington, still collect the 4.8 per cent increase. Plus, we might add, a string of goodies by way of expense allowances and other fringes which make it a good thing to be in Congress.

Without belaboring COLA as a contributor to inflation, the Shipley-Udall exercise is simply one more illustration of the legislative process being wasted on furbelows and vitiated in brass tack questions.

If Congress really wants to do something meaningful for the taxpayer, it might better repeal the annual 1 per cent upward adjustment in federal pensions.

The learned solons in swallowing that idea a year ago thought they were merely adding a COLA to pension benefits already accrued and being paid.

Instead it feeds into the base upon which future pensions will be calculated.

Since the feeder is compounded annually it means that somebody put on the payroll today can in 25 or 30 years retire on pension larger than what the initial salary is.

This may fly in the face of all conceptions of actuarial integrity, but so far no one in the House or Senate has displayed sufficient moral courage to correct the error.

FAMILY PLEASED WITH OPEN HOUSE

Editor:

Tonight, our family, two parents and one 7th grade student, went to an open house at the Fairplain 7-8 grade center. The purpose of the open house was to see the school meet the teachers, and to become familiar with a larger school, with an entirely different method of class room changes from a smaller school.

We met in the gym, where the Principal, Mr. William Vescalani, welcomed everyone. He then introduced the teachers and the counselor.

The students and the parents then went to their respective home rooms and received the schedules for the classes for the coming semester.

We started from the home room, then to each scheduled class. Each teacher had one 10-minutes to speak to the class.

We are very pleased that a program like this was set up before school started, to acquaint the student and parent with the program of the coming year.

In our opinion, it seems to our family, this will be an excellent year, with teachers who want to teach, and students who want to learn.

Thank you all at Fairplain 7-8 grade center for a very enlightening evening.

MICHIGAN FISCAL CONDITION POOR

Editor,

On May 27, 1976, The Herald-Palladium stated that State Treasurer Allison Green told the legislature that Michigan will be $423.5 million in the red on October 1st.

Gerald Miller, Director of the Department of Management and Budget said, "This state will be living with a negative cash balance for a number of years, the only way to solve this problem is when some money is taken in, put it in the treasury."

But that is unlikely because of the legislature's tendency to spend whatever revenue comes in.

Quietly, without fanfare, business men, all across America, are volunteering skills to help government cut costs and perform more efficiently, programs and accomplishments vary from state to state. The last dozen of years they've saved taxpayers an estimated $5.5 billion. President Hoover once probed the federal governments efficiency, why not have state governments scrutinized as well? There is a Chicago based consulting firm, Warren King and Associates.

When Ronald Reagan was elected Governor of California, in 1967, he asked King to coordinate a study in his state, the 252 "loaned executives," divided into seven teams, weighed in with 2,000 suggestions.

These enabled Reagan to cut spending $175 million a year. By 1976, some 20 states had asked King to coordinate management reviews of their governments, more than 1,500 businessmen participated. They offered 14,500 suggestions, which could, if put into action, save the taxpayer $4.8 billion.

Michigan definitely needs reorganization, new industries should be enticed, present industries not driven out of state, stop harassment to the point of small businessmen being forced to close doors or go into bankruptcy. Federal bureaucrats should be eliminated, and the remedy lies in Congress, which created the problem in the first place.

The Benton Harbor school bells this morning rang for the first time in many days. The summer vacation passed too quickly for the boys and girls who were loitering along the path to the school house, until the last bell sounded its final taps for study. The most important changes made in the courses of study this year have been in the high school. Another course has been added known as the "Elective," which is designed especially to fit pupils for the business world. This makes in the high school six courses, four of which admit to the Universities of Chicago and Michigan. Also the state normal college.

Prisons Cross Sex Barrier

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — Who says prisons aren't any fun? Female guards at the federal medical lockup here are now permitted to ask male inmates to drop their pants whenever the occasion becomes necessary. Officially, the occasion is a strip search, but to the men it is plain peek-a-boo and the prisoner-patients haven't had such jollies since somebody put holes in the bedpans.

Not everyone is delighted with the situation, though. After being stripped outside the visitors' facilities recently, two convicts decided it was not as much sexy as undignified — and they filed an administrative complaint concerning invasion of their privacies. "I don't mind it myself," said one killjoy, reportedly, "but my fiance does."

Hence a controversy is born that has implications regarding a wide spectrum of social attitudes and legal complexities. For example: if women guards can undress men in this prison, can male guards do the same to women in another? So far as the law and the U.S. government are concerned, the answer is yes.

It boggles the mind.

Not surprisingly, the issue has its roots in the equal rights movement. Traditionally an all-male prison, with all-male guards, the Springfield institution yielded last January to the forces that insist women must be everything men must be. Three women were hired to be correction officers. They were advised they would not be used as window dressing, but as hacks; they would have to perform all the duties of their male counterparts, however risky or embarrassing.

Since then the women have served nobly, and with fitting curiosity. They make security checks in cells where men often lounge in the nude. They walk in on the inmates at their toilette. They keep an eye on the showers, on the urinals, even on the secret corners where some prisoners go for sexual relief.

The women have said that their responsibilities are not all that thrilling. One hints that boney knees behind bars can be an esthetic affront; besides, they allegedly regard themselves in the same category as nurses when it comes to the sights. They've even told the Springfield Leader and Press that "We're not there to look at their bodies in a sexual sense." Prison officials echo this response, saying that "strict propriety" is observed, and no touching takes place.

As for the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, which regulates Springfield and 33 other federal jails, the peek-a-boo practice is fully, if not wholeheartedly, sanctioned. "If a woman is to be a guard," says a bureau official with a sigh, "she can't have special exemptions." The official says that technically the same rules apply for male guards in an all-female prison: "If a strip is necessary, men have that right."

In common practice, of course, male guards are not stripping women in U.S. prisons. Warden Carson Markley of the all-female institution in Alderson, W.Va., says his male officers perform perimeter duty only. "And that's the way it should be," the warden insists; women in prison feel dehumanized enough without having to wonder if a man is watching every time they go to the lavatory.

The same goes for men in prison, say the complainants here at Springfield. And they are correct. The rights of women seeking employment should not supersede the inmates' rights to a measure of dignity. Not that the boys are prudes, but neither are they simply objects. Pride is often the last refuge for a prisoner, and for many it can't be maintained around woman cops who can order trousers removed. If she takes her's off, maybe; otherwise it is not a fair deal.

Legion Has Been Told Off Before

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter knew what he was doing when he told the American Legion what it didn't want to hear the other day.

It was good theater, and probably good politics, although it can be argued that anybody who gets booed is not exactly demonstrating universal popularity.

The public got the impression from the incident of Carter as a man of character, not afraid to stick to his guns before a hostile audience. It may even have made a dent in his image as a fellow who waffles on major issues.

Carter anticipated the negative reaction from the veterans. But he took a calculated gamble that most people agree with him and favor a blanket pardon for Vietnam war resisters, even if the Legion doesn't.

It was a rather bold move, since presidential campaigns are usually devoted entirely to telling people only what they supposedly want to hear. For courage, however, it does not begin to match a speech Adlai Stevenson made before the same Legion gathering in 1952, one month after his presidential nomination.

Carter promised the Legion he would continue all the special favors and privileges to which veterans have become accustomed and only dropped his bombshell in one small paragraph. Stevenson, however, really gave it to them, denouncing both the McCarthyism which was then rampant in the group and expanding veterans' benefits.

Joe McCarthy was then riding high with his witch-hunting tactics, whipping the nation into an orgy of anti-Communism.

Stevenson's brave words are worth recalling today:

"Patriotism," he said; "means putting country before self. This is no abstract phrase, and unhappily, we find some things in American life today of which we cannot be proud.

"Consider the groups who seek to identify their special interests with the general welfare. . .I have resisted them before and I hope the Almighty will give me the strength to do so again and again. And I should tell you, my fellow legionnaires, as I would tell all other organized groups, that I intend to resist pressures from veterans, too, if I think their demands are excessive or in conflict with the public interest, which must always be the paramount interest.

"Let me suggest, incidentally, that we are rapidly becoming a nation of veterans. If we were all to claim a special reward for our service, beyond that to which specific disability or sacrifice has created a just claim, who would be left to pay the bill? After all we are Americans first and veterans second, and the best maxim for any administration is still Jefferson's: 'Equal rights for all, special privileges for none.'"

The Legion received Stevenson cordially, despite his strong words. The speech had considerable public impact and was widely admired for its political courage. It did Stevenson no good, however. He carried only nine states against Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Report Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has denied a published report that a top aide to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger used the word "Fascist" in describing Soviet novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn.

Department spokesman Frederick Brown said Thursday that aide Winston Lord's recollection is that he called Solzhenitsyn a man of "great courage and intellect" but that he disagreed with the novelist's foreign policy views.

As You Play Labor Day, Thank Mr. Peter McGuire

Peter McGuire is a name unfamiliar to many Americans, yet he was the man responsible for giving the United States one of the most celebrated holidays.

It was Peter McGuire who, in 1882, suggested a day each year dedicated to American industry and the men who have contributed toward making it the most powerful and constructive force in the world.

Twelve years after McGuire proposed a day dedicated to the industry of man, and after many towns, cities and states already had proclaimed such a legal holiday for their citizens, Congress made it official by establishing Labor Day as a national holiday.

To the 1976 generation of Labor Day celebrants, the occasion is the last opportunity for many to enjoy summer vacations and sports on a grand scale. Labor Day weekends have become traditional settings for outings to picnic grounds, water resorts, mountain retreats and all the other favorite vacation haunts.

Labor Day is the launching pad for another fall routine, including a new school term, and provides a welcom breather before the family buckles down to the serious business of earning a livelihood and gaining an education.

It also is the dividing line between summer recreational activities and the equally enjoyable travel opportunities of fall and the forthcoming winter activities of both the warm and cold climes.

It also has fulfilled the dreams of Peter McGuire, who envisioned Labor Day as a celebration "dedicated to peace, civilization, and the triumph of industry. It is a demonstration of fraternity and the harbinger of a better age — a more chivalrous time, when labor shall be best honored and well rewarded."

Congress' Automatic Salary Increase

Last year Congress tacked a rider on minor postal bill providing its members with an automatic cost of living pay increase. The amount was pegged at 4.8 per cent of the preceding annual salary.

This puts the current salary for a Representative and a Senator at $44,600 a year.

Unless the Congressional COLA is changed or repealed the 1977 salary will move up to $46,740.

The 1975 rider also applies to the Vice President, cabinet members, federal judges and top echoelon administrative personnel.

The rider drew severe criticism from within and without Congress. It sneaked by in the House on a 214-213 vote.

A fair share of the citizenry blasted their Senators and Representatives for coming in the back door.

Historically, Congress has adjusted its pay schedule by specifically voting on the matter.

The beauty of COLA, from its sponsors' view, is that it eases itself into the pocketbook with no fuss or feathers because not many voters keep track of such things.

Two days ago the House put the ax to COLA.

Rep. George Shipley, an Illinois Democrat, offered a motion to cancel it for House members.

This drew considerable protest from his colleagues because of its limited application.

Rep. Morris Udall, a fellow Democrat from Arizona who died with his boots on in the Presidential nominating contest with Jimmy Carter, came to the rescue reluctantly but effectively.

He offered an amendment slicing away the increase for everyone.

This whooped through the House by a 325-75 affirmation.

Udall put his finger on the proposition in this comment:

"We're saying here (by Shipley's original bill) that we are not worth as much as some third level Assistant Secretary of Agriculture. I think we are doing something here today that demeans the House of Representatives to make points with some people back home."

The Shipley-Udall bill now goes to the Senate where, we would guess, it might suffocate in committee.

Only a third of its 100 members stand for election this year, as contrasted to all 435 House seats coming up for grabs.

It would be our guess that the two-thirds not having to campaign will follow the reaction from Chuck Percy, R., Illinois, who told the reporters, "I can't see why our legislative people should take a pay cut and that's what it would be. The costs for Congressmen and Senators are very high."

If our hunch holds up, it should work out as an illustration of having one's cake and eating it.

The House members being bugged by constituents accusing them of stealing pennies from the helpless taxpayer can reply, "We tried, didn't we?", and if returned to Washington, still collect the 4.8 per cent increase. Plus, we might add, a string of goodies by way of expense allowances and other fringes which make it a good thing to be in Congress.

Without belaboring COLA as a contributor to inflation, the Shipley-Udall exercise is simply one more illustration of the legislative process being wasted on furbelows and vitiated in brass tack questions.

If Congress really wants to do something meaningful for the taxpayer, it might better repeal the annual 1 per cent upward adjustment in federal pensions.

Stevenson's brave words are worth recalling today:

"Patriotism," he said, "means putting country before self. This is no abstract phrase, and unhappily, we find some things in American life today of which we cannot be proud.

"Consider the groups who seek to identify their special interests with the general welfare. . .I have resisted them before and I hope the Almighty will give me the strength to do so again and again. And I should tell you, my fellow legionnaires, as I would tell all other organized groups, that I intend to resist pressures from veterans, too, if I think their demands are excessive or in conflict with the public interest, which must always be the paramount interest.

"Let me suggest, incidentally, that we are rapidly becoming a nation of veterans. If we were all to claim a special reward for our service, beyond that to which specific disability or sacrifice has created a just claim, who would be left to pay the bill? After all we are Americans first and veterans second, and the best maxim for any administration is still Jefferson's: 'Equal rights for all, special privileges for none.' "

The Legion received Stevenson cordially, despite his strong words. The speech had considerable public impact and was widely admired for its political courage. It did Stevenson no good, however. He carried only nine states against Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Report Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has denied a published report that a top aide to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger used the word "Fascist" in describing Soviet novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn.

Department spokesman Frederick Brown said Thursday that aide Winston Lord's recollection is that he called Solzhenitsyn a man of "great courage and intellect" but that he disagreed with the novelist's foreign policy views.

St. Joseph Band Will Close Season With Four Concerts

Four Labor Day weekend concerts ring down the curtain on the 1976 season of the St. Joseph Municipal band.

Concerts will be at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday and Monday at the band shell, Lake boulevard and Port street. All concerts will feature guest entertainers.

Band Director John E. N. Howard announced Lisa Hightower will sing a medley of songs from the Broadway show "The King And I" Sunday.

The Henneberry Family Troupe, whose act features juggling, unicycle riding and singing, will also perform Sunday, Howard said. The troupe is on tour out of Chicago.

Monday's concert will feature the Wittsche family of St. Josebh as guests. They will demonstrate Barvarian folk dancing and cowbell ringing.

Miss Hightower is a 1974 graduate of St. Joseph high school and a junior at Northwestern university.

She has played several roles in various musicales, including "The King And I," "Fiddler on the Roof," "The Sound of Music," and "Guys and Dolls."

Miss Hightower has also been a featured soloist at Trinity Lutheran church, St. Joseph, and the First United Methodist church, St. Joseph. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbern O. Hightower, 1885 Lasein drive.

The Wittsche family, of 1429 North Manor drive, has performed at ethnic group and concertino festivals in Venice, Fla.; South Bend and Grand Rapids.

Howard has scheduled a selection of tunes for the band from other Broadway plays to complement Miss Hightower's performance Sunday. The music will be "Everything's Coming Up Roses," "People," "With A Little Bit of Luck," "On A Clear Day," "Try To Remember" and "That's Entertainment."

Other Sunday selections will include John Philip Sousa's march " Golden Jubilee," Ferde Grofe's "March For Americans" and "Rock Encounter."

Monday's concerts will feature a "Cavalcade of American Song" with band member Gayle Petrick narrating songs composed over the past 100 years, the current popular song "The Hustle" and Sousa's march " Semper Fidelis."

FOLK DANCERS: The Wittsche Family of St. Joseph will perform at Monday's concerts of the St. Joseph Muncipal band. The Wittsches will present a program of Bavarian folk dancing and a cowbell ringing act. From left are Paul, Janet and their parents Leo and Irene Wittsche.

MULTI-TALENTED: The Lee and Rita Henneberry Family troupe will perform at Sunday's St. Joseph Municipal band concerts. The troupe features music, juggling, unicycling and comedy.

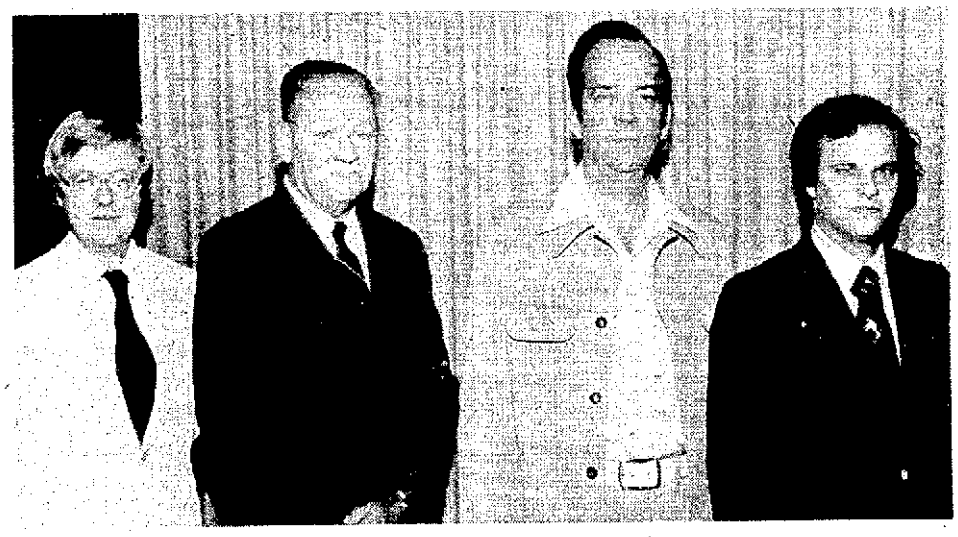

Longtime BH Law Firm Relocates In St. Joseph

The law firm of Hartwig, Crow, Jones & Postelli has announced the relocation of its offices to 206 Court street, St. Joseph.

The firm, composed of Attys. Joseph Hartwig, John Crow, F.A. (Mike) Jones, and F. Ronald Postelli, moved from its longtime office suite on the second floor of the Inter-City bank building in downtown Benton Harbor at Wall and Pipestone streets. The partnership purchased the building at its new location and occupies some 3,300 square feet of the 5,200 square foot building. The private court reporting firm of Holle and White occupies an office in the same building.

Hartwig began practicing law in Benton Harbor in 1948 and Crow, who started practice in 1951, joined Hartwig in partnership in 1956 in the former Benton Harbor office. Jones entered the partnership in 1964 after serving several years as an associate member of the firm.

Postelli became a member in 1973 and has been the resident partner in the firm's branch office in Watervliet, and will continue working from the Watervliet office.

SJ Township Hall Construction Bids Right On Money

Apparent low bids for construction of St. Joseph township's new municipal building came in on the money Thursday.

Bids for the project were opened by architect Wayne C. Hatfield of Benton Harbor in the presence of the township board of trustees and contractor representatives in the present township hall at 146 West Napier avenue.

Hatfield said his latest cost estimate was $277,000. The total low bid figures for the job were $276,980.

Plans call for the new hall to be built on a 10-acre site at Nelson road and Washington avenue, on the west side of the St. Joseph river.

The bids were divided into three categories — general construction; plumbing, heating, ventilating and air conditioning; and electricjal work.

Seven firms bid on the general construction work. Four bid on the plumbing and climate control portion and six bid on the electrical work.

Hollman & Roe builders, 217 Wayne street, St. Joseph, was the apparent low bidder for general construction with a submitted price of $185,975.

Ideal Plumbing & Heating, Inc., 155 West Wall street, Benton Harbor, was the apparent low bidder on the plumbing and climate control contract at $54,980.

Beaudoin Electrical Construction Company, 1007 Nickerson avenue, Benton township, was the apparent low bidder on the electrical work at $25,945.

The highest bid in each of the categories was $250,000 for general construction, $68,600 for plumbing, and $29,765 for electrical.

Township Supervisor Orval L. Benson invited residents to attend a regular board meeting Tuesday night to give their opinions on the proposed building and the costs. The meeting, postponed from Monday because of the Labor Day holiday, will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Fairplain West school.

No action to award the contracts will be taken by the trustees until residents have voiced their opinions, Benson said.

Township Treasurer Isadore DiMaggio has reported a building fund of $177,000 is on hand from municipal budget appropriations over the past five or six years. The township also expects to receive $45,000 from the sale of the present municipal building, he added.

Benson has previously said the township is applying for federal funds to help finance building costs. A five-year loan will be obtained from "some source" if the efforts to obtain the federal funds are not successful, he added.

Lakeshore Yearbooks Available

People who ordered copies of Lakeshore high school's 1975-76 yearbook can pick them up Tuesday at the high school, according to David Clark, assistant high school principal.

The books will be available from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. in Room 222 only, he said. He said subscribers need their receipt in order to pick up their copies.

St. Joseph Yearbooks Here Now

Copies of the 1975-76 edition of the MAZENBLUE, the St. Joseph high school yearbook, may be picked up at the high school cafeteria between 7 and 9:30 tonight, according to a high school spokesman.

There will also be a limited supply of yearbooks for those who did not order ahead of time. They will be sold at $7 a copy.

Recordings Available In St. Joe

Recordings of the St. Joseph school district's Bicentennial Celebration presented last May are now available for those who have ordered and paid for them, according to Renard Baldwin, choral director at Upton junior high.

He said the records can be picked up in the lobby of St. Joseph high school auditorium next Wednesday and Thursday from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

Interceptor Repair Bids Over Estimate

Bids for repair of a 150-foot section of the Hickory creek sewer interceptor came in well over projected cost estimates Thursday. Robert H. DeVries, chairman of the Lake Michigan Water and Sewage Treatment authority (LMWSTA), reported the apparent low bid is "at least 50 per cent above the engineer's estimate." The damaged section is in St. Joseph township, just north of the Niles road bridge over Hickory creek.

DeVries said two bids were received by the LMWSTA. Yerington & Harris, Benton Harbor, bid $128,741 for the apparent low bid, DeVries reported. The second bid was received from Balferna Associates, Kalamazoo, for $177,670.

DeVries said Charles Barger, the authority's engineer, and Henry W. Gleiss, the authority's attorney, have been instructed to review the bids and submit their recommendations within a week. The authority can either accept the apparent low bid or reject all bids, he added. If the bids are rejected, the authority may advertise for bids again. Repair costs will be split between St. Joseph and Lincoln townships, whose residents are served by the seven-mile interceptor.

Bystander Shot, BH Police Say

Benton Harbor police said an apparently innocent bystander was wounded Thursday in a shooting that appeared to be the result of a feud between other parties.

Two men were arrested shortly after the shooting on the street of Duane Jones, 20, of 578 Edwards avenue, Benton Harbor, who was reported in "critical" condition today at Mercy hospital after undergoing surgery last night for a wound in the chest.

The shooting occurred in the 700 block of LaSalle avenue.

Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon were brothers, Lionell, 30, and Willie Johnson, 29, both of 762 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor.

Det. Sgt. Sam Watson said police believe the intended target in the shooting was another man who was in a group of between four and six people walking along LaSalle shortly before 6:30 p.m. Watson said the shooting "appears to be the result of a feud," and that "the wrong fellow was in the wrong place at the wrong time."

Witnesses told police a car with two men inside drove up along side the group and two shots were heard. Watson said Patrolman Ken Webster stopped a car matching the description of one seen leaving the shooting scene a few minutes after a description was broadcast.

Webster said the car was stopped in the parking lot at the Benton Harbor city hall, near the Benton Harbor police station. He said he was just leaving the police station when he heard the broadcast and stopped the car.

Watson said he did not know as yet what type of bullet wounded Jones, but reported a .32 caliber pistol was found by police on the street at the intersection of Highland avenue and Fourth street, several blocks from the shooting scene, and the gun is being held.

Club Offers Welcome

Around the clock with WOMEN

CLUBS · CHURCH · FAMILY · FASHION · SCHOOL · HOME · SOCIETY

Sooner or later, moving day arrives for virtually every family in America.

Each year, one family out of five moves and an average individual will move 14 times in a lifetime.

In theory, moving day is a time of excitement, anticipation, and happiness. In fact, moving day is frequently marked by frustration, headaches, fear, and unexpected expense.

And fitting into the new community and how to go about it, is one question facing moving families.

Here in the twin cities area the answer is the Twin Cities Area Newcomers club.

Membership is eligibility is only for three years but by that time, most members have found a place in the community through introduction to activities and other organizations in the area, according to Mrs. Fred (Jan) Polmanteer, president of the club.

The club has two regular meetings each month for the entire organization and many individual action units which provide an opportunity for newcomers to meet others who are also looking for new friends and an opportunity to become acquainted with the community.

Special activities which members may choose for their own interests include morning bridge, afternoon bridge, couples bridge, marathon bridge, and beginning bridge; arts and crafts, bowling, creative performance, couples volleyball, couples discussion group, and book discussion group.

Also, couples pinochle, garden club, golf, tennis, gourmet, potpourri, men's basketball, over thirty-fives, and pedi-painters. The latter group paints windows in the pediatric wards of the local hospitals.

Members are kept in touch with what is going on in the club through a monthly newsletter which also from time to time informs them of other community activities in which they can take part!Special parties and programs also involve the husbands and children of members.

List 21 'Magnet' Migration States

A leading moving van company has reported that 21 states were designated "magnet" states last year, according to its eighth annual computerized study of U.S. migration patterns.

The results of the survey were based on more than 185,000 shipments which the company serviced during the year.

The household goods mover indicated that a "magnet" state is so designated if a minimum of 55 per cent of the company's total relocation activity consists of family moves into the state.

As in the past, New England, the southeast, southwest and Pacific coast continued to reflect the largest proportion of inbound movement, while the populous northeastern industrial states and the north central region experienced the largest proportion of outbound shipments.

Hawaii was the nation's leading 1975 "magnet" state for the second year, with almost four families in for every one moving out. Alaska was second in terms of inbound movement in 1975, closely followed by previously ranked number two, Arizona.

Remaining "magnet" states were Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Washington, D.C., Florida, Kansas, Mississippi, Montana, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, and Washington.

New York, North Dakota, and Michigan recorded the largest proportion of outbound migration. Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin also showed net declines.

A total of 21 states reflected an approximate balance between inbound and outbound relocation activity.

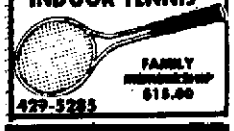

Sign-Up Night

Newcomers to the area are invited to attend the annual sign-up night when Newcomers will welcome those who have moved to the community recently.

The event will be held Monday, Sept. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Congregational United Church of Christ, 2001 Niles avenue, St. Joseph.

Further information may be secured from Mrs. Paul (Mary Alice) Kirincic or Mrs. Rick (Becky) Buckalew, both in St. Joseph.

Sooner or later, moving day arrives for virtually every family in America.

Each year, one family out of five moves and an average individual will move 14 times in a lifetime.

In theory, moving day is a time of excitement, anticipation, and happiness. In fact, moving day is frequently marked by frustration, headaches, fear, and unexpected expense.

And fitting into the new community and how to go about it, is one question facing moving families.

Here in the twin cities area the answer is the Twin Cities Area Newcomers club.

Membership is eligibility is only for three years but by that time, most members have found a place in the community through introduction to activities and other organizations in the area, according to Mrs. Fred (Jan) Polmanteer, president of the club.

The club has two regular meetings each month for the entire organization and many individual action units which provide an opportunity for newcomers to meet others who are also looking for new friends and an opportunity to become acquainted with the community.

Special activities which members may choose for their own interests include morning bridge, afternoon bridge, couples bridge, marathon bridge, and beginning bridge; arts and crafts, bowling, creative performance, couples volleyball, couples discussion group, and book discussion group.

Also, couples pinochle, garden club, golf, tennis, gourmet, potpourri, men's basketball, over thirty-fives, and pedi-painters. The latter group paints windows in the pediatric wards of the local hospitals.

Members are kept in touch with what is going on in the club through a monthly newsletter which also from time to time informs them of other community activities in which they can take part1Special parties and programs also involve the husbands and children of members.

Sign-Up Night

Newcomers to the area are invited to attend the annual sign-up night when Newcomers will welcome those who have moved to the community recently.

The event will be held Monday, Sept. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Congregational United Church of Christ, 2001 Niles avenue, St. Joseph.

Further information may be secured from Mrs. Paul (Mary Alice) Kirincic or Mrs. Rick (Becky) Buckalew, both in St. Joseph.

List 21 'Magnet' Migration States

A leading moving van company has reported that 21 states were designated "magnet" states last year, according to its eighth annual computerized study of U.S. migration patterns.

The results of the survey were based on more than 185,000 shipments which the company serviced during the year.

The household goods mover indicated that a "magnet" state is so designated if a minimum of 55 per cent of the company's total relocation activity consists of family moves into the state.

As in the past, New England, the southeast, southwest and Pacific coast continued to reflect the largest proportion of inbound movement, while the populous northeastern industrial states and the north central region experienced the largest proportion of outbound shipments.

Hawaii was the nation's leading 1975 "magnet" state for the second year, with almost four families in for every one moving out. Alaska was second in terms of inbound movement in 1975, closely followed by previously ranked number two, Arizona.

Remaining "magnet" states were Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Washington, D.C., Florida, Kansas, Mississippi, Montana, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, and Washington.

New York, North Dakota, and Michigan recorded the largest proportion of outbound migration. Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin also showed net declines.

A total of 21 states reflected an approximate balance between inbound and outbound relocation activity.

Art Fair Set

WOODCARVER: John Van Dyke of South Bend, Ind., will exhibit his woodcarvings at the fifth annual Shoreham Village Art Fair to be held Sunday, Sept. 5, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the Johnson-Kinney-Thurkettle and Card grounds, 3170-3180 South Lake Shore drive in Shoreham.

Sunday Event

Woodcarver John Van Dyke of South Bend, Ind., will be among the 80 artists and craftsmen from four states who will exhibit works in the fifth annual Shoreham Village Art Fair to be held Sunday, Sept. 5.

The fair will be held from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the Johnson-Kinney-Thurkettle and Card grounds, 3170-3180 South Lake Shore drive in Shoreham. Several neighboring grounds will be opened for visitor parking.

Rain date for the fair is Monday, Sept. 6, Labor Day.

The fair will feature 22 different types of artistic endeavors including quilling, scratch-work, tole, blown gluss, watercolors, oils, acrylics and woodcarving.

A special feature of the fair will be Gerald Everttts and his welded art in which he has welded nuts and bolts and cotter pins to create unique shapes of "people doing ordinary things."

Nancy Eversole, "The Kentucky Woman," will entertain throughout the day accompanying herself on the dulcimer.

Miller's Catering service of Stevensville will provide a sidewalk cafe throughout the fair.

Win Schuler's restaurant of Stevensville will provide a Cheeze bar for art fair patrons.

Three portrait artists will also be working during the fair.

The planning committee includes Mrs. F.V. (Juniata) Cupp, chairman; Mrs. Frank (Beverly) Linn, registrar; Mrs. Ray (Dorothy) Miller, poster design; Mr. and Mrs. David (Roberta) Nelson, grounds; Karl Goy, publicity; Mrs. Adele Schultz and Miss Gloria Schultz, office; Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Doris) Parr, assistants, and Mrs. Henry (Marguerite) Batson, guide brochure.

Zucchini Bread Is A 'Treat'

GOBLES — Zucchini squash is now at its peak time of the summer harvest and Mrs. Anthony Kancauski of Gobles says "you really have missed a treat if you have not tasted zucchini bread."

Mrs. Kancauski often freezes the baked bread and may cut a wide slice of the bread and heat it in the oven to serve with cereal for breakfast in the morning. Here is her recipe:

ZUCCHINI BREAD

three cups flour
one and one-half cups sugar one teaspoon cinnamon one teaspoon salt
one teaspoon baking powder
three-fourths teaspoon baking soda two cups shredded peeled or unpeeled zucchini one cup chopped nuts
one cup raisins
three eggs
one cup cooking oil

In large bowl combine all ingredients except eggs and oil. In another bowl, beat eggs and oil together and then pour over flour mixture and stir until moistened.

Turn into greased 9 by 5 by 3 inch loaf pan well greased. Bake at 350 degrees for 90 minutes until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean and dry. Cool in pan for 10 minutes and remove. Refrigerate after bread is completely cooled.

Unprotected Against Disease

In a few days, children everywhere will be going off to school with shiny, new shoes, sharpened pencils and crayons, and excited expectations of new friends and new experiences.

And for many children, school's new experiences this year will include unnecessary attacks of childhood diseases.

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta, Ga., reports that United States immunization levels are slipping close to the danger point. With decreased immunization levels, major portions of the population are unprotected against outbreaks of diphtheria, whooping cough, polio, rubella (German measles), measles and mumps.

Health and safety researchers at the Combined Insurance company of America have found that the incidence of these diseases is expected to increase dramatically during the 1976 school year.

There will be approximately 40,000 cases of measles diagnosed this year — two times the number of cases diagnosed during 1975. The incidence of mumps is expected to reach almost 32,000 cases and rubella will account for some 10,300 ill persons in the United States in 1976.

Polio, the dreaded killer and crippler of the 50s, could have a resurgence. The Center for Disease Control considers any area with less than 60 per cent of the population immunized against a disease in danger of an outbreak.

Dr. David Goldfinger, Combined's medical consultant, reports that only 59 per cent of the United States population was immunized against polio last year.

"This means the entire nation is an area in danger of a polio epidemic," Goldfinger said.

Children are particularly susceptible to polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, rubella, measles and mumps — diseases traditionally considered childhood diseases. One child carrying a contagious disease can start an epidemic in a school or community unprotected by immunization.

In April of this year, New York's Nassau and Suffolk counties experienced the worst outbreak of measles since 1958. When the outbreak ended, 285 children had been stricken. Some suffered post-infectious complications requiring hospitalization.

Unfortunately, many parents believe childhood diseases have been wiped out forever. They have forgotten the sights of children in iron lungs and braces, the tragedy of blindness or deafness caused by measles complications, or for an adult, the heartbreak of a permanently damaged reproductive system resulting from an attack of mumps.

"The real tragedy is that no child or adult needs to suffer from childhood diseases. Every child can and should be protected by immunization inoculations," Dr. Goldfinger said.

In a few days, children everywhere will be going off to school with shiny, new shoes, sharpened pencils and crayons, and excited expectations of new friends and new experiences.

And for many children, school's new experiences this year will include unnecessary attacks of childhood diseases.

The Center for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta, Ga., reports that United States immunization levels are slipping close to the danger point. Polio, the dreaded killer and crippler of the 50s, could have a resurgence. The Center for Disease Control considers any area with less than 60 per cent of the population immunized against a disease in danger of an outbreak.

Dr. David Goldfinger, Combined's medical consultant, reports that only 59 per cent of the United States population was immunized against polio last year.

"This means the entire nation is an area in danger of a polio epidemic," Goldfinger said.

Children are particularly susceptible to polio, diphtheria, whooping cough, rubella, measles and mumps — diseases traditionally considered childhood diseases. One child carrying a contagious disease can start an epidemic in a school or community unprotected by immunization.

In April of this year, New York's Nassau and Suffolk counties experienced the worst outbreak of measles since 1958. When the outbreak ended, 285 children had been stricken. Some suffered post-infectious complications requiring hospitalization.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Just Another Form Of Fun

Dear Ann Landers: I usually agree with your common-sense answers but find your mind closed in regard to husbands who ask their wives to beat them periodically. (After the beatings they are docile and loving.)

You say these people are sick. You are wrong. My husband and I have followed this pattern for years and I am thankful we feel free to express our innermost desires.

We take turns whipping each other, but always with a trusting and mutually rewarding understanding. There is no hostility or brutality. It's just another way to have fun.

We believe it's normal to do whatever makes us feel happy and loving. Your experts will tell you the centers of pain and pleasure are not far apart. I hope you will print my letter in the spirit of "live and let live." — K.J. In Delaware

Dear K.J.: Here's your letter and my best wishes. Have a ball. It's nobody's business if you and your husband want to whip each other with (or without) a "trusting and mutually rewarding understanding." You can tie each other up. use chains, bedsheets, clotheslines — whatever. Be my guest.

True, the centers of pain and pleasure ARE close together, but they are far enough apart so that healthy lovemaking is distinguishable from a sado-masochistic turn-on.

How fortunate that you two fun-loving kids" found each other. It would have been disastrous had either of you married someone normal.

'Yes' Too Soon

Dear Ann Landers: I need help and can't trust anyone but you. I'm a widow, 56 years old. I met this man who seemed very decent and treated me like a lady. He asked me to marry him on our third date. I was lonely and Mr. Z brought a certain excitement into my life that had been missing for a long time. I said yes.

Within the week I learned the following: I would be Mr. Z's sixth wife. (All previous marriages had ended in divorce.) His mother is 84 years old and lives with him. His house has been sold and they must move within 90 days. He expects to move in with me — which, of course, means his mother would move in also. (She's a nice woman, but practically bedridden.)

I have a modest inheritance, a fine job and am in good health. Mr. Z retired last year (at age 65) and has very little money beyond his small pension and Social Security. He says he will not take any kind of a job, even part-time, because he has "worked enough already." I'm between the devil and the deep blue sea. Help me! — F.G.

Dear F.G.: Take the sea, honey. You don't need a five-time loser who won't work — with a semi-bedridden mother, yet.

If you're lonely, enjoy his company (as long as it lasts). But don't marry him.

Trapped

Dear Ann: Here I sit at my desk — with that some ol' bunch of knots in my stomach. Why? My two pre-school kids have been dropped off at the babysitter's and my house is a mess.

I've worked for 14 straight years with two months off each time to deliver and report back to work.

Quit? I can't unless we give up the art of eating. We'd have to forego necessities, not luxuries. My husband would have to work two jobs. I'd always be home and he'd NEVER be home. Settle for a part-time job? None to be had in this field.

I feel trapped. What's the answer? — Grass Looks Greener

Dear Grass: Maybe it's a part-time job in another field. Start looking, doll. "Trapped" people get ulcers, migraines, backaches and their kids are often victims of the anxiety and frustration.

Super Stars Of The Souffles

About ten years ago, a couple of boys were looking for a "snap course." They infiltrated a home ec. class.

It became so popular throughout the country special classes were formed and named "Bachelor Survival." In the past three years, the male enrollment has not only doubled, but in some high schools the males outnumber the females at the stoves.

What impact has this new breed had on our life styles?

I'll tell you what impact it's had. This country is producing (at an astronomical rate) what women who live in the kitchen refer to as "Domestic Jocks."

They're the Super Stars of the souffles . . . the dazzlers of the micro waves . . . the weekend headliners at the outdoor grills.

But they're stars. They don't do pans, spots, stains or ovens. They don't touch charcoal, dripping beaters, dirty blenders or skillets that have to be soaked. When they cook, it's first class all the way — fresh garlic, fresh lemons, fresh parsley and fresh mushrooms.

My husband never cooks out that I don't feel like I am assisting a surgeon at a double valve by-pass.

"Tongs! Quick! The tongs!" he commands. (I slap them professionally in his hands.)

"Good Lord, woman. I'm not plucking a baby bottle out of the water. I need tongs for steaks."

Next, "The pepper mill. Wipe."

I press a dishtowel to his forehead.

"Not the perspiration, you turkey — the sauce from my cute apron."

After hours of intense concentration, the Domestic Jock speaks. "Are the plates and forks for the salad chilled? Good. The potatoes done? The vegetables cooked just to the peak of flavor? Good. You sprayed for bugs? Fine. Because we are ready to eat . . . NOW!"

No warning. No time to socialize. No second drink. Just like that. When he says the steaks are done, we are expected to have our forks poised for the first bite.

The other night he wandered into the kitchen, peeled off his asbestos mittens and threw them into the clothes hamper.

"Well, I pulled another one through," he said. I looked at the kitchen sink, piled high with dirty pots, pans and dishes, the countertop with melted butter, dirty utensils, leftover rolls and wilted salad. The grill was corroded with barbecue sauce.

"Next weekend I think I'll do my kabob number on the grill."

I gave him a fetal ovation.

Is there any possibility of injuring the hearing if a child is operated on for pinning back protruding ears? — Mrs. G.N., Minn.

Dear Mrs. N.:

There is absolutely no relationship between the hearing mechanism and the tissues that are involved in a plastic repair of the ears.

An identical problem was presented to me in my practice some time ago. I advised the parents of a child who at 8 years had unusually large protruding ears to consider plastic surgery.

They expressed your concern and for a variety of other reasons why they were hesitant.

Today, the boy is 17 and he is paying a penalty in self-consciousness, embarrassment and a reluctance to participate in sports and social activities.

Plastic surgery for the repair of unusually large and "outstanding" ears is safe and effective. The procedure takes a short time and the healing is rapid and uncomplicated.

In addition to the so-called "lop ears" there is also a variety of other birth defects of the ears which can also be repaired and thus spare the child the anguish and embarrassment usually associated with such physical defects.

Dear Miss K.:

The best you can do is to stay away from becoming involved with such nonsense. I doubt that it is worth an expenditure of your own energy to try to convince your fellow actor that he is deluding himself in his belief.

Vitamin B in all its forms has very specific uses. It is given to supplement a deficiency, but it is not used routinely to pep up actors or anyone else.

Opening lead — Q ♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a hand that contributed materially to the victory of Ted Lightner and Mike Gottlieb in the 1932 life master's pairs.

Playing at six notrump Mike simply knocked out the ace of clubs and collected five clubs, three diamonds and the major suit aces and kings for his 12 tricks and what turned out to be an absolute top score with no one close.

True, two of the three pairs who bid six clubs made it. The other pair lost to an inspired diamond lead by East. The bad diamond break beat the six diamond bidders, but the great majority of players stopped at the nice, safe three-notrump contract.

We show the hand here because it is one of those hands that are a cinch to bid right after the game is over. Even today we doubt if many pairs in the finals of the world's championship would get to that fine notrump slam.

We also doubt if Ted and Mike would get there if we gave them the hand to bid today. Somehow or other modern science would not allow for Mike's final jump to six notrump which certainly was the winning bid.

FOR SATURDAY, SEPT. 4, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This should be an exciting and fun day for you, but be wary of a pal who has a kooky scheme. You're better off not being involved.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Conditions are fortunte today where your career and finances are concerned. When opportunity knocks, be listening.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be quite enterprising today. You have the ability to handle large projects. Be bold, but not harsh or foolish.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Other will have more control over that which brings you gain or joy today than you will yourself. Don't be fearful. Your needs will be a primary consideration.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're capable of making sound judgments today, but you're also subject to self-doubts. Have faith in decisions you've thought through.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You might find yourself in the middle of something very profitable today. A generous third party will be instrumental in bringing it about.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Enjoy yourself today but try to do it without putting a big dent in your bank roll. You have a tendency to be extravagant. It needs to be checked.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll be lucky today provided you don't get in your own way. Flow with the tide of events, not against them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Others can be won over now to ideas or plans that you're partial to. But be careful not to tailor the facts to suit your listener.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be as gracious and considerate of your close friends today as you will be with persons you only have business dealings with.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In an important matter where an associate is involved, be sure he checks with you first before changing plans you both agreed to.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Of all your peers today you'll be the one who's most admired. Your unselfish attitude wins you their respect.

Plan Three Oaks Story Hours

THREE OAKS — September Story Hour for the children of Three Oaks will be held from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 4, in the Three Oaks township library.

Mrs. Joseph Warburton will be the story teller.

THREE OAKS — First Reformed church of Three Oaks will offer a story hour program, "Precious Jewels," for three and four-year-old children beginning Sept. 30.

Also to be offered is a "Friendship Coffee" hour for mothers.

Both programs will be held each Thursday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. through Nov. 18. There will be no charge.

The story hour will include music, Bible stories, crafts and games, and the "Friendship Coffee" hour will provide mothers with a time for Bible study and fellowship.

A nursery will be provided for infants and toddlers of those mothers who attend the coffee hour.

U.P. Fire Is Still Blazing

SENEY, Mich. (AP) — Workers at a 41,000 acre Upper Peninsula fire will try again today to build backfires to stop the spread of the blaze, after being stymied Thursday by shifting winds.

Lynn Greenwalt, director of the federal Fish and Wildlife Service, joined Rep. Philip Ruppe, R-Mich, in a helicopter flight over the burning area, which covers much of the Seney National Wildlife Refuge and adjoining state land, to assess the damage done since the fire broke out July 31.

Greenwalt defended federal regulations that let the fire burn when it was sparked in an inaccessible wilderness bog area by a lightning bolt.

He said the Seney fire was the first which started in federal lands and burned out onto state forest areas.

Ruppe, however, was critical of the federal rules that call for allowing fires in specified wilderness areas to burn untouched unless they threaten life, property or the environment.

"Obviously, the policy did not work in this case," he said, adding, "the policy should be more flexible."

Damage by the long-lived fire has been estimated at $500,000. In addition, the costs of gathering a small army of federal and state firefighters to battle the blaze have been estimated at over $1 million.

Greenwalt said he believed the Department of the Interior was prepared to pick up at least part of the state's tab for fighting the fire. He indicated he would formalize this in a telegram to Howard Tanner, director of the State Department of Natural Resources.

"I see no serious problem in paying the costs," Greenwalt said.

The DNR has said it would go to court, if necessary, to recover its costs for fighting the blaze.

Viking 2 Ready For Mars Landing

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Awaiting only the final order from earth, the Viking 2 lander was ready to cast off from its mother ship today and attempt America's second touchdown on Mars.

After a meeting of the Viking command team, the "go" command was scheduled to be radioed to the spacecraft. That command will direct the two-piece spacecraft to split apart, the lander beginning its 31½-hour descent to the surface while the Viking 2 body remains in orbit around Mars.

The gray, three-legged lander, loaded with life-detecting instruments, was scheduled to land at 6:58 p.m. EDT on a northern plain called Utopia.

A check of the automated lander Thursday found everything in readiness. Mission Director Tom Young declared the craft to be "in very good shape."

The only concern, he said, was a sign that the lander may overheat after landing. It is summer in Utopia. Young said a plan had been drawn up to turn off some equipment and reschedule experiments to reduce the inside heat.

Viking 2 was aimed for a landing at a site farther north and about 4,600 miles from where Viking 1 made the first successful Mars landing July 20.

Because the northern latitudes have more water vapor in the air, Viking 2's destination is believed a better spot to search for life, the main Viking task.

The lander was designed to soar through space, plunge into the thin Martian atmosphere and, slowed by a parachute and braking rockets, drop gently to the surface.

Scientists believe the landing point, about 125 miles from a large crater called Mie, is covered with thick sand dunes that should soften the landing.

Within seconds of a successful touchdown, a camera atop the lander is to take the first of two black-and-white pictures. The first photo, showing one of the three footpads resting on the surface, was to begin appearing on television screens at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at 7:30 p.m. EDT. A panorama view was to follow.

With Viking 2 beginning its scientific work, the Viking 1 lander began a relatively dormant period. It is still incubating biology experiments in the so far inconclusive search for life.

Viking 2 will carry out similar biology experiments, as well as measurements of the atmosphere, weather and properties of the surface material. As its predecessor did, Viking 2 will wield a 10-foot mechanical arm that can scoop up dirt and pour it into a sophisticated minilaboratory.

Some 60 days of constant experimenting is in store for the Viking 2 lander. There will be a break in November when Mars and earth are on opposite sides of the sun, eliminating communications for a month.

When the landers are once again in touch with earth, they will alternate conducting tests for as long as they hold up in the harsh Martian environment.

Find Charred Body

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Washtenaw County authorities are trying to determine the identity of a charred body found Wednesday by Ann Arbor firemen who were responding to a citizens' band radio report of an automobile fire. Firemen discovered the body in the front seat of an auto off Michigan 14 in Superior Township Wednesday. A gasoline can was found nearby. Washtenaw County deputies said the body was so badly burned they could not immediately determine the age or sex of the victim. Police said the car apparently rolled down an embankment backward.

Bible Class Target Of Lawsuit

LANSING, Mich. (AP)-State Attorney General Frank Kelley has filed suit to stop the Camden-Frontier school board from holding Rural Bible Mission programs in its classrooms in defiance of State Board of Education orders.

The local board said last January it would defy state regulations and allow the missionary programs to be presented to elementary students in their classrooms during the school day.

Kelly's suit filed Thursday notes there are provisions for such programs to be offered during the school day but at sites other than the schools; or after class hours within the school building.

Under the program, a missionary visits the southern Hillsdale County district's elementary school once a month and tells a Bible story in contemporary form.

The superintendent of Camden-Frontier schools, Tom Dove, said the board and administration will confer with attorneys before making any comment on the suit. However, Dove said the district plans to continue the Rural Bible Mission programs.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Stanley Steenborn said Camden's voluntary, once-a-month religious class violates state law, the state school code and the U.S. Constitution, all of which prohibit use of federal funds to support established religious classes.

A petition filed in Hillsdale County circuit court Thursday asked that the Bible class be halted immediately. No date was set immediately for a court hearing of that petition.

Many of the parents in the Camden area have said they would go to jail rather than discontinue their 33-year program of Bible teaching.

Dove said he had not noticed "any wavering of conviction" by the parents. "If anything, the support may be even stronger when people learn about the court case," he said.

Dove said the reading program is voluntary and that parents are asked to sign a slip each year giving permission for their children to participate project.

Dove said recently, "The real question is who runs your school, the state or your local board of education."

HOTEL FURNISHINGS SALE: Crowds gather at landmark La Salle hotel in downtown Chicago Thursday where furnishings were put on sale. Hotel, built in 1908, was closed recently and will be torn down. Everything goes in the two-month sale, from the bed where Princess Grace of Monaco once slept to brass "Men" and "Women" door signs. Three million items are expected to bring in $3.5 million. Ford Staying Close To Home

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford plans to stay close to the White House during most of this month, limiting his campaign travel to a series of relatively brief trips, according to his new campaign chairman.

James A. Baker III said there are no plans for extensive travel or extended presidential vote-hunting trips during the first month of the campaign against Democrat Jimmy Carter.

Carter is formally launching his presidential campaign road show on Monday with a speech at Warm Springs, Ga., and Labor day appearances at Darlington, S.C., Norfolk, Va., and Newark, N.J.

A White House spokesman said there would be no Ford campaign travel before Wednesday. Press Secretary Ron Nessen was to announce the President's campaign kickoff plans today.

Carter has tentative plans to cover nearly 20 cities during his first five-day campaign week. It is to take him north to Connecticut, west to Chicago and south to Hollywood, Fla., with appearances in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio in between.

At a meeting of the National Conference of State Legislatures, Carter's running mate, Sen. Walter Mondale, said federal bureaucrats often have been arrogant and paternalistic and that a "new, creative partnership" between state and federal governments is needed.

Meanwhile, Ford's running mate, Kansas Sen. Bob Dole, was in Spartanburg, S.C., where he praised federal judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., who lives nearby, and said it was "one of the great tragedies" that Haynsworth was not confirmed to the Supreme Court.

Carter's wife, Rosalynn, said in an interview that her three grown sons have told her they have tried marijuana. But she said, "The only time I worry about my children doing something like smoking marijuana is if I thought they were slipping around and doing it and not letting me know about it."

Former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, the candidate of the American Independent party, campaigned at the Flemington, N.J., fair, shaking hands and making a brief campaign speech in which he said he would get rid of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

FBI Chief Pays U.S. For Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director Clarence Kelley, his job possibly in jeopardy because some government materials and labor were used two years ago to build a pair of drapery valances for his apartment, has written the bureau a check for $335.

The payment covers the cost of constructing the plywood frames for the tops of windows, additional carpentry work to correct errors in the original measurements and four trips to Kelley's apartment in a nearby Maryland suburb.

The valances, built soon after Kelley took over at the bureau, and gifts Kelley has accepted from senior FBI officials have become issues in a Justice Department probe of financial improprieties and other abuses of power within the FBI.

Word of Kelley's payment came Thursday as he met with Atty. Gen. Edward Levi, but neither official would disclose what was discussed in their hour-long meeting.

President Ford has asked Levi for a report about allegations that Kelley had acted improperly. Levi reportedly will recommend to Ford whether Kelley should be retained as FBI chief.

Department of Justice spokesman Robert Havel said the two "discussed a variety of matters concerning the operation of the bureau." An FBI official said Kelley had sought the meeting.

Six Charged In Credit Plot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — With the aide of a file clerk, six men sought out persons with poor credit records and for fees of up to $1,500 improved their credit reports in the computer banks of the country's largest consumer credit bureau, according to a federal indictment.

The credit records were kept in the computers of TRW Credit Data in Anaheim, Calif. The company maintains credit files on about 50 million Americans living in 20 cities across the country. The files are used by banks, credit card companies and other businesses seeking information concerning the credit worthiness of customers. Authorities said the alleged scheme may have produced millions of dollars in unpaid bills and caused untold legal problems for firms that rely on credit information.

The six men were charged with conspiracy in the indictment returned Thursday by a federal grand jury. All six also were charged with at least one count of making false loan application statements. A TRW Credit Data file clerk, Kathlen Bennett, was named as an unindicted coconspirator. Federal authorities said she is to testify as a government witness.

Bible Class Target Of Lawsuit

LANSING, Mich. (AP)-State torney General Frank Kelley is filed suit to stop the Cam-n-Frontier school board from lding Rural Bible Mission ograms in its classrooms in fiance of State Board of Education orders.

The local board said last January it would defy state regulations and allow the missionary programs to be presented to elementary students in their classrooms during the school day.

Kelly's suit filed Thursday notes there are provisions for such programs to be offered during the school day but at sites other than the schools; or after class hours within the school building.

Under the program, a missionary visits the southern Hillsdale County district's elementary school once a month and tells a Bible story in contemporary form.

The superintendent of Camden-Frontier schools, Tom Dove, said the board and administration will confer with attorneys before making any comment on the suit. However, Dove said the district plans to continue the Rural Bible Mission programs.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Stanley Steinborn said Camden's voluntary, once-a-month religious class violates state law, the state school code and the U.S. Constitution, all of which prohibit use of federal funds to support established religious classes.

A petition filed in Hillsdale County circuit court Thursday asked that the Bible class be halted immediately. No date was set immediately for a court hearing of that petition.

Many of the parents in the Camden area have said they would go to jail rather than discontinue their 33-year program of Bible teaching.

Dove said he had not noticed "any wavering of conviction" by the parents. "If anything, the support may be even stronger when people learn about the court case," he said.

Dove said the reading program is voluntary and that parents are asked to sign a slip each year giving permission for their children to participate project.

Dove said recently, "The real question is who runs your school, the state or your local board of education."

Phone Protesters Disconnected

HICKORY CORNERS, Mich. (AP) — Some 50 protesting customers of the tiny Hickory Telephone Co. found their service disconnected Thursday by the company because they refuse to pay a phone rate hike.

The phones of the protest leaders were the first to go, causing confusion in the ranks of the Hickory Corners Telephone Subscribers, the group spearheading efforts against the rate increase.

Philip L. Hummer, the Kalamazoo attorney repesenting the protest group, said he didn't know how many of his client's phones had been disconnected.

"Without phones we're at a loss to answer that question. I've been trying to call out there but I haven't been able to get through to anybody," Hummer said.

The phone company, which serves 958 customers in the small town northeast of Kalamazoo, has been the target of citizen outrage since it won state approval last November to raise its rates by 54 per cent.

Subscribers called for a rehearing on the rate hike by the Michigan Public Service Commission, which gave original approval for the increase. The new hearing, adjourned last month, is scheduled to resume Sept. 13.

Some 100 telephone customers disconnected their phones for four months in protest of the higher rates. Others, meanwhile, have been withholding payment of the part of their monthly bills they say represents the increase.

But the company's action this week is the first sign of retaliation in the consumer war.

"There comes a time when you have to take a stand, and this is it," said Harold Vangundy, regional plant manager for Telephone and Data Systems, Inc., which owns Hickory Telephone.

One of the protest committee members whose phone has been shut down was Mrs. Zelma Armintrout, who along with her husband is a volunteer on the town's ambulance corps.

But another committee member, Jackie Regis, said Thursday the Armintrouts wouldn't be bothered much by the loss of their phone.

"They've got a CB (citizens band) radio and they just get all their messages through CB," Mrs. Regis said.

Medicaid Probe Staff To Grow

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Department of Social Services will add 16 extra investigators to its ranks in an effort to beef up its probes into Medicaid fraud, an official said Thursday.

Paul Allen, deputy director, said the department has in its budget the $400,000 necessary to strengthen its current investigative force of 29 people.

The joint House-Senate Appropriations Committee earlier this week ordered the department to add the personnel by Oct. 1.

State Sen. Bill Huffman, D-Madison Heights, said the committee has also instructed the attorney general's office to let the Department of Management and Budget know within a week how much money and staff would be needed for the attorney general's office to take over Medicaid fraud cases from local prosecutors.

The attorney general's office has said the idea "has merit."

Huffman said as another attempt at reducing Medicaid fraud, he will introduce legislation requiring all patients to get a receipt detailing the treatment they receive.

"This puts the general public as our watchdog," Huffman said. He added the receipts will allow officials to watch for duplications or fraud involving Medicaid and various types of health insurance.

AIP Still Wars Over Ballot

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's American Independent Party may have no presidential candidate on the state's Nov. 2 ballot because two warring factions refuse to accept each other's nominees.

But Josephine Chapman of Belleville, leader of one of the factions, vows she will conduct a write-in campaign for former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, whom the other faction leader calls "a southern racist."

Leaders of both factions said Thursday they could not compromise on the presidential candidate, even though the Michigan Supreme Court has ruled they may only have one slate of candidates.

If they cannot agree, then no candidate will be listed, says the Secretary of State's office. The deadline for submitting a final slate was set for 1 p.m. today.

The party apparently will have candidates listed for most other offices, however, since the sides were able to reach compromises on those.

"We want the people in Michigan to have a chance to vote for Maddox," said Josephine Chapman of Belleville, leader of one AIP faction. "Nobody knows Tom Anderson."

Anderson is the national AIP chairman and the presidential candidate of the other AIP faction, led by Vern Morse of Battle Creek.

"Maddox is the only one who can turn on the Wallace people, and the only one who can hurt Jimmy Carter, let's face it," says Mrs. Chapman, referring to former Alabama Gov. and thrice-presidential candidate George Wallace.

But Morse says Mrs. Chapman's is a "rump group" and not even recognized as a legal party. "It will be our slate or no slate," he vowed Thursday.

Mrs. Chapman also says if Morse's group will not give in on Maddox, then her group will not give in and let Morse himself be the AIP's candidate for U.S. Senate.

On other offices, however, she said her side will let Morse's candidates run. Those offices include Vice President, State Board of Education and MSU Board of Trustees.

Big Lottery Win Means A California Vacation

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — It will be "California, here I come" for Mrs. Suzanne Fecheley, who got her wish Thursday night when she won the $200,000 top prize in the weekly Michigan lottery drawing.

The 42-year-old St. Clair Shores mother of four children said she would take her family to California for a vacation if she won.

Her 16-year-old son watched from a telecast of the drawing from his bed in a hospital where he underwent nose surgery earlier in the day.

Mrs. Marie Lotarski, 64, of Detroit, a cleaning woman who earlier won a Michigan lottery prize of $1,000 a month for 12 months, took second prize of $25,000.

Charles Gross, 68, of Lum, a retiree, won $15,000; Mrs. Nafie De Fraties, 35, of Taylor, a hairdresser and nurse at a convalescent home, won $12,500; and El Toro Lottery Club of Midland, the comeback winner from last week, won $10,000.

Prokop Tkach, 83, of Sterling Heights, a retiree from General Motors, won $5,000 and a chance to return as a comeback winner in next week's drawing in Saginaw.

Meanwhile, the next Michigan lottery innovation will be a legal variation of the "numbers game," according to lottery officials.

In the new game, players will make up a number, have it punched into a computer and wait to see if it is drawn as the winning number.

While the final form of the game hasn't been determined, lottery officials say the concept is firm as the next version of the state lottery.

Lottery Director Gus Harrison said the start of the game is months away, and added he has no idea how much money the state can expect to take in under the new game.

Under tentative plans, Harrison said, a number of terminals would be tied in with a central computer.

A person would walk in, make up a number, and have it punched into a terminal, receiving a receipt.

At 4 p.m., the computer system would shut down, and the central computer would determine the odds and pick the winning number, which could then be fed immediately to the terminals with the amount of the payoff.

Betting would be limited to a range of 50 cents to $5.

Want Charges Dropped

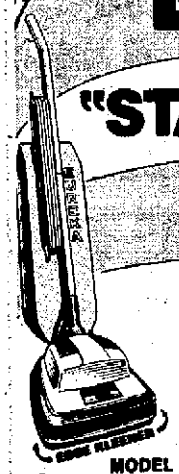

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Two chemical executives accused of trying to cover up Kepone pollution in the James River are asking the trial judge to throw out the federal conspiracy charges against them. The prosecution rested its case Wednesday against Frank L. Piguet, 52, and Gerald P. Williams, 56, both executives of Allied Chemical Corp. U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige, who is hearing the case without a jury, took under advisement their motion for acquittal. The trial is the legal climax thus far of a dramatic and farreaching pollution episode that has halted some commercial fishing in parts of the Chesapeake Bay and the James River and raised concerns about the health impact of Kepone on chemical plant workers.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's American Independent Party may have no presidential candidate on the state's Nov. 2 ballot because two warring factions refuse to accept each other's nominees.

But Josephine Chapman of Belleville, leader of one of the factions, vows she will conduct a write-in campaign for former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, whom the other faction leader calls "a southern racist."

Leaders of both factions said Thursday they could not compromise on the presidential candidate, even though the Michigan Supreme Court has ruled they may only have one slate of candidates.

If they cannot agree, then no candidate will be listed, says the Secretary of State's office. The deadline for submitting a final slate was set for 1 p.m. today.

The party apparently will have candidates listed for most other offices, however, since the sides were able to reach compromises on those.

"We want the people in Michigan to have a chance to vote for Maddox," said Josephine Chapman of Belleville, leader of one AIP faction. "Nobody knows Tom Anderson."

Anderson is the national AIP chairman and the presidential candidate of the other AIP faction, led by Vern Morse of Battle Creek.

"Maddox is the only one who can turn on the Wallace people, and the only one who can hurt Jimmy Carter, let's face it," says Mrs. Chapman, referring to former Alabama Gov. and thrice-presidential candidate George Wallace.

But Morse says Mrs. Chapman's is a "rump group" and not even recognized as a legal party. "It will be our slate or no slate," he vowed Thursday.

Mrs. Chapman also says if Morse's group will not give in on Maddox, then her group will not give in and let Morse himself be the AIP's candidate for U.S. Senate.

On other offices, however, she said her side will let Morse's candidates run. Those offices include Vice President, State Board of Education and MSU Board of Trustees.

In the new game, players will make up a number, have it punched into a computer and wait to see if it is drawn as the winning number.

While the final form of the game hasn't been determined, lottery officials say the concept is firm as the next version of the state lottery.

Lottery Director Gus Harrison said the start of the game is months away, and added he has no idea how much money the state can expect to take in under the new game.

Under tentative plans, Harrison said, a number of terminals would be tied in with a central computer.

A person would walk in, make up a number, and have it punched into a terminal, receiving a receipt.

At 4 p.m., the computer system would shut down, and the central computer would determine the odds and pick the winning number, which could then be fed immediately to the terminals with the amount of the payoff.

Betting would be limited to a range of 50 cents to $5.

Want Charges Dropped

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Two chemical executives accused of trying to cover up Kepone pollution in the James River are asking the trial judge to throw out the federal conspiracy charges against them. The prosecution rested its case Wednesday against Frank L. Piguet, 52, and Gerald P. Williams, 36, both executives of Allied Chemical Corp. U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige, who is hearing the case without a jury, took under advisement their motion for acquittal. The trial is the legal climax thus far of a dramatic and farreaching pollution episode that has halted some commercial fishing in parts of the Chesapeake Bay and the James River and raised concerns about the health impact of Kepone on chemical plant workers.

Air Academy Forgery Ring Eyed

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — The Air Force has ordered a full-scale investigation into a lawyer's charges that cadets have been operating a forgery and theft ring at the Air Force Academy since 1972.

A spokesman for the academy acknowledged Thursday that the Air Force Office of Special Investigations was conducting a probe.

Maj. Monte Blews, the academy's chief public relations officer, said Thursday that one cadet forger was court-martialed and dismissed, and that another accused cadet resigned in the summer of 1975.

"Since t en," he said, "there have been a few isolated cases of forgeries, but no evidence of a series."

However, the lawyer, Edward Joel Meyer, said Thursday in a telephone interview from his home in Middletown, N.Y., that at least two dozen cadets were robbed of thousands of dollars by a forgery ring that still may be active at the academy, involving at least four of its more than 4,000 cadets.

Meyer said they stole cadets' checkbooks and military identification cards and cashed forged checks in restaurants and stores in nearby Colorado Springs, as well as at the privately run Air Academy National Bank on the institution's grounds.

The attorney said he became involved after the parents of a cadet accused of forgery asked him to take over the cadet's defense from a military attorney.

Meyer's client was exonerated and returned to the academy in good standing, and the lawyer believes the young man was actually a victim of the forgery ring.

One of the ring's schemes, he said, was to deposit part of a forged check into an innocent cadet's account, making the forgery more difficult to trace.

The attorney said that information he turned up in the course of defending his client was reported to the academy and that he was asked by its superintendent, Lt. Gen. James R. Allen, for all information he had on the subject.

Meyer said he sent Allen a letter last Aug. 23 detailing his charges, with transcripts of interviews with former cadets who allegedly admitted taking part in the forgery racket. He said he sent a copy to Air Force Secretary Thomas Reed.

Blews said that Allen ordered the investigation Aug. 27, the day after he received Meyer's letter.

The probe comes on the heels of a cheating scandal at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., which has raised a controversy about its honor code.

The Air Force Academy operates with a similar code, under which cadets must not lie, cheat or steal or tolerate any cadet who does.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Two men held up a man on a Kuala Lumpur street Thursday and forced him to hand over the equivalent of $600 which he had just withdrawn from a bank. The robbers rode off on a motorcycle, but after a mile it broke down. They stopped a passing motorcyclist and took his vehicle. It also broke down after a mile. So they stopped another passing rider and took his motorcycle. It worked, and the robbers were still at large today, police said.

Two Area Residents In Lineup For $1 Million Grand Drawing

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two southwestern Michigan residents will be among 50 contestants hoping to become a millionaire in the second Michigan Landmarks Million Dollar Grand Drawing Sept. 9 at the Fashion Square Mall in Saginaw.

Elmeda Keeter of Stevensville and Harriet Michael of Eau Claire both qualified in an Aug. 20 drawing of losing tickets in the now-ended Michigan Landmarks game.

Mrs. Keeter, 63, of 3917 Johnson road, already has won $10,000 in June with an instant lottery ticket and now is assured of winning at least $10,000 more. Mrs. Michael, 60, of route 2, Preston road, had won only $2 from instant lottery tickets until the Aug. 20 drawing.

A preliminary drawing will whittle the number of finalists down to 13. The 37 non-finalists will each win $10,000, the Bureau of State Lottery said Thursday.

Of the 13 who do advance, 10 will win $25,000; two will win $50,000; and one will become the lottery's 27th millionaire.

The contestants are:

Fred Ambrous of Roseville; Ronald Baer of Novi; Charles Bevier Jr. of Jackson; James Clark of Anchorville; William Coulter of Port Huron; Verna Crump of Romulus; Sally Culy of Eagle; Catherine Drewke of Mt. Clemens; Regina Duffiney of Flint; Minnie Evans of Detroit; Marilyn Foltz of Romeo; Margie Fortunato of Ypsilanti; Mitchell Gajewski of Warren; Douglas Goodman of St. Clair Shores.

Also, Duke Gordon of Royal Oak; Joseph Greer of Clare; Barbara Grissom of Lansing; Clifford Hanson of Brooklyn; Russell Havens of Grand Rapids; Marjorie Hunt of Lake City; Allen Ingle of Northville; Thaddeus Jesionek of Flint; Ola Johnson of Detroit; Ron Kadrich of Alpena; Oscar Katz of Oak Park; Viola Kennedy of East Detroit; Fred Kline of Scotts; Jeane Krane of Gaylord, Joseph Korsic of Bloomfiled Hills.

Also, George La Bash of Centerline; Susan La Rose of Essexville; Joseph Love of Menominee; Milko Lottery Club of Lansing; Phylix David Meyer, of Belleville; Virgina Phillips of Grand Rapids; Linda Pierson of Bay City; and Clarice Possi of Milwaukee, Wis.

Also, Joyce Scofield of Greenville; Ivan Sergent Sr. of Vassar; Sandra Smith of Ferndale; George Soos of South Bend, Ind.; Jerry Sremba of Lowell; James Tupscott of Dearborn Heights; Lawrence Weaver of Kalamazoo; Jaimes Walter of Hamtramck; John Williamson of Detroit; Mark Woodbury Sr. of Laingsburg; and Marilyn York of Detroit.

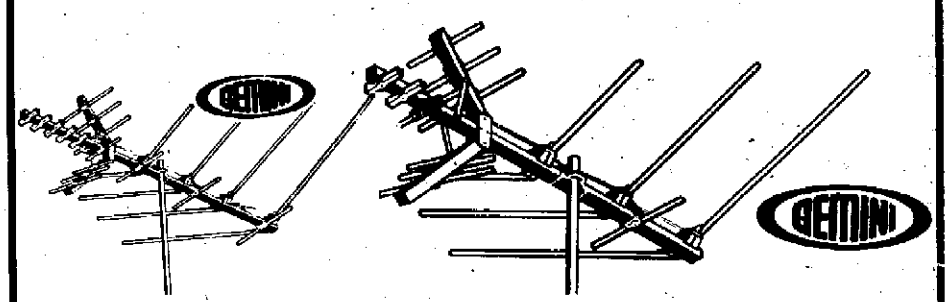

DAMAGE TRAIL LED TO ARREST: Benton Harbor police said they followed trail of alleged hit-run auto that struck car at left and damaged two other vehicles in chain reaction smashup early today. Man inside van (middle vehicle) received apparently minor injuries in crash about 2 a.m. in parking lot of Babe's Lounge, 565 Riverview drive. David Arter, 23, Baroda, was released after treatment at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph. Police said alleged hit-run car left scrape marks on streets which police followed to a Fairplain home where a damaged car was located a short time after crash. Booked at the Berrien county jail on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicants and leaving scene of an accident was David A. Wilson, 20, of 217 Hoover road, Fairplain. Other vehicles were unoccupied. (Staff photo)

Shotgun Blast Hearing Asked

A Plymouth, Ind., man accused of firing a shotgun through the door of his father-in-law's home near three Oaks last week demanded examination Thursday in Berrien Fifth District court.

Jailed in lieu of $15,000 bond on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder was Harry D. Bonney, 36. Bonney's father-in-law, Thomas Payne, route 2, Kruger road, told police two men were standing on his lawn and one of them fired a shotgun after he slammed the door on them.

Also demanding examinations were:

May Bee Towns, 37, of 141 Benton street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property over $100, a money order, June 25 in Benton Harbor. Bond was set at $2,500.

James Allen Mashak, 35, of 3386 Hagar Shore road, Coloma, on a charge of insufficient funds over $50 — cashing a check for $63.68 at the Highway Mart IGA store in Hagar township June 27. Bond was set at $2,500.

Bound over to circuit court were:

Samuel Tillman Jr., 18, of 970 Edgecumbe avenue, Benton township, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a shotgun, against Ron Coffey in Benton township Aug. 25. Bond was continued at $5,000.

Allan Ray Rickman, 22, of 988 Lake avenue, Benton Harbor, on a charge of cashing three insufficient fund checks totaling over $60 within ten days at two auto parts stores in Watervliet between April 7th and 10th.

Robert L. Russoman, 33, of 1267 Stuyvesanc avenue, Union, on a charge of breaking and entering Harvey's Pro Gas station in Stevensville Aug. 23. Bond was reduced from $7,500 to $4,000.

George McCardell, 47, of Route 1, Box 630, Covert, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a handgun, against Hattie Johnson Aug. 16 in Benton Harbor. Bond was continued at $10,000.

Sidney W. Merrill, 21, of Box 37, Millburg, on a charge of criminal sexual conduct first degree against a 17-year-old girl July 18 in Benton township. Bond continued at $3,500.

Terry D. Eastman, 18, Box 138, Sawyer, and William R. Smith, 18, of 1st. Marine Division Camp Pendleton, California, both charged with breaking and entering the Firebird Restaurant and Truck Stop in Sawyer Aug. 13. Eastman's bond was continued at $1,000 and Smith's at $6,000.

Robert L. Goyer, 29, of 1405 Marion avenue, St. Joseph, accused of insufficient funds over $50, a $70 check at the Tala Insurance Co. in Coloma.

Bill Leroy Campbell, 36, of 302 South Main street, Berrien Springs, on a charge of possession of burglar tools Aug. 24 in New Buffalo. Bond was reduced from $10,000 to $5,000.

Sentenced yesterday were:

Jeffrey L. Mendenall, 19, of Route 2, Box 217, Three Oaks, $150 or 30 days in jail and one year probation and restitution for entering without permission the New Troy Garage, New Troy, May 2.

Margarette Burton, 19, of 554 Heckcourt, Benton Harbor, nine days in jail and one year probation for simple assault against Patrolman Ronald Peil July 15 in Benton Harbor.

James Burnie Barkam, 48, of Box 156, Townline road, Sodus township, and James C. Strickland, 34, of Box 2818, Townline, each $32 or six days in jail for reckless use of firearms Aug. 1 in Sodus township.

Robert J. Harris Jr., 23, of 1345 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, five days in jail, $200 or 45 days total for driving with a revoked license Aug. 2 in Benton township.

Joseph B. Ellison, 38, of Chicago, $152 or 30 days in jail for driving under the influence of intoxicants Sept. 1 in Benton township.

George A. Cowgill, 34, of 3126 Cherry avenue, Coloma, $32 or six days in jail for indecent exposure Wednesday near the Whitcomb Towers retirement center, 509 Ship street, St. Joseph.

Hillery L. Pope, 36, of the Carl Tidey Farm, Lake road, Eau Claire, 90 days in jail with credit for time served for unlawful driving away of a motor vehicle Aug. 11 in Eau Claire.

A charge of cashing an insufficient fund check over $50 was dismissed against James R. Mathiew, 19, of Grand Rapids.

Street Renamed For Oselka

NEW BUFFALO — Water street, from Whittaker to Berrien streets, has been given a new name, Oselka drive.

The action came at a special meeting of the New Buffalo city council last night.

The street was named in honor of Paul Oselka, owner of Oselka Construction Co. and Oselka marina.

In other business, John Otto Jr. was appointed to a three-year term on the city planning commission. He fills a seat that had been vacant about two years.

Chikaming Is Seeking Inspector

LAKESIDE — The Chikaming township board is looking for someone to perform electrical inspections in the township.

Since Indiana & Michigan Electric company discontinued performing the service, Elmer Nelson, township building inspector, has been handling it. However, according to Mrs. Lena Abrahamsen, township clerk, the electrical inspections are taking so much of his time its "like a second full time job."

The board instructed its attorney to contact the state public service commission regarding requirements for the job.

In other areas, the board tabled until next month a reorganization of its zoning board of appeals, which due to new legislation, will be required to have staggered three-year terms for its members. Currently the appeals board members have no required length of term. The appeals board will remain appointive, Mrs. Abrahamsen said.

The board instructed the clerk to write a letter of appreciation to employers of the township's volunteer ambulance drivers for allowing them to leave work when they are called in an emergency.

Three Oaks Apartment Plan Tabled

THREE OAKS — The Three Oaks village council last night tabled action on plans for construction of a four-unit apartment building in the northern part of the village.

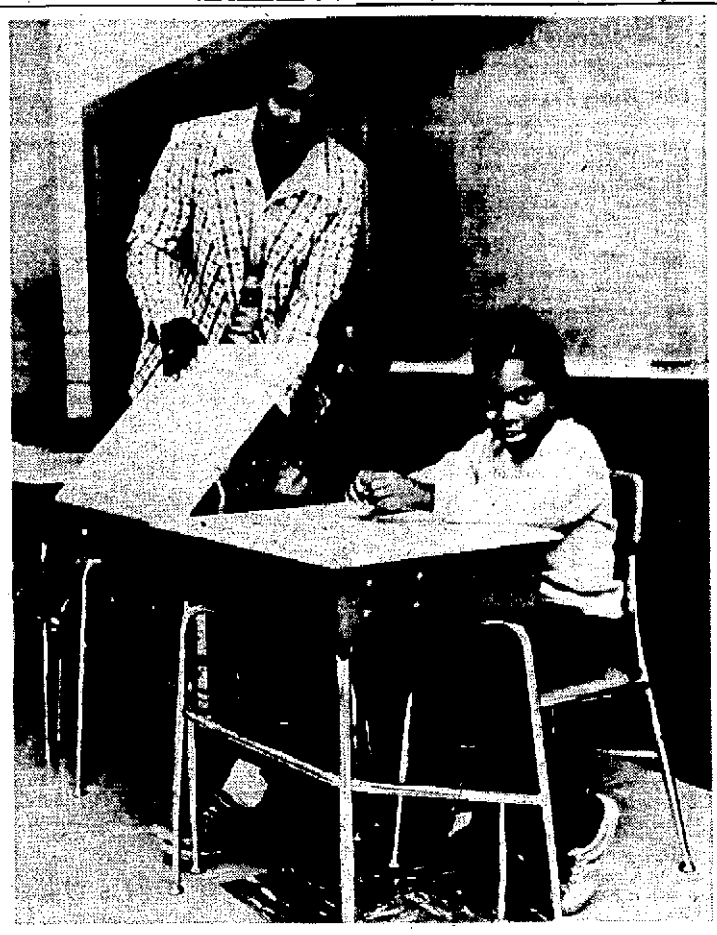

The council wants further information to see if the building would comply with all state and local requirements and specifications. J.S. Wolfe, village building inspector, who presented the plans on behalf of a private developer, said the apartment building site is at the corner of Hickory and Walnut streets.

The council must approve a building permit for the apartment before construction may proceed.

In other areas, the council turned down a request for a single apartment addition at the rear of Berrien Real Estate's office building on Elm street. The council felt there wasn't enough room for the addition.

The council designated that the balance, some $7,000, of the village federal revenue sharing funds this year be used for blacktopping the new parking lot to be constructed on Elm street, just south of the railroad tracks.

The council also approved the placing of an electric light pole at the south end of Tulip drive and a building permit for a new home to F. Benjamin.

BH Schools Getting New Desks, Chairs

Elementary students in Benton Harbor area schools will find 1,600 new desks and 2,062 new chairs when they report to classes Tuesday.

The $75,032 replacement of old battered furniture was possible because of a surplus from the district's $463,637 allocation last year in special state aid, according to Larry Rankens, the district's director for business and finance.

All 23 elementary units received some new desks and chairs for students in what is believed to be the first major replacement program covering every elementary school, Rankens said.

Replacements were made after elementary principals were asked to rate their classroom furniture on a scale of good to bad with bad ratings getting top priority.

Average cost for each new desk was $27.95 with chairs ranging from $11.90 to $13.95. The furniture was purchased through the McFadden Corp., Lansing. No manufacturer's estimates were available on the life of the furniture, but Rankens noted that classroom furniture purchased in the early 1950s is still in good shape today.

Rankens said money for the furniture was available under Chapter III of the state aid act which provides special funds for education of disadvantaged children. The surplus resulted from savings in personnel costs and also because of sound fiscal management, Rankens said. Chapter III permits purchase of materials for use by students.

The biggest furniture replacements are at Sterne Brunson, 334 desks, 425 chairs, $14,000; Morton 230 desks, 290 chairs, $9,900; King, 162 desks and chairs, $6,600; and Fairplain Northeast 111 desks, 151 chairs, $4,900.

Other schools with major replacements are Fairplain Northwest 170 chairs, $2,100; Fairplain West, 48 desks and chairs, $1,900; Lafayette, 48 desks and 54 chairs, $2,000; Spinks Corners, 25 desks, 37 chairs, $1,145; and Sodus and Stump, each with 35 desks and chairs, $1,000 each.

The old furniture was offered at a yard sale in July which produced receipts of $702 including $650 in block sales to parochial schools and churches. Average prices were $2 a desk and 75 cents a chair. Some furniture was left over and the district is considering another sale in the fall.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Burglars Carry Off $1,300 In Loot

Two burglaries and two attempted break-ins were reported in the Millburg and Benton Heights areas Thursday, Benton township police and state police of the Benton Harbor post said.

Township police said more than $1,300 in merchandise was reported stolen from Gelder's Farm Supply, Territorial road, Millburg. Police said a panel of an overhead door was kicked in to gain entry. Among the stolen goods were two chain saws, many assorted hand tools, 80 knives and a seven-horsepower gasoline engine.

Township police said an attempt was apparently made to break into Del's Auto service, 2080 Red Arrow highway, Benton Heights, but no entry was apparently made and nothing reported stolen.

Troopers said 11 bottles of liquor and an undetermined amount of change from vending machines were stolen from the Spot tavern, 2137 Red Arrow highway, Benton Heights. Troopers reported that a rear door was pried open to gain entry. Another attempted break-in was reported at Ruth's Laundramat, 2148 Red Arrow, across from the tavern, but no entry was gained, troopers said.

A Benton township man told Benton Harbor police Thursday he was robbed of $140 in cash at knifepoint by a man and woman who said they would drive him to where a friend was staying.

Howard Reprogal, 30, of 1200 East Empire avenue, was unhurt in the incident he reported occurred in the 300 block of North Winans street about 11:15 p.m. He said he had gone to visit a friend in the 400 block of Territorial road and found his friend was not home. He said after asking several people about his friend, the man and woman said they knew where the friend was and would drive Reprogal there.

He said the pair stopped in the 300 block of North Winans and the man held a knife to his side and demanded the money, then let him out of their car and they drove away.

State police of the Benton Harbor post said a Benton Harbor man was arrested early today on a charge of violation of the controlled substance act with intent to deliver after troopers seized four grams of alleged heroin.

Troopers said they observed a car weaving as it drove into the parking lot of the East End Bar, 986 East Main street, Benton township, about 12:30 a.m. Twelve small packets containing the suspected heroin, with an estimated value of about $450, were found when troopers searched the driver prior to placing him in their patrol car.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Turner Byron Marshall, 26, of 519 Colfax avenue.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said a farm tractor was reported stolen Thursday from the garage at a Pipestone township estate. Wayne G. Ward, route 1, box 106, Brush Lake road, said the tractor is valued at $500. Ward was identified as the caretaker at the estate owned by Victor Sipic, Chicago. No description of the tractor was reported.

St. Joseph police said assorted hand tools, valued at a total of $275, were reported stolen from an apartment at Lake View Estates, 2700 Lake Shore drive, Thursday. The tools were in an apartment used for storage of maintenance equipment.

Transfer Requests Denied

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien county Intermediate school board last night denied property transfer requests from two families who sought transfers from the River Valley to Bridgman school district.

Denied after a public hearing were the requests from Mr. and Mrs. Ed Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Don Blankenship, all of Route 1, Bridgman.

Supt. Raymond Sreboth noted that the same property, originally a 20-acre tract but now four five-acre tracts, had been transferred from the Bridgman to River Valley district by the Intermediate board in October, 1967. The land was then under different ownership.

He said other reasons the board turned down the requests were because the property owners knew the land was in the River Valley district at the time of purchase and because some of the property does not affect any children.

Sreboth noted the Warrens have two children, and the Blankenships have four. Both couples told the board they felt Bridgman had more to offer in educational programs.

In other business the board:

—Employed Cynthia Skirak, of Buchanan, as a school psychologist; Marcia Hansen, Niles, as a teacher for the juvenile center program; and Susan Richards of Niles as a teacher for the emotionally impaired. Also hired were Donald Heinzelman and Dale Streifling as teacher aides for the severely emotionally impaired program.

—Appointed Lyle Kollar of Brandywine school district to the Berrien County Career Education Planning council.

Township Firemen Get Help

Benton township firemen said they were surprised Thursday night to find another fire truck at the scene of a small storage shed fire about five blocks from the main fire station.

The truck was operated by two employes of All-Waste Disposal, Inc., 1385 Territorial road, located across the street from where the fire occurred at 1410 Territorial road. Wally Yankovich and Mike Douglas, said they saw the fire shortly after 9 p.m. and drove the 1949 pumper truck across the street and were putting water on the fire when township firemen arrived.

All-Waste President, George Slater, said the company bought two old fire trucks from Benton township and use them for washing down equipment. He said neither has been used for firefighting since the company bought them — until yesterday.

The storage shed, owned by Charles Ogata, 1410 Territorial, was destroyed, firemen said. The fire was well underway, firemen reported, when a township police officer, Kim Fowler saw it while on routine patrol. Nothing was stored in the shed at the time, firemen said.

Coolant Vapors Fill Building At Andrews

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Firemen were called to the Andrews university administration building last night after an air conditioning unit broke and filled the building with vapors from coolant fluids.

Firemen said the building was cleared of vapors with a smoke ejector. Students told firemen they had used fire extinguishers to douse a small blaze in the air conditioning unit before firemen arrived. The alarm was sounded at 7:45 p.m.

Unionists Ratify Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit school system employes who belong to the Teamsters Union will be on the job when classes start next Wednesday, after ratifying a new contract that ended a week-long strike. Local 214 business agent Jack Ford said the ratification vote Wednesday by the truck drivers, warehouse, food service and site management employes was almost unanimous in favor of the new contract. The 320 employes will receive a 5 per cent wage hike retroactive to last Oct. 1 and another 5 per cent increase as of last July 1. The contract still must be approved by the school board, but employes were expected to return to work in the meantime.

UAW, Ford Hammering Away

DETROIT (AP) — With a strike deadline only 12 days away, bargainers for the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. were expected to meet again today — and possibly through the Labor Day weekend — to hammer out a new contract and avert a nationwide walkout by 167,000 workers. The union, which says the two sides are still very far apart, met with company negotiators at the main table for about an hour Thursday and then recessed to resume subcommittee discussions. A Ford spokesman described the discussion as "frank and businesslike." He said some accomplishments had been made on general issues and "things are moving along," but would not elaborate. He added that both sides were "on call" for meeting today — which means each would be available to resume bargaining at the request of the other.

School Contracts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — With only a week left before classes start, nearly half of Michigans's 530 K-12 school districts remain without teacher contracts, the state Board of Education said Wednesday. The board said 49 per cent of the districts have signed contracts, compared with 56 per cent who had ratified pacts by the same time last year. The board said 261 school districts, enrolling 1.21 million pupils or 59 per cent of the state's public school enrollment, have ratified contracts for the 1976-1977 school year. Thirty-seven districts, representing 99,000 pupils, have tentative agreements which must still be ratified by the teachers, school board or both, the board said. And 231 districts, or 44 per cent, with about 752,000 pupils, are still negotiating.

Strike Continues At Oakland

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — Only two classes were held Thursday morning at Oakland University as a two-day old faculty walkout continued. Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Robert Webster met with both sides in the dispute, and ordered them to negotiate through the weekend if need be. He planned to meet today with the mediator in the strike, which began when faculty and the university were unable to agree on a new contract. The university has asked Judge Webster to order the striking teachers back to work, but he said that Tuesday is the earliest he could hold a hearing on the question of a strike-stopping injunction. Picket lines were still up at the university Thursday, but negotiations were continuing. The strike by 300 teachers who belong to the American Association of University Professors continued while a few faculty members tried to teach classes.

Lawmaker's Aide Quits

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state representative's office employe, suspended for allegedly receiving unemployment checks while working for the state, has resigned. Jerry Marshall, 33, on Thursday made public a letter of resignation offered to House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison.

OPPOSITION: Rep. Charles C. Diggs, Jr., D-Mich., faces reporters at the Capitol Thursday as the Congressional Black Caucus held a news conference to oppose a $1.6 million Mississippi state court judgment against the NAACP. Decision involved a 1966 boycott against Port Gibson, Miss., merchants. (AP Wirephoto)

Duffy-Mott Moving Out Of Hartford

California.

Duffy-Mott is a subsidiary of American Brands Inc. Last year, American Brands reported sales of over $4 billion.

Hartford Mayor Wayne Nelson said he believes the initial economic impact on the Hartford area will be substantial. "It's disappointing, but I don't think it's anything the community can't bounce back from," he continued.

He said local government leaders will move quickly to see if another firm can take over from Duffy-Mott.

He said the Duffy-Mott closing, coupled with layoffs at other area industries, is adding to an "already bleak situation" in southwestern Michigan.

Hartford township Supervisor Donald Drake said that besides the immediate effect on those put out of work, the plant's closing will hurt area growers and the township if a new processor does not take over the building.

The loss of the processor means fewer firms competing for fruit products. That could drive prices paid growers for their products down, he said.

Drake said that township tax records show the plant had an equalized valuation (SEV) of $800,000 and it carried an inventory of over $1 million.

"It's going to cut our revenue in taxes," he said.

BH Pair's Hearing Set Sept. 14

Two Benton Harbor men arrested in Flint on open murder warrants in the death of Theotis Bowman, 19, demanded examinations yesterday in Berrien Fifth District court and were ordered held without bond.

Preliminary examinations for Otis Young, 17, of 430 Pavone street, and Terry Bradley, 19, of 221 South McCord street, were set for Sept. 14.

Bowman died Aug. 16 in a Kalamazoo hospital of a head injury two days after he was found in a grassy area near the city fire station. He had apparently been struck with a piece of concrete.

Warrants charging assault to commit murder were issued the day after the attack but were replaced with open murder warrants after Bowman died. When police received information the two men had gone to the Flint area, they sent copies of the warrants to Flint police who apprehended them.

Watervliet School Contract Ratified

WATERVLIET — The Watervliet school board last night ratified a two-year contract agreement with the district's 85 teachers.

Supt. Samuel Gravitt said the new contract will increase salaries and benefits from 4.8 to 10.2 per cent, depending on the size of a teacher's annual step increase.

Gravitt said the increased benefits in the new package will cost the district a total $48,900 in the 1976-77 school year.

The new contract also provides for increased medical insurance benefits. Gravitt said the district will pay $58,800 for teachers' health insurance this year, compared to $45,400 last year.

Teachers with bachelor's degrees will receive salaries this year ranging from $9,000 to $14,400 in 13 annual steps. Last year, salaries ranged from $8,550 to $13,434.

Teachers with master's degrees will receive salaries ranging from $9,675 to $15,200 in 14 steps. Last year, salaries ranged from $9,225 to $14,516.

The new contract contains provisions to reopen negotiations next year on salaries and no more than two other items, Gravitt said.

In other areas, the board last night voted to levy 2.12 mills in 1976 for debt retirement. Last year, the debt retirement levy was .681, Gravitt said.

The total levy in 1976 will be 26.496. Last year it was 25.057.

The board hired two additional teachers and accepted a resignation from one, bringing the total staff to 85. That is four less than last year.

The board voted to discontinue purchasing medical insurance for administrators and non-certified employes from School Employes Trust, Lansing. The insurance will be purchased from Michigan Blue Cross this year at a savings of about $2,000, Gravitt said.

The board agreed to hire the McClanahan Construction Co., Watervliet, to repair and apply topcoating to the middle school roof and middle school shop roof. The work is to cost $2,555. The firm was the only bidder.

Bonded Suspect Caught

James Watson, alias Ed Bible and Bobby Jones, was arrested Wednesday by Benton Harbor police after a seven-month search by his bondsman.

Watson, 23, who listed a number of addresses, was lodged in the county jail after Berrien District Judge Hugh Black raised his bond from $10,000 to $50,000 and tacked on another $5,000 for failing to appear in court.

Watson was charged with larceny in a building Feb. 10, freed on bond Feb. 11, but failed to appear for a Feb. 23 preliminary hearing.

His bondsman, Mike Price, of Twin City Bonders, said he had been trying to locate Watson since he left town "an hour after he was bonded."

Price would have been out the $10,000 bond, but he said he received an anonymous telephone call Wednesday saying Watson was back in Benton Harbor. Price said he called Benton Harbor police, and a search of a house at 405 Morton avenue turned up a man, found curled-up underneath the shelf of a linen closet.

Watson was arrested on the bench warrant charging failure to appear in court, and still faces the larceny charge.

Woman Awaiting Sentence

A Berrien Circuit court jury deliberated about one-half hour yesterday before convicting a Berrien Springs woman of larceny from a person.

Jurors in Judge Chester J. Byrns court returned the guilty verdict against Sandra Sue Stone, 19, of 215 North Kimmel street, to end a one-day trial.

She was charged with stealing some $415 from Bert Johnson July 18 on East Ferry street in Berrien Springs. She was continued free on $2,000 bond to await sentencing of up to 10 years in prison.

Opposing counsel during the trial were Prosecutor John Smietanka and St. Joseph Atty. Donald Bleich.

Zoning's Topic At South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN — The city planning commission last night referred back to city council a new zoning ordinance that has been in the making for more than two years.

The planners had sent the zoning ordinance to city council for approval in June, but it was sent back by the aldermen who said that several individual citizen concerns needed to be solved.

Planning commission Chairman Paul Peters said last night that he believes the individual concerns have been ironed out.

He said the largest change relates to setback requirements for industrial property. The initial version of the ordinance would have prevented the expansion of several existing plants. Peters said new language in the ordinance provides flexibility to allow industrial expansion.

In other matters, the commission accepted the resignation of Kenneth Coe who had served since 1973. Coe recently move to LaPorte, Ind.

The commission took under advisement a recommendation from code enforcement officer Donald Zordel that the ordinance governing signs be reviewed.

During the August primary election Zordel ordered several residents to remove from their lawns signs endorsing political candidates, claiming they violated the sign ordinance.

Zordel suggested that the planning commission consider allowing the placement of signs during designated periods for matters such as elections. He also indicated that recent court cases in other states indicate it might be a violation of a property owner's constitutional rights to order the removal of signs expressing a personal belief.

urglars Carry Off 1,300 In Loot

) burglaries and two at-:ed break-ins were report-the Millburg and Benton its areas Thursday, Benton hip police and state police Benton Harbor post said. vnship police said more $1,300 in merchandise was ted stolen from Gelder's Supply, Territorial road, urg. Police said a panel of an overhead door was kicked in to gain entry. Among the stolen goods were two chain saws, many assorted hand tools, 80 knives and a seven-horsepower gasoline engine.

Township police said an attempt was apparently made to break into Del's Auto service, 2090 Red Arrow highway, Benton Heights, but no entry was apparently made and nothing reported stolen.

Troopers said 11 bottles of liquor and an undetermined amount of change from vending machines were stolen from the Spot tavern, 2137 Red Arrow highway, Benton Heights. Troopers reported that a rear door was pried open to gain entry. Another attempted break-in was reported at Ruth's Laundramat, 2148 Red Arrow, across from the tavern, but no entry was gained, troopers said.

A Benton township man told Benton Harbor police Thursday he was robbed of $140 in cash at knifepoint by a man and woman who said they would drive him to where a friend was staying.

Howard Reprogal, 30, of 1200 East Empire avenue, was unhurt in the incident he reported occurred in the 300 block of North Winans street about 11:15 p.m. He said he had gone to visit a friend in the 400 block of Territorial road and found his friend was not home. He said after asking several people about his friend, the man and woman said they knew where the friend was and would drive Reprogal there.

He said the pair stopped in the 300 block of North Winans and the man held a knife to his side and demanded the money, then let him out of their car and they drove away.

State police of the Benton Harbor post said a Benton Harbor man was arrested early today on a charge of violation of the controlled substance act with intent to deliver after troopers seized four grams of alleged heroin.

Troopers said they observed a car weaving as it drove into the parking lot of the East End Bar, 995 East Main street, Benton township, about 12:30 a.m. Twelve small packets containing the suspected heroin, with an estimated value of about $450, were found when troopers searched the driver prior to placing him in their patrol car.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Turner Byron Marshall, 26, of 519 Colfax avenue.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said a farm tractor was reported stolen Thursday from the garage at a Pipestone township estate. Wayne G. Ward, route 1, box 106, Brush Lake road, said the tractor is valued at $500. Ward was identified as the caretaker at the estate owned by Victor Sipic, Chicago. No description of the tractor was reported.

St. Joseph police said assorted hand tools, valued at a total of $275, were reported stolen from an apartment at Lake View Estates, 2700 Lake Shore drive, Thursday. The tools were in an apartment used for storage of maintenance equipment.

Unionists Ratify Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit school system employes who belong to the Teamsters Union will be on the job when classes start next Wednesday, after ratifying a new contract that ended a week-long strike. Local 214 business agent Jack Ford said the ratification vote Wednesday by the truck drivers, warehouse, food service and site management employes was almost unanimous in favor of the new contract. The 320 employes will receive a 5 per cent wage hike retroactive to last Oct. 1 and another 5 per cent increase as of last July 1. The contract still must be approved by the school board, but employes were expected to return to work in the meantime.

UAW, Ford Hammering Away

DETROIT (AP) — With a strike deadline only 12 days away, bargainers for the United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. were expected to meet again today — and possibly through the Labor Day weekend — to hammer out a new contract and avert a nationwide walkout by 167,000 workers. The union, which says the two sides are still very far apart, met with company negotiators at the main table for about an hour Thursday and then recessed to resume subcommittee discussions. A Ford spokesman described the discussion as "frank and businesslike." He said some accomplishments had been made on general issues and "things are moving along," but would not elaborate. He added that both sides were "on call" for meeting today — which means each would be available to resume bargaining at the request of the other.

School Contracts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — With only a week left before classes start, nearly half of Michigans's 530 K-12 school districts remain without teacher contracts, the state Board of Education said Wednesday. The board said 49 per cent of the districts have signed contracts, compared with 56 per cent who had ratified pacts by the same time last year. The board said 261 school districts, enrolling 1.21 million pupils or 59 per cent of the state's public school enrollment, have ratified contracts for the 1976-1977 school year. Thirty-seven districts, representing 99,000 pupils, have tentative agreements which must still be ratified by the teachers, school board or both, the board said. And 231 districts, or 44 per cent, with about 752,000 pupils, are still negotiating.

Strike Continues At Oakland

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — Only two classes were held Thursday morning at Oakland University as a two-day old faculty walkout continued. Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Robert Webster met with both sides in the dispute, and ordered them to negotiate through the weekend if need be. He planned to meet today with the mediator in the strike, which began when faculty and the university were unable to agree on a new contract. The university has asked Judge Webster to order the striking teachers back to work, but he said that Tuesday is the earliest he could hold a hearing on the question of a strike-stopping injunction. Picket lines were still up at the university Thursday, but negotiations were continuing. The strike by 300 teachers who belong to the American Association of University Professors continued while a few faculty members tried to teach classes.

Lawmaker's Aide Quits

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state representative's office employe, suspended for allegedly receiving unemployment checks while working for the state, has resigned. Jerry Marshall, 33, on Thursday made public a letter of resignation offered to House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison.

Don Mitchell Gets County Board Seat

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Don P. Mitchell of Benton Harbor yesterday was named to his first public office when the Berrien county board of commissioners elected him to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of former Commissioner Bill Joseph. Mitchell, 62, of 486 North McCord street, retired in 1972 from his job as a postal carrier with the U.S. Postal Service, where he had worked for 26 years.

Mitchell now represents District 3 on the county board, which encompasses the north part of Benton Harbor and part of Benton township. He defeated Cecilia Burke, of Benton township, the only other nominee.

County commissioner

Mitchell and Mrs. Burke are Democrats. No Republicans were nominated to fill the vacancy of Democrat Joseph, although Republicans outnumber Democrats 10 to 3 on the board.

Board Chairman Leslie Fischer said the vote for Mitchell was unanimous, with Commissioner R.J. Burkholz of Benton township absent.

"I will seek election in November," Mitchell, a Democrat, told the press after yesterday's short board meeting. There had been some question on the procedure for filling Joseph's seat in the general election, as Joseph won the Democratic nomination in the August primary and was to have been unopposed.

Joseph's resignation was announced at the Aug. 19 county board meeting, but the letter from Joseph said the resignation was effective July 31 — before the primary was held. Joseph has moved to Grand Rapids.

County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke previously said the prosecutor's office had advised him that the Berrien county Democratic committee could name a candidate to replace Joseph on the Nov. 2 ballot. He said yesterday no official ruling has yet been received from the prosecutor's office.

Commissioner Victor Greer, of Benton Harbor, who nominated Mitchell, said Mitchell's "knowledge of the area and awareness of the problems in the third district" would make him a good choice for the seat.

George Wyburn of Niles nominated Mrs. Burke.

Mitchell was born in St. Joseph and reared in Benton Harbor, and he and his wife, Katherine, have eight grown children. One son is Dwight (Pete) Mitchell, director of the Benton Harbor public works department.

Mitchell noted the commission post is his first public office because he was not allowed to hold office while a federal employe because of the Hatch Act.

He will join the board's planning and social services committee with Commissioners Nancy Clark and Burkholz. Mitchell is one of three Democrats on the board, joining Greer and Wyburn.

Dowagiac's Adult Class Signup Set

DOWAGIAC — Registration for adult education courses at the high school here begins Tuesday and runs through Sept. 16, according to Dr. Joseph Andrews, program director.

Each class will meet one night weekly, for two hours, 7 to 9 p.m., for the course of the school year, he added. Classes begin Sept. 13.

Those who work towards a high school degree can take courses free of charge. There is a $10 Per-course charge, plus text book fee for others.

Shorthand, English, math, basic reading, government, history, typing, auto mechanics and office machines are among courses to be offered, he said.

Coloma School Board To Hold Special Session

COLOMA — Coloma school board will meet in special session Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 8 p.m., in the school administration center, Boyer road, according to Marshall Badt, board president.

Rabbi To Speak At Church Event

Rabbi Harold Berman of Temple B'Nai Shalom, Fairplain, will speak on Jewish-Christian relations at next Thursday's meeting of the Berrien County Council of Churches.

RABBI HAROLD BERMAN
Council speaker

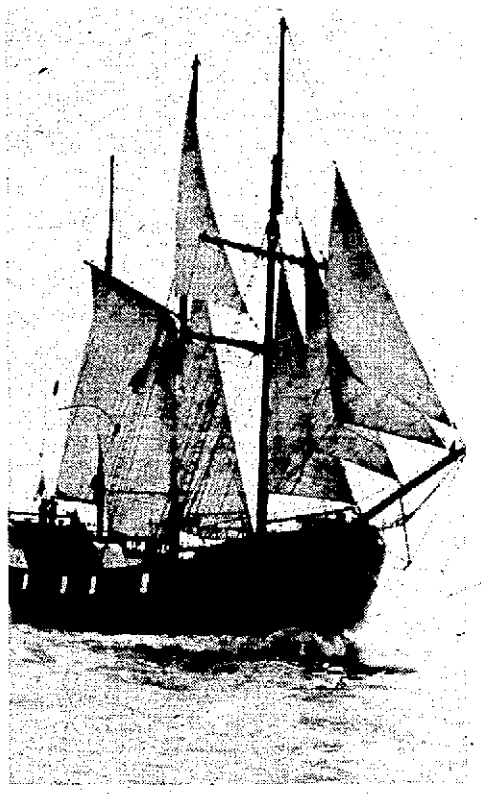

The meeting will be held in the dining hall at Camp Warren eight miles north of St. Joseph on US-33. Rev. Arnold Bolin, council executive director, said the meeting starts with a fellowship supper at 6:30 p.m. and is ll by a short business session at 7:30. Rabbi Berman will speak at 8.

Rabbi Berman will give his personal views on Jewish-Christian relations. A question and answer session will follow.

Rabbi Berman came to Temple B'Nai Shalom in August, 1975, from Ridgefield Park, N.J., where he served as rabbi of Temple Emanuel.

Reservations for the supper are required. They may be made by telephoning 983-6535 until 4 p.m. Wednesday. A $1.75 donation is also required for those wishing to have supper.

Rev. Bolin said the public is invited and people who arrive early will have use of the camp facilities including the swimming pool.

Tall Ship Stranded In Financial Seas

MENOMINEE, Mich. (AP) — Beleaguered by financial disputes over nearly $11,000 in navigation fees and towing charges, the tall ship Erawan was stranded Thursday without a pilot. Capt. Morgan Howell, the Great Lakes pilot who was guiding the Panamanian sailing ship on its summer tour, abandoned ship on orders from his superiors. The officials of the Upper Great Lakes Pilots Association say they won't provide a pilot until the vessel hands over more than $6,800 in pilot fees. Maritime laws require licensed pilots to guide all ships through the Great Lakes.

The Erawan, which came to the United States as part of the Bicentennial project Operation Sail, ran aground last week near Algoma, Wis. The ship was pulled back to deep water by a tugboat from the Selvick Marine Towing Co. The Sturgeon Bay, Wis., company says the price tag for that job is $3,800. The Erawan's captain, Phillippe Esnos, says the company is overcharging him. In the meantime, the ship is stuck in Menominee because of the pilots association boycot. Esnos told officials in Menominee he believed he had commitments from the Cleveland office of Operation Sail to pay pilot fees in and out of that city's port. Charles Minerman, a Menominee attorney who took an interest in the ship's plight, said Operation Sail failed to come up with the money.

When the Erawan put in at Chicago, Minerman said, city representatives there gave verbal assurances to Esnos they would pay pilot fees. In addition, Minerman said Esnos gave him a letter written under the letterhead of Chicago Mayor Richard Daley and signed by a man named Jack Reilly concerning pilot fees. Minerman said the letter "would lead you to believe they were going to promise a pilot for Erawan." But the attorney said the letter is worded in such a way that the language is probably not legally binding.

"What it boils down to," said Minerman, "is that the captain has been had by Operation Sail '76." The Selvick dispute is a separate matter. According to Mrs. Betty Harrington, secretary for Selvick, the company wants $1,800 in tugboat towing charges and another $2,000 for damages to the Selvick tugboat which the boat suffered in the rescue effort. Minerman said the captain disputes the amount of both fees. The Erawan had been scheduled to visit four other Great Lakes ports before it returned to the ocean and to its Caribbean home.

The captain said the ship must reach the south before the October storm season in the North Atlantic. Jack Chestnut, a lawyer for the pilots association, says the group will sue the ship's owners to ensure collection of the pilot fees before the Erawan leaves the Great Lakes.

Bikers Aim For 'Big Mac'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Led by a state senator, some 350 exhuberant bicyclists are wheeling the 330 miles from Lansing 330 north to the Mackinac Bridge. Sen. Richard Allen, R-Alma, a 43-year-old bespectacled bike enthusiast, led his peddling pack away from the front of the State Capitol Building Thursday. "We're doing this for fun and to call attention to bicyclists in Michigan," said Allen. More bicycles than cars are sold now in Michigan and 80 bicyclists were killed in state traffic last year, indicating the growing importance of the machines as "bonafide vehicles," he said. The cyclists were traveling on back roads. They were to stay at Central Michigan University in Roscommon county tonight and at Wolverine in Cheboygan County Saturday night before pushing on to St. Ignace Sunday. Allen started the Lansing-Mackinac Bridge bicycle trip in 1971 while still a state representative. Two years ago, some 800 bicyclists participated, a number that was deemed too unmanagable. This year a limit was set at 350, and a number of applicants had to be turned away, Allen said.

Two Berrien Metro Squads Combined

The Berrien county board of commissioners Thursday combined the Metro Narcotics unit and the defunct Metro Crime unit into the Berrien county Metro Crime and Drug Enforcement unit.

Commissioner Otto Grau said combining of the two units is "just a name change for the present." He said, though, that in the future officers from various departments might be assigned to the unit for what he called "special projects." The narcotics unit is funded by the county, and participating police departments pay the salaries of officers they supply to the unit. Grau said the new unit "at the present time won't cost any more than the narcotics unit."

He also noted the two units were combined because some work of the former crime unit still has to be followed up. The crime unit, which was partially funded by state and federal grants, expired at the end of June because a renewal by the county would have obligated the county to full funding the next year.

Grau said the current roster of the narcotics squad includes two officers from the sheriff's department, and one each from Benton Harbor, Benton township, and St. Joseph police departments, plus one secretary. The major function of the narcotics squad was drug-related investigations, while the crime unit was organized to fight street crime and aid departments in the county with other criminal investigations.

South Haven Sewer Question Puzzling

South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — The question of whether the city of South Haven's sewage treatment plant is operating at above capacity became more puzzling last night as members of the Board of Public Utilities (BPU) learned from its engineers that the facility's measuring meters have been inaccurate.

The engineering firm of John Kistler & Associates, Inc., of Grand Haven estimates that the measuring meters at the plant have probably been recording 25 per cent more sewage flow than is actually being treated.

Kistler is in the process of conducting an infiltration and inflow (I&I) study for the city. For several years the city has been concerned about the discrepancy between the amount of water pumped at the filtration plant and the quantity of sewage being treated. Last year the city pumped 557 million gallons of water through its filtration pump, but treated 806 million gallons at the sewage plant.

Up until two years ago city officials believed that the sewage plant was operating at just over 50 per cent capacity. In 1974, however, a DNR official claimed that the plant was operating above capacity at several times during the course of a year.

The measuring problem exists because the meter is located where treated sewage is discharged into the Black river. The measuring device was installed when the river level was low, but in recent years the actual level has been above normal.

"When the river is high the water backs up into the flume (meter) for measuring flow, and causes a distortion in the readings," said William E. Chappell , an engineer for Kistler.

"There is a good possibility that the DNR-caused panic does not exist," summarized board member Rudolph Decker.

Preliminary conclusions of the I&I study indicate that approximately 37 per cent of the flow through the city's sanitary sewer lines is caused by infiltration.

The study concludes that only about five per cent of the existing sewer lines need replacement while the balance of the infiltration problem could be solved by rehabilitating existing lines.

BPU officials said that it appears that if Chappell's conclusions are verified and if the city undertakes a project to reduce infiltration then a major expansion of the plant would not be necessary in the near future based on current usage.

An unaudited financial statement for fiscal 1976 revealed that the city-owned electric utility ended with a 329,613 surplus compared to a profit of $301,108 in 1975.

Both the sewer and water utility reported deficits, however. The water utility lost $35,690 in 1976 compared to $6,077 in 1975 while the sewer utility loss was $46,845 compared to $51,299.

"I feel like the Postal Service," concluded BPU comptroller Wilbur Lynam. "The more we raise our sewer rates the more money we lose in the water department because people are using less."

Water usuage last year was 557 million gallons compared to 612 million in 1975.

In other matters, the board tabled a request from Mr. and Mrs. John Large of Baseline road, Casco township for permission to tap to the city's water system.

A request from Rolfe Power, Willow court, for the city to construct a new sanitary sewer to serve homes on the city's northwest side was referred to staff for further review. The homes are presently served by a privately owned sewer line that is reported to be inadequate.

The $4,206 bid of Don Woodhams, Inc. of South Haven for a half-ton pickup for the water department was approved. The low bid of $4,181 was submitted by Stoney's Ford Sales of Gobles, but the BPU exercised a policy of awarding contracts to local businesses when their proposal is within five percent of the low bid.

Stevensville Okays Cruiser Purchase

Stevensville village council, last night approved the purchase of a 1975 state police vehicle at a cost to be determined later.

The car will be appraised by the state just before it goes on the market and its purchase is subject to approval of one available council member at the time of sale.

Approximate cost for vehicles of this type is between $900-$1,400, but because it has a new motor it could be higher, according to Martin Watson, village police chief. Fully equipped for police use, the car will be available to the village in the near future, Watson said.

Watson told the council there is a short period of time, three to 10 days, when used state vehicles are sold to local agencies, prior to being placed on the auction market, making it necessary for council's tentative approval without an established cost figure.

The police chief reported the department's present police car is not properly equipped to run 24 hours a day and it is costing the village too much money to maintain.

In other business, village President Arthur Kasewurm presented Watson a Legion of Valor certificate from the American Federation of Police.

The award was in recognition for Watson's performance Feb. 25, when he suffered shotgun blast wounds in the leg after stopping a car driven by two Detroit youths who had kidnaped two Kalamazoo women.

The two Detroit youths committed suicide after their car was surrounded by area police summoned by Watson. The women escaped without serious injury.

The council approved two lot splits on Alpine Ridge road, subject to approval of the Berrien county health department. The lots are owned by Arthur Wesner, 5800 Alpine Ridge road and William C. Lawrence, 2519 John Beers road. The split will create two more usable lots.

Treasurer Ervin Fechner reported he will be at the village hall on Tuesday, Sept. 14, from 6:30-8:30 p.m., to collect village taxes, due Sept. 15. He said any senior citizens not able to pay at his home or the hall or by check through the mail may contact him for other arrangements.

No bids were received on three village-owned lots that were available for sale at a public auction last night.

The council granted permission to the Systic Fibrosis Foundation to conduct a fund-raising campaign in the village Sept. 13-25.

Lawrence Friesen, 5555 St. Joseph avenue, was hired as a public works employe, replacing Donald Zielke. His salary, at $3 an hour, will be paid with federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act funds.

Covert To Dedicate New School Building Sept. 19

COVERT — Covert school officials have scheduled Sunday, Sept. 19, for dedication ceremonies and open house at the district's new junior and senior high school. The ceremonies will begin at 3 p.m. in the new auditorium, according to Supt. William Randall. The guest speaker will be Dr. James Lehman, president of Lake Michigan college, Benton Harbor. Students will guide tours through the new facilities until 6 p.m. and refreshments will be served, Randall said. The nearly $3 million worth of new facilities at the Covert campus were completed in time for fall classes scheduled to open next Tuesday and Wednesday.

RECEIVES VALOR AWARD: Martin Watson, right, Stevensville, police chief, was presented with Legion of Valor certificate last night from American Federation of Police. Students will guide tours through the new facilities until 6 p.m. and refreshments will be served, Randall said. The nearly $5 million worth of new facilities at the Covert campus were completed in time for fall classes scheduled to open next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Two Spartans Charge Woody With Illegal Recruiting

TED BELL

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two Michigan State University football players say they believe they were improperly recruited by Ohio State University football coach Woody Hayes, the Lansing State Journal reported Thursday.

The newspaper quoted Ted Bell, who quit the MSU team last week, as saying Hayes gave him a $50 bill. Hayes denies the accusation.

And John Vielhaber said Hayes gave his family an autographed copy of his $8.95 book, "You Win With People." Hayes acknowledges he "might have done that" but said he cleared the gift first with Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke.

Duke, however, told the State Journal the act of giving the book to a football prospect might be "technically illegal." He added, "I remember talking to Woody about his book but I don't have any recollection of giving him permission."

Vielhaber, a red-shirted quarterback, also said he got a free University of Michigan golf shirt during a U-M recruiting drive.

U-M Assistant Coach Jack Harbaugh said the school used to give away golf shirts to recruits but stopped the practice as soon as the school realized it might be improper.

Claims by Bell and Vielhaber ranged from what the two believed were promises that Hayes would provide all-expense-paid trips to the Rose Bowl for their families to a pair of Big Mac sandwiches Vielhaber says he munched in Hayes' office, the State Journal said.

The accusations also included expensive meals, gratis nights out on the town, free automobile rides, the U-M golf shirt and the $50 bill Bell said he got from Hayes himself.

Neither player is on the team this year. Vielhaber, a Findlay, Ohio, sophomore, has been redshirted this season. Redshirting is the practice of removing a player from the eligibility list for one year, allowing an athlete five years in which to use up his four years of eligibility to play.

Bell's playing career ended last week when he quit the team under doctor's orders. Bell was one of the MSU players suspended by the National Collegiate Athletic Association for involvement with recruiting violations at MSU. Before he quit the squad, Bell was barred from playing in the Big Ten season opener Sept. 11 against Ohio State.

Hayes has admitted it was he who informed the NCAA of recruiting violations by MSU, which led the NCAA to ban MSU from television and bowl appearances and put the school on three year's probation.

To some extent, the newspaper said, the two athletes' claims are buttressed by two other football players, one at MSU and the other at U-M, who refused to be identified.

The two anonymous athletes said it was common practice for high school recruits to receive $50 while visiting OSU, the newspaper said. One said he collected $50 from an unidentified alumnus and the other said he got $50 twice — once when he arrived in Columbus and once when he left, both times from an assistant coach he refused to name.

Asked about the $50 to Bell, Hayes said, "There isn't a word of truth in it."

Hayes also denied claims by Bell and Vielhaber that they were individually offered free trips to the Rose Bowl, offers that the two players say they thought were meant to include their entire families. Bell said the offer was repeated three times.

Vielhaber said it occurred when Hayes visited his home Dec. 8, 1974.

"We were all sitting around in my family's kitchen and then got to talking about the Rose Bowl. My mom or sister ... asked about the Rose Bowl and Woody said not to worry about it. She said the family did not have enough money to go and Woody replied, 'Don't worry. You'll be able to go. We can take care of that. We have the funds to take care of families.'"

Bell claims he was first offered an individual Rose Bowl trip in December 1973. He said Hayes called him at home and offered him an all-expense-paid trip to Pasadena.

"I said no because I still had a cast on my leg. I would have gone if I had no cast. I'm no fool. I wouldn't think twice about going," Bell told the State Journal.

Bell said he also got a 1974 Rose Bowl program from Hayes that included a promise from the OSU coach that the entire Bell family would see the next bowl game if Bell became a Buckeye. He said the program has since been discarded.

"He (Hayes) just said the whole family would go next year. That's all," Bell said.

Bell told the State Journal the Rose Bowl issue arose a third time during his recruiting trip to OSU in January 1974. Bell said Hayes again confirmed that the Bell family would see the Rose Bowl for free the following year if Bell became a Buckeye.

All players interviewed by the State Journal about recruiting violations said similar practices have been common at many schools, including MSU, the newspaper said.

Ten Napel Paces Win Over Colts

Lion Defense Stars

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Garth may not have the girth, but he seems to have the guts to make it in the National Football League as a linebacker with the Detroit Lions.

The Lions have until Monday to pare 10 players to reach the league maximum of 43, but Thursday night Garth Ten Napel did his best to insure he won't be among those cut.

Ten Napel, a meager 210-pounder from Texas A & M, had perhaps the best performance of his career in a last-ditch effort to make the squad, and led the Lions to an injury-marred 24-9 preseason victory over the Baltimore Colts.

At least seven players suffered sidelining injuries, four of them Colts, but lightweight Ten Napel didn't seem to be the slightest bit damaged after playing virtually all the battering game on defense.

Not only was the seventh-round draft choice a tenacious tackler, but he also blocked a David Lee punt, returned it 29 yards for a touchdown, and intercepted a Bert Jones pass and returned that 36 yards to set up another TD.

While Ten Napel and his teammates were bubbling over their successful close to the exhibition season, the Colt locker room was solemn and coach Ted Marchibroda's eyes were reddened over the injury to his defensive tackle Joe Ehrmann.

Ehrmann was helped off the field in the fourth quarter and later collapsed in the locker room. Lions team physicians Dr. Edwin R. Guise and Dr. Robert C. Nestor attended him and Ehrmann was put on a stretcher in an ambulance and rushed to a nearby hospital. Marchibroda said Ehrmann had a concussion.

Meawhile, Baltimore starting linebacker Tom MacLeod suffered a torn achilles tendon and was to undergo surgery today. He'll be lost for the season. Other injured Colts were offensive tackle George Kunz (knee) and cornerback Lloyd Mumphord (finger).

Detroit casualties were linebacker Paul Naumoff (leg muscle), tight end Charlie Sanders (pinched nerve in shoulder), and fullback Lawrence Gaine (ankle).

The round of exhibition action continues today with four games. Chicago, 4-1, visits Washington, 2-3, while the Kansas City Chiefs and St. Louis Cardinals battle for the unofficial championship of Missouri. Atlanta, 1-4, meets Green Bay, 2-3, at Milwaukee and Cleveland, 4-1, travels to Buffalo, 1-4, in tonight's other games.

Houston, winless in five starts, tries to upset 2-3 Dallas in a nationally televised game Saturday (9 p.m., EDT). Unbeaten Los Angeles, 5-0, hosts 4-1 San Francisco Saturday night. Other Saturday games are Seattle, 1-4, at Oakland, 41; New York Jets, 1-4, at Pittsburgh, 4-2; Miami, 5-0, at New Orleans, 4-1; New York Giants, 4-1, at San Diego, 2-3; and Cincinnati, 3-2, at Tampa Bay, 1-4.

Exhibition play concludes Sunday with 3-2 Minnesota invading Denver, 4-2, for a nationally televised game (3:30 p.m., EDT) and Philadelphia, 0-5, at New England, 2-3.

Hill And Murakami Fire 67's To Top World Series

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Dave Hill sought outside help to cure his driving problems. Japanese pro Takashi Murakami solved his own woes off the tee.

Both methods were ultrasuccessful. The two straightened out their shots so well they forged three-under-par 67s Thursday for the opening-round lead at the $300,000 World Series of Golf.

"I've had a couple of weeks of hooking the ball. Jack Tuthill (PGA tournament director) and Frank Chirkinian (CBS-TV producer here) helped me out," said Hill.

"Jack told me I should just raise my chin a little. Frank tried to get my legs moving. It worked. I only missed two fairways all day," added the 39-year-old American.

The first time Murakami, 32, looked down the 400-yard, par-four first hole at Firestone South, he asked, "Is this a par five?"

Aside from his eagle three on the second hole, Murakami conceded he struck an errant driver the first four holes. "I was trying to hit it too hard. I quit pressing on the fifth hole," he said.

Lurking behind the two surprised leaders were the game's big shots in search of the $100,000 first prize.

Jack Nicklaus, winner of four previous Series titles and nearly $389,000 on Firestone South alone, fashioned a 68 for third place.

Raymond Floyd, the Masters champion, was next at 69. Tom Watson, the defending champion; last week's American Classic victor David Graham, J.C. Snead and Buddy Allin matched par-70.

At 71 were U.S. Open champion Jerry Pate, Hale Irwin, Hubert Green and Lee Trevino.

Ill fortune continued to dog Johnny Miller. Just recovered from a hand injury in a motorcycle accident, the skinny blond was assessed a four-shot penalty for a 76.

Miller carried an extra club, his boy's putter, for 15 holes. "It was down inside the bag. I didn't know it was in there," he said.

Ben Crenshaw, the year's leading tour money-winner, was deeper in arrears at 78, last in the field of 20. He scrambled to one double bogey and six bogeys.

Newberry Upsets Martina

Borg, Vilas Advance In Wet U.S. Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Swedish sensation Bjorn Borg and Argentina's Guillermo Vilas fought off opponents in wind and rain and Janet Newberry supplied the thunder at the water-logged U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

Showers which began early Thursday soaked the clay courts at the West Side Tennis Club throughout the day, delaying the start of play for two hours and stopping it for two more during the afternoon. Several matches were postponed and others were played in continuous drizzle on soggy courts.

All of that was just fine with Miss Newberry, a 23-year-old scrambler from La Jolla, Calif. Miss Newberry took on third-seeded Martina Navratilova early in the evening and stunned the Czechoslovakian expatriate 1-6, 6-4, 6-3 in a thrilling center-court match.

Miss Newberry, coming off a knee operation and 20 pounds lighter than she was six months ago, took advantage of a lapse in concentration by her opponent to win the second set after being crushed in the first. She repeatedly fired passing shots past the charging Navratilova, mixing them with soft, accurate lobs.

She broke Martina twice en route to a 5-1 lead in third set, dropped the next two games, then won the match in the ninth game with a sizzling forehand down the line, followed by an ace. Martina slumped into a chair at courtside and wept.

"I was really mad," said the 20-year-old Miss Navratilova. "They canceled everyone else's match. I was waiting five hours. I was sure there was no way we would play and I wanted to eat.

"Then, suddenly, they told us we'd have to play."

Fourth-seeded Virginia Wade, fifth-seeded Nancy Richey and seventh-seeded Kerry Reid all managed to get their firstround matches in between the showers.

Miss Wade trounced Australian Wendy Turnbull, 6-1, 6-2, and said she didn't mind the rain a bit. "It's lovely, really," said the lady from London. "It's just like being at home."

Miss Richey topped Kathy Harter, 6-3, 7-6, and Mrs. Reid beat Linda Thomas, 6-3, 6-1. Top seed Chris Evert plays Saturday, second seed Evonne Goolagong played today.

Borg, the winner of the Wimbledon and U.S. Pro Championships, looked devastating in trouncing unheralded Australian Cliff Letcher, 6-2, 6-2.

Vilas had slightly more trouble before downing Ross Case of Australia 6-2, 6-4. The lanky third seed coasted through the first set before Case rallied in the second, breaking Vilas to tie at 4-4.

But Vilas, playing mostly in the back court, quickly broke back, then won the final game as Case sent a backhand shot sailing over the base line.

Vitas Gerulaitis, the only other men's seed to see action, cruised by Steve Krulevitz 6-2, 6-2 in a second-round match.

St. Joseph Catholic bombed Church of God 24-5 Thursday night in a St. Joseph Church league tournament game. Bill Smith, Mark Urch, Clark McCance and Dick Payovich all had four hits. Urch hit two homers and Terry Etter and Smith one each. Bud Shafer had a homer for the losers.

Two Spartans Charge Woody With Illegal Recruiting

TED BELL

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two Michigan State University football players say they believe they were improperly recruited by Ohio State University football coach Woody Hayes, the Lansing State Journal reported Thursday.

The newspaper quoted Ted Bell, who quit the MSU team last week, as saying Hayes gave him a $50 bill. Hayes denies the accusation.

And John Vielhaber said Hayes gave his family an autographed copy of his $8.95 book, "You Win With People." Hayes acknowledges he "might have done that" but said he cleared the gift first with Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke.

Duke, however, told the State Journal the act of giving the book to a football prospect might be "technically illegal." He added, "I remember talking to Woody about his book but I don't have any recollection of giving him permission."

Vielhaber, a red-shirted quarterback, also said he got a free University of Michigan golf shirt during a U-M recruiting drive.

U-M Assistant Coach Jack Harbaugh said the school used to give away golf shirts to recruits but stopped the practice as soon as the school realized it might be improper.

Claims by Bell and Vielhaber ranged from what the two believed were promises that Hayes would provide all-expense-paid trips to the Rose Bowl for their families to a pair of Big Mac sandwiches Vielhaber says he munched in Hayes' office, the State Journal said.

The accusations also included expensive meals, gratis nights out on the town, free automobile rides, the U-M golf shirt and the $50 bill Bell said he got from Hayes himself.

Miss Richey topped Kathy Harter, 6-3, 7-6, and Mrs. Reid beat Linda Thomas, 6-3, 6-1. Top seed Chris Evert plays Saturday, second seed Evonne Goolagong played today.

Borg, the winner of the Wimbledon and U.S. Pro Championships, looked devastating in trouncing unheralded Australian Cliff Letcher, 6-2, 6-2.

Vilas had slightly more trouble before downing Ross Case of Australia 6-2, 6-4. The lanky third seed coasted through the first set before Case rallied in the second, breaking Vilas to tie at 4-4.

But Vilas, playing mostly in the back court, quickly broke back, then won the final game as Case sent a backhand shot sailing over the base line.

Vitas Gerulaitis, the only other men's seed to see action, cruised by Steve Krulevitz 6-2, 6-2 in a second-round match.

Catholic Wins

St. Joseph Catholic bombed Church of God 24-5 Thursday night in a St. Joseph Church league tournament game. Bill Smith, Mark Urch, Clark McCance and Dick Payovich all had four hits. Urch hit two homers and Terry Etter and Smith one each. Bud Shafer had a homer for the losers.

Bucs, Dodgers Eye Miracles

NL Races Suddenly Hot

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Is the National League writing the early chapters of a book called, "The Miracle of 1976?"

Through the years the NL has come up with exciting first-place races that have kept interest high in the sport right through to the World Series.

A month ago it appeared there would be no hot September pennant fight in either league. But, now the defending Eastern champion Pittsburgh Pirates and Los Angeles Dodgers in the West have turned things around.

Thursday, the Pirates pulled to within nine games of Eastern leader Philadelphia with a 5-0 victory over San Diego. Larry Demery, 9-4, pitched a five-hitter as the Bucs' seventh consecutive victory drew them closer to first place than they've been since July 18.

Pittsburgh has cut 6½ games from Philadelphia's lead since Aug. 24, helped by a six-game losing streak by the leaders.

The two clubs meet for three games next week.

On Aug. 14, the Dodgers trailed Cincinnati by 13 games. Since then Manager Walt Alston's club has won 14 of 16 games to cut the deficit to seven. The latest triumphs, their third and fourth in a row, came Thursday night in a 2-1, 5-3 sweep of the Montreal Expos.

Bobby Murcer drove in five runs as the San Francisco Giants ended a five-game losing streak by outscoring the New York Mets, 10-7. Minnesota downed Milwaukee, 8-4, in the only American League game.

"We're not thinking about the Phillies one bit," claimed Manager Danny Murtaugh. "We have to go out there and do our job," he added. "We realize if we keep winning, somebody else has to help us by beating the Phillies, so that's out of our hands."

"Our attitude is the old line about playing them one at a time," said Pittsburgh's Richie Zisk, who drove in two runs with a double and stole home in the team's latest victory.

Demery's first major league shutout was the sixth complete game in seven starts by Pirate pitchers.

Don Sutton, 17-8, went 8 2-3 innings, scattering six hits in the opener. He left after bruising his right index finger while fielding a hard grounder by Earl Williams.

Charlie Hough picked up a save in the first game and recorded his 13th of the season in the nightcap. Elias Sosa, 6-7, won the second game with a three-hit, four-inning relief performance after starter Rick Rhoden exited with elbow troubles. Bill Buckner had three hits and a sacrifice fly to pace a 12-hit attack.

Murcer's five RBI were a club high for the Giants this season. San Francisco jumped on Jon Matlack, 14-8, for six hits and six runs in 31-3 innings. Mike Caldwell, making his 42nd appearance of the year, picked up his first victory after seven setbacks.

Rookie Butch Wynegar had four singles, Rod Carew and Lyman Bostock had three hits each to pace a 17-hit Minnesota attack. Tom Johnson, 2-1, earned the victory with 8 1-3 innings of relief after starter Eddie Bane was raked for three runs on four hits.

Hobbled Tar Heels Face Rated Miami

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Opening the football season against nationally-ranked Miami of Ohio is no time to be injured; but the North Carolina Tar Heels will have to face that problem in Saturday's game at Kenan Stadium.

Either Bernie Manapace or Matt Kupec will be at quarterback for the Tar Heels in the 1:30 p.m., EDT, game. They were moved to the top of the signal calling list after Johnny Stratton broke his left wrist during a scrimmage a week ago.

Stratton's injury came just 10 days after leg problems cut down P.J. Gay and Johnny Elam, the only other Tar Heel quarterbacks with varsity experience.

"It's always tough to lose a first-string player," said Coach Bill Dooley. "We've certainly had some tough luck at quarterback this fall. But it's nice to know we still have two highly-capable players there in Bernie Menapace and Matt Kupec."

The Tar Heels, 3-7-1 in 1975, figure to have one of their toughest opening-game tests against the Redskins, 11-1 last year, who were ranked 20th in The Associated Press preseason poll.

The only other game this week involving a rated team has No. 19 Kansas at Oregon State. Other top games on a light Saturday include New Mexico State at Drake, Marshall at Morehead State, Appalachian State at South Carolina, Virginia Tech at Wake Forest, Mississippi at Memphis State, Furman at North Carolina State, Richmond at Tulsa, Texas-Arlington at Texas-El Paso, Utah State at San Jose State, Northeast Louisiana at Arkansas State and Ohio University at Eastern Michigan.

For the last three years, Miami and Oklahoma have amassed the best records in college football — sharing 32-1-1 marks. In addition, the Ohio team has won the Tangerine Bowl title the last three years.

Coach Dick Crum, starting his third season at Miami, has 27 lettermen back, including seven starters on both offense and defense.

One of the returnees is senior Rob Carpenter, 13th in the nation last year in rushing with 1,022 yards in 235 carries and 16th in the nation in scoring with 11 touchdowns.

North Carolina hopes to counter with tailback Mike Voight, the Atlantic Coast Conference player of the year in 1975. He has rushed for more than 1,000 yards in each of the last two years.

Kansas opens with what may be the strongest backfield in the school's history. Quarterback Nolan Cromwell was the offensive player of the year last season in the Big Eight and halfback Laverne Smith starts the season as the school's No.3 all-time rusher. He needs only 580 yards to pass Gale Sayers and 611 to pass John Riggins.

New Mexico State has had three straight 5-6 campaigns. A squad dominated by veterans, including 17 starters, supports Coach Jim Bradley's optimism that the school will be a winner this time around. Drake will have trouble handling offensive guard Carl Dean, a 6-foot-4, 245 pounder who has been a third-team All-America the past two seasons.

NANCY RICHEY
Trying Comeback

Richey Aiming For Evert On Favorite Clay Court

FORREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Before there was a Chris Evert, there was Nancy Richey — cut from the same bolt of cloth, a grim backcourt precisionist who destroyed opponents with a patient but unrelenting killer instinct.

Now she is on a comeback. A readjustment has been made in her private life. She is 34 but her game is finely honed. And she is playing on her favorite terrain, the clay court surface she dominated for years.

Her target: Miss Evert's U.S. Open Tennis Championship.

"I always play very well against Chris," the 5-foot-3, 120-pound Texan said Thursday. "I think my record against her is 5-4 in my favor in nine matches."

Nancy still has nightmares of her last meeting with Chris in a major tournament. It was the semifinals of the U.S Clay Court Championships at Indianapolis a year ago.

"I won the first set 7-6 and had a 5-0 lead in the second," Nancy said. "In the sixth game, two points from winning, I blew two points. Then it seemed as if everything drained out of me." Nancy had to quit with the score 6-7, 7-5, 4-2 in Chris' favor.

"I would like a chance to redeem myself for that one," she said.

There was a similarly unbelievable turnaround in a match against Billie Jean King in Madison Square Garden in the 1960s. For Nancy, the outcome was more favorable.

Billie Jean won the first set 6-4 and led 5-1 in the second. Suddenly, Nancy's shots started raking the sidelines, and while the gallery sat stunned, Miss Richey reeled off 12 games in a row and won, 4-6, 7-5, 6-0.

Nancy and Billie Jean always were bitter rivals, with observers contending they purposely ducked each other for about three years. Billie Jean shunned the clay court circuit while Nancy refused to meet Billie Jean on grass.

"That was exaggerated," Nancy said after beating Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., 6-3, 7-6, at the West Side Tennis Club.

Five years ago Nancy was married to a TV executive, Ken Gunter, and household duties interfered with her tennis career. She recently was divorced and now plays under her maiden name.

"A year ago, I got very down on myself," Miss Richey said. "I was tired of losing. So I decided to do something about it. I went into intense training."

Nancy shrugs at the mention of Chris Evert, Evonce Goolagong, Martina Navratilova and Virginia Wade as the "Big Four" of women's tennis.

"I can play with them," she said, "and win my share."

Plangger Hurls Fayette Win

HAMILTON, Ohio — Rick Plangger hurled a one-hitter while carrying Fayette Bar of Niles to a 1-0 eight-inning victory over Greenville, Miss., here Thursday in the opening game of the Class A Nationals fastpitch softball tournament.

Plangger, who pitched for Plangger's Furniture of Benton Harbor during the regular season, fanned 13 and walked three.

Fayette, which plays Toledo this afternoon, got the winning run in the eighth on a double by Ken Nelson, a sacrifice bunt and a sacrifice fly off the bat of Daryl Karnes.

The only Greenville safety of Plangger was an infield hit in the seventh. Fayette had just two hits, with Plangger contributing the other safety.

Hobbled Tar Heels Face Rated Miami

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Opening the football season against nationally-ranked Miami of Ohio is no time to be injured; but the North Carolina Tar Heels will have to face that problem in Saturday's game at Kenan Stadium.

Either Bernie Manapace or Matt Kupec will be at quarterback for the Tar Heels in the 1:30 p.m., EDT, game. They were moved to the top of the signal calling list after Johnny Stratton broke his left wrist during a scrimmage a week ago.

Stratton's injury came just 10 days after leg problems cut down P.J. Gay and Johnny Elam, the only other Tar Heel quarterbacks with varsity experience.

"It's always tough to lose a first-string player," said Coach Bill Dooley. "We've certainly had some tough luck at quarterback this fall. But it's nice to know we still have two highly-capable players there in Bernie Menapace and Matt Kupec."

The Tar Heels, 3-7-1 in 1975, figure to have one of their toughest opening-game tests against the Redskins, 11-1 last year, who were ranked 20th in The Associated Press preseason poll.

The only other game this week involving a rated team has No. 19 Kansas at Oregon State. Other top games on a light Saturday include New Mexico State at Drake, Marshall at Morehead State, Appalachian State at South Carolina, Virginia Tech at Wake Forest, Mississippi at Memphis State, Furman at North Carolina State, Richmond at Tulsa, Texas-Arlington at Texas-El Paso, Utah State at San Jose State, Northeast Louisiana at Arkansas State and Ohio University at Eastern Michigan.

For the last three years, Miami and Oklahoma have amassed the best records in college football — sharing 32-1-1 marks. In addition, the Ohio team has won the Tangerine Bowl title the last three years.

Coach Dick Crum, starting his third season at Miami, has 27 lettermen back, including seven starters on both offense and defense.

One of the returnees is senior Rob Carpenter, 13th in the nation last year in rushing with 1,022 yards in 235 carries and 16th in the nation in scoring with 11 touchdowns.

North Carolina hopes to counter with tailback Mike Voight, the Atlantic Coast Conference player of the year in 1975. He has rushed for more than 1,000 yards in each of the last two years.

Kansas opens with what may be the strongest backfield in the school's history. Quarterback Nolan Cromwell was the offensive player of the year last season in the Big Eight and halfback Laverne Smith starts the season as the school's No.3 all-time rusher. He needs only 580 yards to pass Gale Sayers and 611 to pass John Riggins.

New Mexico State has had three straight 5-6 campaigns. A squad dominated by veterans, including 17 starters, supports Coach Jim Bradley's optimism that the school will be a winner this time around. Drake will have trouble handling offensive guard Carl Dean, a 6-foot-4, 245 pounder who has been a third-team All-America the past two seasons.

NANCY RICHEY
Trying Comeback

Richey Aiming For Evert On Favorite Clay Court

FORREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Before there was a Chris Evert, there was Nancy Richey — cut from the same bolt of cloth, a grim backcourt precisionist who destroyed opponents with a patient but unrelenting killer instinct.

Now she is on a comeback. A readjustment has been made in her private life. She is 34 but her game is finely honed. And she is playing on her favorite terrain, the clay court surface she dominated for years.

Her target: Miss Evert's U.S. Open Tennis Championship.

"I always play very well against Chris," the 5-foot-3, 120-pound Texan said Thursday. "I think my record against her is 5-4 in my favor in nine matches."

Nancy still has nightmares of her last meeting with Chris in a major tournament. It was the semifinals of the U.S Clay Court Championships at Indianapolis a year ago.

"I won the first set 7-6 and had a 5-0 lead in the second," Nancy said. "In the sixth game, two points from winning, I blew two points. Then it seemed as if everything drained out of me." Nancy had to quit with the score 6-7, 7-5, 4-2 in Chris' favor.

"I would like a chance to redeem myself for that one," she said.

There was a similarly unbelievable turnaround in a match against Billie Jean King in Madison Square Garden in the 1960s. For Nancy, the outcome was more favorable.

Billie Jean won the first set 6-4 and led 5-1 in the second. Suddenly, Nancy's shots started raking the sidelines, and while the gallery sat stunned, Miss Richey reeled off 12 games in a row and won, 4-6, 7-5, 6-0.

Nancy and Billie Jean always were bitter rivals, with observers contending they purposely ducked each other for about three years. Billie Jean shunned the clay court circuit while Nancy refused to meet Billie Jean on grass.

"That was exaggerated," Nancy said after beating Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., 6-3, 7-6, at the West Side Tennis Club.

Five years ago Nancy was married to a TV executive, Ken Gunter, and household duties interfered with her tennis career. She recently was divorced and now plays under her maiden name.

"A year ago, I got very down on myself," Miss Richey said. "I was tired of losing. So I decided to do something about it. I went into intense training."

Nancy shrugs at the mention of Chris Evert, Evonce Goolagong, Martina Navratilova and Virginia Wade as the "Big Four" of women's tennis.

"I can play with them," she said, "and win my share."

Plangger Hurls Fayette Win

HAMILTON, Ohio — Rick Plangger hurled a one-hitter while carrying Fayette Bar of Niles to a 1-0 eight-inning victory over Greenville, Miss., here Thursday in the opening game of the Class A Nationals fastpitch softball tournament.

Plangger, who pitched for Plangger's Furniture of Benton Harbor during the regular season, fanned 13 and walked three.

Fayette, which plays Toledo this afternoon, got the winning run in the eighth on a double by Ken Nelson, a sacrifice bunt and a sacrifice fly off the bat of Daryl Karnes.

The only Greenville safety of Plangger was an infield hit in the seventh. Fayette had just two hits, with Plangger contributing the other safety.

What A Difference Decade Makes In AFC Central

From Associated Press

What a difference a decade makes.

Just look at the four teams in the Central Division of the American Football Conference.

In 1968, the mighty Cleveland Browns were aiming for their 10th berth in the National Football League title game. They failed; fullback Jimmy Brown decided to work with movie starlets instead of pulling guards, and subtle erosion began.

"I fully intend for the Browns to become a dynasty again, and I fully expect it," Cleveland owner Art Modell now says.

After a 3-11 record last year, worst in their history, the Browns have shown preseason improvement under Coach Forrest Gregg, who a decade ago was a rangy offensive tackle on the Green Bay team that won Super Bowl I.

The Houston Oilers finished 3-11 that year with a 30-year-old quarterback, George Blanda, branded by critics as over the hill.

Houston's current team is coming off a 10-4 season, and it figures to be a contender despite a winless preseason and assorted other maladies — like a stomach virus that left about two dozen players with double options early in training camp.

"When the bell rings, we'll be there," pledges Oilers Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips, who has the same crewcut he had in 1968.

The Cincinnati Bengals didn't exist in 1968. They were another innovation whirling around under the hat of Paul Brown, the founder and ex-coach of the Browns, who was then in retirement.

The Bengals await their ninth season as a prime contender for Super Bowl XI.

Brown, general manager and coach from the start, has handed the coaching reigns to Bill "Tiger" Johnson, who admits, "I'm following a tough act."

The last, and once least team, in the division has two tough acts to follow. That's the two-time Super Bowl champions, the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Their 1968 season marked the debut of another new coach, Bill Austin. Pittsburgh, a perennial also-ran under nice-guy owner Art Rooney, finished 5-8-1 that year, and their leading rusher was Bill Asbury.

That same season, a young assistant coach, who even then had a taste for fine wines and meticulous organization, joined Don Shula's staff at Baltimore.

His name was Chuck Noll, a former guard and linebacker at Cleveland.

Now Noll is trying to do what neither Shula nor Vince Lombardi did — guide his team to three straight Super Bowl titles.

The Steelers return every regular that won a Super Bowl X check, including linebacker Andy Russell, delaying his retirement one more year because he doesn't want to "wake up 20 years from now and tell myself, maybe you should have gone after that third straight Super Bowl."

Defensive tackle Joe Greene, who sustained a nerve injury last season that led to weakening of his left arm, is back, and his play has been erratic in preseason, like that of his defensive mates.

Steve Furness, who filled in ably for Greene last year, gives solid backup help.

The Steelers got more breathing room Thursday when they learned a delay had been granted in the scheduled Oct. 4 trial in Texas of their other defensive tackle, Ernie Holmes. Holmes is charged with possession of cocaine.

The trial now is expected to take place some time after the football season.

The other Steelers defenders all appear sound after assorted preseason injuries, including lean middle linebacker Jack Lambert, labeled by Noll as a "defender of the right" in Super Bowl X.

The offense features the familiar cast of quarterback Terry Bradshaw, receiver Lynn Swann and running back Franco Harris.

Gone is disgruntled backup quarterback Joe Gilliam, cut outright by Noll, but rookie Mike Kruczek appears an able backup, along with veteran Terry Hanratty.

Pittsburgh's top challenge could come from Cincinnati, which finished 11-3 a year ago and lost only to Pittsburgh, twice, and Cleveland en route to the "wild card" playoff berth.

Bill Johnson, the Bengals 50-year-old new head coach, earned all-pro honors centering to Y.A. Tittle at San bfrancisco.

Beyond precision passer Ken Anderson and receiver Isaac Curtis, the Bengals have added two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin.

The usually reserved Paul Brown cheered like a a college freshman in his general manager's box as Griffin darted for a 46-yard touchdown early in preseason.

Another top Bengals rookie is wide receiver Billy Brooks, a deep threat drafted on the first round even though he caught only five passes his senior year at run-oriented Oklahoma.

Defensively, the Bengals have added veteran Coy Bacon to their front four, and he figures to bolster the pass rush.

Defense figures to be a strength again in Houston, where the Oilers are coming off a 10-4 season, with their only losses to Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, twice each.

But there have been assorted maladies in the Oilers' winless preseason.

Early in training camp, nearly two dozen players were stricken with a virus that led to vomiting and diarrhea. The running backs also have been hit with a rash of injuries, including starters Fred Willis and Ron Colerhan.

Yet Houston has shown improvement in recent losses under Phillips, an easy rider who believes in relaxed practice sessions.

No one denies, however, that the Houston offense has passing firepower, with Pastorini throwing to Ken Burrough, the only 1,000-yard receiver in the NFL last year.

There's also 5-foot-9 Billy "White Shoes" Johnson, who tied an NFL record last season by returning four kicks for touchdowns.

Another of pro football's mini-threats is found in Cleveland, where 5-foot-10 Greg Pruitt ran through about 10 dozen tearaway shirts last season enroute to 1,067 yards rushing.

Newcomers are veteran linebacker Gerald Irons and wide receiver Paul Warfield, back with Cleveland after playing five seasons at Miami and one in the WFL.

Injuries To Play Vital Role For River Valley

THREE OAKS — As usual injuries will play a big part in the success of River Valley's football team this season.

Each of the past two seasons the Mustangs have opened the year with two straight victories. But then injuries have disabled River Valley to the point of disaster. A year ago the Mustangs lost their last seven games.

"We're very few in number," River Valley coach Tom Wilcox says. "So our biggest problem is to keep people healthy. If we lose a couple of personnel, we're in trouble. The second-stringers really hold the key to the season. They have to come through for us when they're called upon."

Wilcox welcomes back two starters on offense and three on defense. Heading the list is two-way tackle Carl Jautakis, a 6-1, 195-pound junior.

The other offensive regular returnee is quarterback Jo Jo White, who started the final four games a year ago after signal caller Jeff Schmidt was injured.

Wilcox is impressed with the 5-9, 145-pound junior's leadership ability.

"The kids will follow Jo Jo," Wilcox says. "And he'll do the job. He's small but he can throw the ball too."

On defense, Mike Brown returns at safety and Wilcox is expecting big things from the 5-10, 165-pound senior.

"Brown is as good as anybody in the Blossomland," he says. "He has hit the weights all year long. He benches over 200 pounds. I've never seen a kid who wants to win more than he does right now."

Brown is joined by tackle Jim Hildebrandt (6-1, 190) and linebacker Smith (6-0, 170). Defensive end Howie Adams (6-0, 170) also saw a lot of action last year and senior Don Mason (6-0, 155) figures big in Wilcox' plans for the upcoming season. Mason is a receiver on offense and a linebacker on defense.

River Valley has posted five straight losing seasons and has not had a winning year since 1968. If Mustangs avoid injuries, Wilcox is hoping that all changes this year.

Youngsters Pressing Vets

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The old guard of amateur golf including current British champion Dick Siderowf and former U.S. Amateur king Bill Campbell faces tremendous pressure from fuzzy-cheeked kids.

As the 76th National Amateur Tournament enters its fourth and fifth rounds today, even defending champion Fred Ridley of Cypress Gardens, Fla., is older than most at only 24.

Three of the 32 left in competition are teen-agers. Seventeen others are from 20 to 22.

Siderowf could join an exclusive list including Bobby Jones and Lawson Little by adding the U.S. title to his British crown in the same year. He doesn't think youth has a great advantage.

"I'm in good shape and I don't think double rounds will hurt me," he said of the two rounds slated both today and Saturday before Sunday's 36-hole finals. "It's a matter of condition."

Campbell, 53, in his 33rd national amateur, could have a little more difficulty on the hilly Bel-Air Country club course.

Campbell drew 21-year-old Jim Blair of Logan, Utah, for his fourth round, after beating 18-year-old Gary Hallberg of Barrington, Ill., 2 and 1 in the third round. Blair eliminated the Arizona State player from Camarillo, Calif., 3 and 1.

Ridley, a senior in law school at Stetson University, appeared pleased after beating Fred Kask of wethersfield, Conn., 2 and 1.

"I think I might be playing better at this stage of the tournament than at the same stage last year," he commented. He won his title with a 2-up victory over Keith Fergus at the Country Club of Virginia at Richmond.

At 24 this time, he's meeting 22-year-old Jim Mason of Kirkwood, Mo., today. A couple of other young tigers tangling in the same bracket are 20-year-old Tony Campregher of Long Beach, Calif., and 22-year-old Clayton Vance Heafner of Cary, N. C.

Campregher has been the spoiler of the tournament with a victory over ex-San Francisco 49ers' quarterback John Brodie 3 and 1 on Thursday. He's virtually unknown, but the Heafner name is familiar. Vance's late father twice was runner-up for the U.S. Open title.

The son beat Joseph Walker of Baltimore 5-4 Wednesday.

Siderowf battles C. Parker Moore, 23, of Laurens, S.C., while 39-year-old O. Gordon Brewer of Huntington Valley, Pa., meets Wesley Adcock, 21, of Columbus, Miss.

In Wednesday's play, Moore eliminated Gregory Farrow of Marlton, N.J., 4 and 3, Brewer edged S. Stroud Cole of Monroe, La., 2, and 1 and Adcock eliminated Lennie Clements of Poway, Calif., by the same count.

The teen-age contingent lists Mark Tinder, 19, of Monterey, Calif., Bryan Pini, 17, of Santa Cruz, Calif., and Frank Fuhrer, 17, of Pittsburgh, whose father owns the World Team Tennis Triangles of that city.

GOLF

BOGOTA, Columbia — American Curtis Strange fashioned a three-under-par 68 to tie Columbian Rogelio Gonzales for the opening-round lead in the Columbian Open Tournament.

LOS ANGELES — Defending champion Fred Ridley, a law student at Stetson College in Florida, edged Fredrick Kask 2 and 1 in the third round of the U.S. Amateur Tournment.

TENNIS

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. — Janet Newberry scored the first surprise in women's play at the of U.S. Open when she upset third-seeded Martina Navratilova 1-6, 6-4, 6-3 in a first-round match. In men's action second-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden outclassed Cliff Letcher of Australia 6-2, 6-2.

BASEBALL

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland A's star Sal Bando was nearly sold to the Texas Rangers, but the deal collapsed when the Rangers refused to pay the third baseman $800,000 over the next four years.

FOOTBALL

SOUTH BEND — Notre Dame's No. 2 quarterback, Joe Montana, has been lost indefinitely because of a separated right shoulder suffered in a scrimmage this week.

BASKETBALL

CHICAGO — Gene Tormohlen, one of the last original Atlanta Hawks, has been named assistant coach of the Chicago Bulls.

BOSTON — Yugoslav basketball player Drazen Dalipagic will return home to learn English, even though Boston Celtics general manager Red Auerbach deemed him star material during a tryout. "He'll make it in another year once he can communicate," Auerbach says.

Team Canada Crushes Finland

OTTAWA (AP) — Bobby Orr said it. Richard Martin said it. It seemed everyone on Team Canada expressed the same feeling after the opening game of Canada Cup international ice hockey tournament:

"We're not foolish enough to think that the other teams we'll meet in the next two weeks will be like Finland," said Orr, the defenseman who set up three goals in Team Canada's series-opening 11-2 rout of Finland Thursday night.

Martin, who had three goals and two assists, said that "we're going to have to forget this game. I don't think we should let this game influence us about the way the other teams are going to be. They're going to be a lot tougher."

Team Canada started in high gear, missing several early scoring chances but still scoring three goals before eight minutes had been played.

The other four teams open play tonight with Sweden meeting the USA in Toronto and Czechoslovakia, defending World Cup champs, meeting the Soviet Union, the Olympic gold medalists, in Montreal.

Canada's next game is Sunday against Team USA. The round-robin competition will be completed with a best-of-three championship series for the top two clubs Sept. 13, 15 and 17 if needed.

Bobby Hull and Phil Esposito scored two goals each with single scores coming from Reg Leach, Steve Shutt, Gilbert Perreault and Darryl Sittler.

Lasse Oksanen and Kari Makkonen scored for Finland.

The victory may have cost Canada the services of its scrappy center and captain Bobby Clarke. Clarke was helped to the dressing room midway through the third period with what appeared to be a stretched achilles tendon in his right leg.

Team Canada Coach Scotty Bowman said that he would await the results of x-rays before deciding on any changes in the lineup.

Jazz Buys Sidney Wicks

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The New Orleans Jazz continued their attempt Thursday to build the best team that money can buy.

The Jazz, who dished out a bundle just a few weeks ago to sign guard Gail Goodrich, who had played out his option at Los Angeles, untied the purse strings again Thursday to obtain forward Sidney Wicks in a straight cash deal with the Portland Trail Blazers.

The 6-9, 225-pound Wicks has been an NBA All-Star for the last four seasons, including last season when he averaged 22.3 points and 10.3 rebounds per game.

In other minor deals Thursday, the Blazers obtained guard Herm Gilliam from Seattle, sent LaRue Martin to Seattle for future considerations and put Barry Clemens on waivers.

New 'Bikes' At Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Most drivers are expected to ride modified sulkies designed to shave seconds from their trotters' times in the 51st Hambletonian Stakes at the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds Saturday.

But trackside bettors won't know until race time which horses are pulling the newly-designed "bikes."

State Steward Doug Sapper said the management of the Hambletonian decided not to say in the program which of the 18 horses would pull modified sulkies. The Illinois Racing Board does not require program notes on the type of sulky used, although many tracks do make the distinction.

Bill Herman, who will drive the favorite, Pershing, will use a modified sulky. But he says, "I don't care for it."

Herman is worried that trotting is getting too fast for the horses, especially the younger animals.

"It will take its toll come fall," he predicted.

In a modified sulky, the shafts alongside the horse's body are thinner and designed for maximum air flow efficiency. The driver's stirrups point his toes inward, also to improve air flow.

Some racing experts believe as much as two seconds can be trimmed from a horse's time by using a modified bike.

Herman believes that the modifieds "help a rangy colt. They help a lot." He said they can be of value to horses with gait problems, too.

Roger Brown of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., whose 3-year-old colt, Rollover, raced Thursday, says if a modified "doesn't hurt the horse and does move him up a couple of seconds, there's no harm. And it could be a plus."

Rollover, a pacer, trained with a modified bike Wednesday and did "exceptionally well," said Brown, a public relations man who owns, breeds and trains horses as a hobby.

The race has a purse of $263,524, the largest North American harness prize ever.

The race is trotted on a heat system. The first horse to win two heats wins the Hambletonian and earns half the purse.

Early in training camp, nearly two dozen players were stricken with a virus that led to vomiting and diarrhea. The running backs also have been hit with a rash of injuries, including starters Fred Willis and Ron Coleman.

Yet Houston has shown improvment in recent losses under Phillips, an easy rider who believes in relaxed practice sessions.

No one denies, however, that the Houston offense has passing firepower, with Pastorini throwing to Ken Burrough, the only 1,000-yard receiver in the NFL last year.

There's also 5-foot-9 Billy "White Shoes" Johnson, who tied an NFL record last season by returning four kicks for touchdowns.

Another of pro football's mini-threats is found in Cleveland, where 5-foot-10 Greg Pruitt ran through about 10 dozen tearaway shirts last season enroute to 1,067 yards rushing.

Newcomers are veteran linebacker Gerald Irons and wide receiver Paul Warfield, back with Cleveland after playing five seasons at Miami and one in the WFL.

Injuries To Play Vital Role For River Valley

THREE OAKS — As usual injuries will play a big part in the success of River Valley's football team this season.

Each of the past two seasons the Mustangs have opened the year with two straight victories. But then injuries have disabled River Valley to the point of disaster. A year ago the Mustangs lost their last seven games.

"We're very few in number," River Valley coach Tom Wilcox says. "So our biggest problem is to keep people healthy. If we lose a couple of personnel, we're in trouble. The second-stringers really hold the key to the season. They have to come through for us when they're called upon."

Wilcox welcomes back two starters on offense and three on defense. Heading the list is two-way tackle Carl Jautakis, a 6-1, 195-pound junior.

The other offensive regular returnee is quarterback Jo Jo White, who started the final four games a year ago after signal caller Jeff Schmidt was injured.

Wilcox is impressed with the 5-9, 145-pound junior's leadership ability.

"The kids will follow Jo Jo," Wilcox says. "And he'll do the job. He's small but he can throw the ball too."

On defense, Mike Brown returns at safety and Wilcox is expecting big things from the 5-10, 165-pound senior.

"Brown is as good as anybody in the Blossomland," he says. "He has hit the weights all year long. He benches over 200 pounds. I've never seen a kid who wants to win more than he does right now."

Brown is joined by tackle Jim Hildebrandt (6-1, 190) and linebacker Smith (6-0, 170). Defensive end Howie Adams (6-0, 170) also saw a lot of action last year and senior Don Mason (6-0, 155) figures big in Wilcox' plans for the upcoming season. Mason is a receiver on offense and a linebacker on defense.

River Valley has posted five straight losing seasons and has not had a winning year since 1968. If Mustangs avoid injuries, Wilcox is hoping that all changes this year.

New 'Bikes' At Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Most drivers are expected to ride modified sulkies designed to shave seconds from their trotters' times in the 51st Hambletonian Stakes at the Du Quoin State Fairgrounds Saturday.

But trackside bettors won't know until race time which horses are pulling the newly-designed "bikes."

State Steward Doug Sapper said the management of the Hambletonian decided not to say in the program which of the 18 horses would pull modified sulkies. The Illinois Racing Board does not require program notes on the type of sulky used, although many tracks do make the distinction.

Bill Herman, who will drive the favorite, Pershing, will use a modified sulky. But he says, "I don't care for it."

Herman is worried that trotting is getting too fast for the horses, especially the younger animals.

"It will take its toll come fall," he predicted.

In a modified sulky, the shafts alongside the horse's body are thinner and designed for maximum air flow efficiency. The driver's stirrups point his toes inward, also to improve air flow.

Some racing experts believe as much as two seconds can be trimmed from a horse's time by using a modified bike.

Herman believes that the modifieds "help a rangy colt. They help a lot." He said they can be of value to horses with gait problems, too.

Roger Brown of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., whose 3-year-old colt, Rollover, raced Thursday, says if a modified "doesn't hurt the horse and does move him up a couple of seconds, there's no harm. And it could be a plus."

Rollover, a pacer, trained with a modified bike Wednesday and did "exceptionally well," said Brown, a public relations man who owns, breeds and trains horses as a hobby.

Most observers believe virtually all the horses in the Hambletonian will be in front of modified bikes.

The race has a purse of $263,524, the largest North American harness prize ever.

Sixteen colts, a filly and a gelding are entered.

The race is trotted on a heat system. The first horse to win two heats wins the Hambletonian and earns half the purse.

Campbell, 53, in his 33rd national amateur, could have a little more difficulty on the hilly Bel-Air Country club course.

Campbell drew 21-year-old Jim Blair of Logan, Utah, for his fourth round, after beating 18-year-old Gary Hallberg of Barrington, Ill., 2 and 1 in the third round. Blair eliminated the Arizona State player from Camarillo, Calif., 3 and 1.

Ridley, a senior in law school at Stetson University, appeared pleased after beating Fred Kask of wethersfield, Conn., 2 and 1.

"I think I might be playing better at this stage of the tournament than at the same stage last year," he commented. He won his title with a 2-up victory over Keith Fergus at the Country Club of Virginia at Richmond.

At 24 this time, he's meeting 22-year-old Jim Mason of Kirkwood, Mo., today. A couple of other young tigers tangling in the same bracket are 20-year-old Tony Campregher of Long Beach, Calif., and 22-year-old Clayton Vance Heafner of Cary, N. C.

Campregher has been the spoiler of the tournament with a victory over ex-San Francisco 49ers' quarterback John Brodie 3 and 1 on Thursday. He's virtually unknown, but the Heafner name is familiar. Vance's late father twice was runner-up for the U.S. Open title.

The son beat Joseph Walker of Baltimore 5-4 Wednesday.

Siderowf battles C. Parker Moore, 23, of Laurens, S.C., while 39-year-old O. Gordon Brewer of Huntington Va'ley., Pa., meets Wesley Adcock, 21, of Columbus, Miss.

In Wednesday's play, Moore eliminated Gregory Farrow of Marlton, N.J., 4 and 3, Brewer edged S. Stroud Cole of Monroe, La., 2, and 1 and Adcock eliminated Lennie Clements of Poway, Calif., by the same count.

The teen-age contingent lists Mark Tinder, 19, of Monterey, Calif., Bryan Pini, 17, of Santa Cruz, Calif., and Frank Fuhrer, 17, of Pittsburgh, whose father owns the World Team Tennis Triangles of that city.

Team Canada Crushes Finland

OTTAWA (AP) — Bobby Orr id it. Richard Martin said it. seemed everyone on Team nada expressed the same eling after the opening game Canada Cup international ice ckey tournament:

"We're not foolish enough to ink that the other teams we'll eet in the next two weeks will like Finland," said Orr, the efenseman who set up three als in Team Canada's series-ening 11-2 rout of Finland hursday night.

Martin, who had three goals nd two assists, said that we're going to have to forget is game. I don't think we ould let this game influence us about the way the other teams are going to be. They're going to be a lot tougher."

Team Canada started in high gear, missing several early scoring chances but still scoring three goals before eight minutes had been played.

The other four teams open play tonight with Sweden meeting the USA in Toronto and Czechoslovakia, defending World Cup champs, meeting the Soviet Union, the Olympic gold medalists, in Montreal.

Canada's next game is Sunday against Team USA. The round-robin competition will be completed with a best-of-three championship series for the top two clubs Sept. 13, 15 and 17 if needed.

Bobby Hull and Phil Esposito scored two goals each with single scores coming from Reg Leach, Steve Shutt, Gilbert Perreault and Darryl Sittler.

Lasse Oksanen and Kari Makkonen scored for Finland.

The victory may have cost Canada the services of its scrappy center and captain Bobby Clarke. Clarke was helped to the dressing room midway through the third period with what appeared to be a stretched achilles tendon in his right leg.

Team Canada Coach Scotty Bowman said that he would await the results of x-rays before deciding on any changes in the lineup.

Sight-Word Stunts Growth In Reading

By KATHRYN DIEHL
Reading Reform Foundation
CHAPTER TEN

An earlier article noted the warning in a supplemental reader published by a sight word company that the words jet, airport, fog, television, taxi and flaps were "beyond the fourth grade level."

By this time you know that your child should be reading these words, and thousands more like them, by the end of the first grade.

Vocabulary control is an absolute necessity with the sight word method. After all, there are just so many words you can memorize in a year by the way they look.

Sight word teachers, then, must dole out the words of the English language as grudgingly as if they were the last drops of water in a desert caravan. This is what their professors have told them to do, this is what their teachers' manuals tell them to do, this is the way the sight word programs are devised.

Limited reading vocabularies necessarily mean limited reading ability. Since the sight-word method can't bring children up to the level of good literature, it has tried to bring that literature down to the children's level.

"Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" have been "adapted" for easier reading... In one high school version of Shakespeare, "Good morrow, Caesar" now reads, Good morning, Caesar"... In one version of Dickens' "Great Expectations," some sixth grade words were replaced by third grade words, although the book was intended for ninth graders... Educational publishers once protested the use of the word "photosynthesis" in a new biology textbook because it wasn't on the 10th grade word list — it wasn't the subject that was considered too difficult, only the word... One publishing company boasted that its first reader had no new words on the last 118 pages.

All this reflects more than the failure of the sight word method; it reflects a complete lack of belief in the intelligence of our children. It denies them access to the world's most memorable writing.

The sight word method also protects one of the biggest financial bonanzas ever to come the way of some of the big publishing companies.

A simple illustration: Some sight word reading series extend from kindergarten through the eighth grade, a nine-year program at a cost of up to $1,000 per class. A child taught with intensive phonics becomes an independent reader after the first or second grade — and just think how many of those controlled-vocabulary reading materials the school would not have to buy for him!

The good phonics systems teach children to read thousands of words in the first grade. One phonics publisher has more than 4,000 words in its first grade readers. Using another publisher's materials, a teacher we know taught her first graders to read and spell 5,000 words, mostly by daily spelling lessons. A third phonics system has at least 3,000 practice words alone.

In 1950, author-teacher Helen Lowe wrote an article in "Atlantic Monthly" about the terrible damage the sight word method inflicts on children. She said in part:

"The essence of the matter is not that reading has not been taught, although indeed it has not, but rather that something has been taught that is not reading... What children know as reading is a difficult, tedious, complicated, uninteresting and unserviceable exercise in visual recall, association, surmise, invention, prediction, paraphrase, substitution, and interpolation or omission at will."

The sight word people know this fully well. Their latest rationale is to say that reading is really only guessing anyway, with mistakes corrected where necessary, and that children who guess wrong should not be corrected by the teacher if they are partly right. Dr. Kenneth S. Goodman, co-author of one of the big look-say reading programs, for instance, says the student should not be corrected if he reads "pony" for "horse" in the sentence, "The boy jumped on the horse and rode off."

"The child clearly understands the meaning," Dr. Goodman told The New York Times. "This is what reding is all about."

"Pony" isn't "horse," and guessing isn't reading. Don't let this happen to your child. You know now that you don't have to — you can teach your child to read at home.

Ex-Commerce Secretary Frederick Mueller Dies

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Memorial services will be held Wednesday for former U.S. Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller, a Grand Rapids native.

Mueller, 82, died Tuesday in a Sarasota, Fla., hospital after a heart attack.

Mueller was sworn in to the Cabinet post Aug. 10, 1959, and served until the end of the Eisenhower administrtion on Jan. 18, 1961.

A native of Grand Rapids, he was graduated from Michigan State University in 1914 with a degree in mechanical engineering. He was associated with the Mueller Furniture Co., a firm founded by his father, until he went to Washington.

Mueller is survived by his widow, Pauline; two sons, Frederick E. of Denver, Colo., and Alfred A. Kessler of Sunnyvale, Calif.; a daughter, Marcia J. Mueller, of Pompano Beach; a sister, Mrs. Clark R. Beiriger of Grand Rapids; and two granddaughters.

Interment will be at the Graceland Mausoleum in Grand Rapids.

Phonics Alone Is Not Enough

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of articles written by Mildred Royal, reading specialist for the Bloomingdale Schools, in response to a series entitled "Johnny STILL Can't Read". The writer is director of special study programs for low-achieving children in the Bloomingdale schools and also is author of the activity book, "Fun With Reading".

By MILDRED ROYAL

Reading, according to its definition, is gaining meaning from the printed page and using it for three main purposes: information, pleasure, and personal protection. Phonics is concerned with the sounds of letters. Teaching by phonics is one method of teaching beginners to read by decoding new words according to their sounds. The student learns to name the letters, make their sounds, blend these sounds together to form words, and then make sentences. These decoding skills are basic and very important, but over and beyond this, the child must be able to see the main idea and the author's purpose for writing, understand the details, and then critically evaluate what he has read. Each child will interpret what he has read a little differently because each child has his own unique background experiences, his interests, and skills.

Some people say that if a child just learns the sounds of the letters and how to put them together, then he can read. But you see, that isn't enough. He still must figure out what the author means and what the characters in the story are trying to do. He still must comprehend what he has read!

We are told that if only a child knows his phonics and phonetic rules, that his problems are all solved. The difficulty is that there are many words that just do not sound the way they are spelled — exceptions such as: you, rough, through, and though. Then we have these: of, what, were, and could! How do you explain rain and rein, bare and bear, wind (short i) and wind (long i)? If all you need to do is to learn a few rules, then shouldn't it follow that if more than mouse is called mice, more than one house would be called hice? And if more than one goose is geese, why isn't more than one moose called meece? Some words in our English language just defy all the rules. They must be memorized as sight words.

If phonics is all we were to teach in reading, we would have some very slow-moving students. They would laboriously be sounding out each and every word rather than skimming along to get the thought of the article. Their eye-span would be limited. Comprephension would be poor. No — the purpose our instruction must be to develop readers who can decode words easily, but who also can adjust their reading rate to gain optimum meaning. Sometimes they will want to read carefully and note details while at other times they will scan quickly to organize the big ideas. We need phonics, that is true, but reading is much, much more than that!

CASE NO. U-4717

TO THE GAS CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY:

NOTICE OF GAS RATE INCREASE HEARING
and
NOTICE OF HEARING ON REVISIONS TO RATES AND REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO CENTRALLY METERED AND RESALE GAS SERVICE

As part of the continued hearings in Case No. U-4717 being held on Consumers Power Company's November 27, 1974 application for a gas rate increase, the Michigan Public Service Commission on July 30, 1976 granted Consumers Power's motion to present for Commission consideration additional evidence concerning the cost of rendering gas service based on a test year ending December 31, 1975, adjusted for known changes in 1976. Prior testimony and exhibits in this proceeding had been limited to a test period of the 12 months ending June 30, 1974, adjusted for certain known changes in 1975. In addition to considering the current cost of rendering gas service, the Commission will also consider the issues of: (1) gas rate design and charges and (2) the appropriate treatment for ratemaking purposes of the Michigan Single Business Tax.

Consumers Power has indicated that its additional evidence concerning this later test period demonstrates a need for additional gas rate relief in the amount of $18,948,000 over and above the interim rate relief previously authorized in Case No. U-4717 pursuant to orders of the Commission issued on June 2, 1975 and March 8, 1976. Moreover, the additional gas rate relief being requested by Consumers Power is exclusive of any additional revenue requirement which may result when a final determination is made by the Commission in Case No. U-4717 as to the proper amount of Marysville Synthetic Natural Gas Plant costs to be included in Consumers Power's gas rate base.

As a part of its consideration of the issues of rate design and charges in Case No. U-4717, the Commission has indicated that it will consider revisions to the rates, rules and regulations, service standards, and procedures pertaining to centrally metered and resale gas service now being provided by Consumers Power Company specifically including issues relating to rate design and classification as defined in Phase III of Case No. U-4985 which need to be resolved as they pertain to such gas business. Proceedings in Case No. U-4985 began in December 1975 on the Commission's own motion to inquire into the regulations and procedures of gas and electric utilities pertaining to centrally metered customers, including reselling customers, and to provide for appropriate standards and rates for centrally metered gas and electric utility service.

The Michigan Public Service Commission has scheduled hearings on the matters referred to herein as part of the continued proceedings in Case No. U-4717 and has ordered that notice be given of this expansion of Case No. U-4717 to include Consumers Power's request for the additional gas rate relief in the amount of $18,948,000 and the Commission's decision to include the issues defined in Phase III of Case No. U-4985 as they pertain to Consumers Power Company's gas business.

Notice is hereby given that:

A. A public hearing in Case No. U-4717 shall be held at 9:30 AM on September 22, 1976 in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan, which hearing shall be in the nature of a prehearing conference and shall be held for the purposes of exploring and, if possible, agreeing upon matters which will expedite this proceeding including, but not limited to, the following:

1. Determining the parties to the proceeding, the nature of their appearances and the positions they are taking in the proceeding, as well as the facts they intend to controvert or give evidence of, all in accordance with the provisions of Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission.
2. Simplifying and defining the issues in this proceeding.
3. Obtaining admissions as to, and stipulations of, facts not remaining in dispute, the authenticity of documents, and matters of public record.
4. Determining the number and identity of witnesses.
5. Specifying the schedule for the exchange of proposed exhibits and written testimony, and the reduction of oral testimony to written form.
6. Establishing procedures for the hearing.
7. Specifying a further schedule of dates of hearing.
8. Considering any other matters that may aid in the orderly conduct of the hearing and the disposition of the proceeding.

B. Further public hearings in this matter shall begin at 9:30 AM on October 5, 1976 in the offices of the Commission, Mercantile Building, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan, for the purpose of commencing cross-examination of the Company's witnesses and such further proceedings as may be necessary or appropriate. Public hearings shall continue thereafter from day to day or on such adjourned dates as the presiding officer may set until the matter has been fully heard.

C. ANY PERSON NOT NOW A PARTY TO CASE NO. U-4717 WHO SEEKS TO INTERVENE IN ACCORDANCE WITH RULE 11 OF THE RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE BEFORE THE COMMISSION, SHALL FILE WITH THE COMMISSION AT LEAST FIVE (5) DAYS PRIOR TO THE INITIAL HEARING OF SEPTEMBER 22, 1976, AN ORIGINAL AND 12 COPIES OF A PETITION TO INTERVENE, TOGETHER WITH PROOF OF SERVICE UPON CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY, LEGAL DEPARTMENT, 212 WEST MICHIGAN AVENUE, JACKSON, MICHIGAN 49201.

Subparagraph (2) of Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission (R 460.21) provides as follows:

"(2) A petition to intervene shall set out clearly and concisely the facts supporting the petitioner's alleged right or interest, the grounds of the proposed intervention, and the position of the petitioner in the proceeding, SO AS FULLY AND COMPLETELY TO ADVISE THE PARTIES AND THE COMMISSION OF THE SPECIFIC ISSUES OF FACT OR LAW TO BE RAISED OR CONTROVERTED."

The Commission will require strict compliance with the above-quoted rule.

D. Consumers Power Company, on or before September 22, 1976, shall serve upon each person seeking to intervene a copy of the proposed testimony and exhibits as filed with the Commission which serve as the basis for its request for additional gas rate relief of $18,948,000. In addition, the Company shall serve upon each such person a copy of the Company's Motion for Expanded Hearing, as supplemented, and of the Commission's July 30, 1976 Order Granting Motion to Expand Hearing in Case No. U-4717. Proof of service shall be filed with the Commission on or before October 4, 1976.

E. THE GAS RATE INCREASES DESCRIBED IN THIS NOTICE HAVE BEEN REQUESTED BY CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY. THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION MAY EITHER GRANT OR DENY THE REQUESTED INCREASE, IN WHOLE OR IN PART, AND MAY GRANT A LESSER OR GREATER INCREASE THAN THAT REQUESTED, MAY AUTHORIZE A LESSER OR GREATER RATE FOR ANY CLASS OR CLASSES OF SERVICE, OR PORTION THEREOF, OR MAY ORDER CHANGES IN EXISTING OR PROPOSED RATE STRUCTURES OR DESIGNS OR CUSTOMER CLASSIFICATIONS.

Jurisdiction in this matter is pursuant to 1909 PA 300, as amended, MCLA 462.2 et seq; Section 4 of 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.54; Sections 4, 6, 6a and 6b of 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.4, 460.6, 460.6a and 460.6b; Section 3 of 1923 PA 238, as amended, MCLA 486.253; Chapter 4 of 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.271 et seq; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R 460.11 et seq.

A summary of the proposed $18,948,000 rate increase (exclusive of additional Marysville revenue requirement) and its impact upon the various classes of service offered by Consumers Power Company, is set forth below:

ORADO: Styling refinements and innova- eering highlight the 1977 front-wheel-drive Eldorado Coupe. The grille and headlamps unified into a horizontal design, capped with a bright brushed chrome molding. Four wheel disc brakes and a new 425 CID (7.0 Litre) V-8 engine are standard equipment.

1977 COUPE DeVILLE: Cadillac luxury and comfort are incorporated into completely redesigned 1977 Coupe de Ville, which features a new grille, vertical tail lamps and full rear wheel openings. The Coupe de Ville has an entirely new instrument panel, highlighted by a "center control area."

CADILLAC SEVILLE: Several engineering and design innovations highlight the international size Cadillac Seville for 1977. A new vertical grille complements rectangular headlamps. The Seville is now being offered with a painted metal finish top, shown here, in addition to its customary padded vinyl roof. Powered by a 350 CID (5.7 Litre) Cadillac Electronic Fuel Injected V-8 engine, the Seville for 1977 is equipped with four wheel disc brakes as standard equipment.

The sight word people know this fully well. Their latest rationale is to say that reading is really only guessing anyway, with mistakes corrected where necessary, and that children who guess wrong should not be corrected by the teacher if they are partly right. Dr. Kenneth S. Goodman, co-author of one of the big look-say reading programs, for instance, says the student should not be corrected if he reads "pony" for "horse" in the sentence, "The boy jumped on the horse and rode off."

"The child clearly understands the meaning," Dr. Goodman told The New York Times. "This is what reding is all about."

"Pony" isn't "horse," and guessing isn't reading. Don't let this happen to your child. You know now that you don't have to — you can teach your child to read at home.

Phonics Alone Is Not Enough

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of articles written by Mildred Royal, reading specialist for the Bloomingdale schools, in response to a series entitled "Johnny Still Can't Read". The writer is director of special state programs for low-achieving children in the Bloomingdale schools and also is author of the activity book, "Fun With Reading".

By MILDRED ROYAL

Reading, according to its definition, is gaining meaning from the printed page and using it for three main purposes: information, pleasure, and personal protection. Phonics is concerned with the sounds of letters. Teaching by phonics is one method of teaching beginners to read by decoding new words according to their sounds. The student learns to name the letters, make their sounds, blend these sounds together to form words, and then make sentences. These decoding skills are basic and very important, but over and beyond this, the child must be able to see the main idea and the author's purpose for writing, understand the details, and then critically evaluate what he has read. Each child will interpret what he has read a little differently because each child has his own unique background experiences, his interests, and skills.

Some people say that if a child just learns the sounds of the letters and how to put them together, then he can read. But you see, that isn't enough. He still must figure out what the author means and what the characters in the story are trying to do. He still must comprehend what he has read!

We are told that if only a child knows his phonics and phonetic rules, that his problems are all solved. The difficulty is that there are many words that just do not sound the way they are spelled — exceptions such as: you, rough, through, and though. Then we have these: of, what, were, and could! How do you explain rain and rein, bare and bear, wind (short i) and wind (long i)? If all you need to do is to learn a few rules, then shouldn't it follow that if more than mouse is called mice, more than one house would be called hice? And if more than one goose is geese, why isn't more than one moose called meece? Some words in our English language just defy all the rules. They must be memorized as sight words.

If phonics is all we were to teach in reading, we would have some very slow-moving students. They would laboriously be sounding out each and every word rather than skimming along to get the thought of the article. Their eye-span would be limited. Comprephension would be poor. No — the purpose our instruction must be to develop readers who can decode words easily, but who also can adjust their reading rate to gain optimum meaning. Sometimes they will want to read carefully and note details while at other times they will scan quickly to organize the big ideas. We need phonics, that is true, but reading is much, much more than that!

CASE NO.
U-4717

TO THE GAS CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY:

NOTICE OF GAS RATE INCREASE HEARING
and
NOTICE OF HEARING ON REVISIONS TO RATES AND REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO CENTRALLY METERED AND RESALE GAS SERVICE

As part of the continued hearings in Case No. U-4717 being held on Consumers Power Company's November 27, 1974 application for a gas rate increase, the Michigan Public Service Commission on July 30, 1976 granted Consumers Power's motion to present for Commission consideration additional evidence concerning the cost of rendering gas service based on a test year ending December 31, 1975, adjusted for known changes in 1976. Prior testimony and exhibits in this proceeding had been limited to a test period of the 12 months ending June 30, 1974, adjusted for certain known changes in 1975. In addition to considering the current cost of rendering gas service, the Commission will also consider the issues of: (1) gas rate design and charges and (2) the appropriate treatment for ratemaking purposes of the Michigan Single Business Tax.

Consumers Power has indicated that its additional evidence concerning this later test period demonstrates a need for additional gas rate relief in the amount of $18,948,000 over and above the interim rate relief previously authorized in Case No. U-4717 pursuant to orders of the Commission issued on June 2, 1975 and March 8, 1976. Moreover, the additional gas rate relief being requested by Consumers Power is exclusive of any additional revenue requirement which may result when a final determination is made by the Commission in Case No. U-4717 as to the proper amount of Marysville Synthetic Natural Gas Plant costs to be included in Consumers Power's gas rate base.

As a part of its consideration of the issues of rate design and charges in Case No. U-4717, the Commission has indicated that it will consider revisions to the rates, rules and regulations, service standards, and procedures pertaining to centrally metered and resale gas service now being provided by Consumers Power Company specifically including issues relating to rate design and classification as defined in Phase III of Case No. U-4985 which need to be resolved as they pertain to such gas business. Proceedings in Case No. U-4985 began in December 1975 on the Commission's own motion to inquire into the regulations and procedures of gas and electric utilities pertaining to centrally metered customers, including reselling customers, and to provide for appropriate standards and rates for centrally metered gas and electric utility service.

The' Michigan Public Service Commission has scheduled hearings on the matters referred to herein as part of the continued proceedings in Case No. U-4717 and has ordered that notice be given of this expansion of Case No. U-4717 to include Consumers Power's request for the additional gas rate relief in the amount of $18,948,000 and the Commission's decision to include the issues defined in Phase III of Case No. U-4985 as they pertain to Consumers Power Company's gas business.

Notice is hereby given that:

A. A public hearing in Case No. U-4717 shall be held at 9:30 AM on September 22, 1976 in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan, which hearing shall be in the nature of a prehearing conference and shall be held for the purposes of exploring and, if possible, agreeing upon matters which will expedite this proceeding including, but not limited to, the following:

1. Determining the parties to the proceeding, the nature of their appearances and the positions they are taking in the proceeding, as well as the facts they intend to controvert or give evidence of, all in accordance with the provisions of Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission.
2. Simplifying and defining the issues in this proceeding.
3. Obtaining admissions as to, and stipulations of, facts not remaining in dispute, the authenticity of documents, and matters of public record.
4. Determining the number and identity of witnesses.
5. Specifying the schedule for the exchange of proposed exhibits and written testimony, and the reduction of oral testimony to written form.
6. Establishing procedures for the hearing.
7. Specifying a further schedule of dates of hearing.
8. Considering any other matters that may aid in the orderly conduct of the hearing and the disposition of the proceeding.

B. Further public hearings in this matter shall begin at 9:30 AM on October 5, 1976 in the offices of the Commission, Mercantile Building, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan, for the purpose of commencing cross-examination of the Company's witnesses and such further proceedings as may be necessary or appropriate. Public hearings shall continue thereafter from day to day or on such adjourned dates as the presiding officer may set until the matter has been fully heard.

C. ANY PERSON NOT NOW A PARTY TO CASE NO. U-4717 WHO SEEKS TO INTERVENE IN ACCORDANCE WITH RULE 11 OF THE RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE BEFORE THE COMMISSION, SHALL FILE WITH THE COMMISSION AT LEAST FIVE (5) DAYS PRIOR TO THE INITIAL HEARING OF SEPTEMBER 22, 1976, AN ORIGINAL AND 12 COPIES OF A PETITION TO INTERVENE, TOGETHER WITH PROOF OF SERVICE UPON CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY, LEGAL DEPARTMENT, 212 WEST MICHIGAN AVENUE, JACKSON, MICHIGAN 49201.

Subparagraph (2) of Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission (R 460.21) provides as follows:

"(2) A petition to intervene shall set out clearly and concisely the facts supporting the petitioner's alleged right or interest, the grounds of the proposed intervention, and the position of the petitioner in the proceeding, SO AS FULLY AND COMPLETELY TO ADVISE THE PARTIES AND THE COMMISSION OF THE SPECIFIC ISSUES OF FACT OR LAW TO BE RAISED OR CONTROVERTED."

The Commission will require strict compliance with the above-quoted rule.

D. Consumers Power Company, on or before September 22, 1976, shall serve upon each person seeking to intervene a copy of the proposed testimony and exhibits as filed with the Commission which serve as the basis for its request for additional gas rate relief of $18,948,000. In addition, the Company shall serve upon each such person a copy of the Company's Motion for Expanded Hearing, as supplemented, and of the Commission's July 30, 1976 Order Granting Motion to Expand Hearing in Case No. U-4717. Proof of service shall be filed with the Commission on or before October 4, 1976.

E. THE GAS RATE INCREASES DESCRIBED IN THIS NOTICE HAVE BEEN REQUESTED BY CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY. THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION MAY EITHER GRANT OR DENY THE REQUESTED INCREASE, IN WHOLE OR IN PART, AND MAY GRANT A LESSER OR GREATER INCREASE THAN THAT REQUESTED, MAY AUTHORIZE A LESSER OR GREATER RATE FOR ANY CLASS OR CLASSES OF SERVICE, OR PORTION THEREOF, OR MAY ORDER CHANGES IN EXISTING OR PROPOSED RATE STRUCTURES OR DESIGNS OR CUSTOMER CLASSIFICATIONS.

Jurisdiction in this matter is pursuant to 1909 PA 300, as amended, MCLA 462.2 et seq; Section 4 of 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 460.54; Sections 4, 6, 6a and 6b of 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.4, 460.6, 460.6a and 460.6b; Section 3 of 1923 PA 238, as amended, MCLA 486.253; Chapter 4 of 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.271 et seq; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R 460.11 et seq.

A summary of the proposed $18,948,000 rate increase (exclusive of additional Marysville revenue requirement) and its impact upon the various classes of service offered by Consumers Power Company, is set forth below:

Apple Growers Getting Their Asking Prices

Four small or mid-sized apple processors have agreed to Michigan apple marketers asking prices and others "are coming around," according to a grower representative. Because of this year's short crop, asking prices are in some cases triple what they were last fall.

The processors, however, have not agreed to pay a 1½ per cent per month interest charge for failure to pay cash for the crop within 30 days as the growers had demanded, according to Mark Girardin, area representative for Michigan Processing Apple Growers.

The companies — Smeltzer Orchard Co., Frankfort, Jebavy-Sorenson Orchard Co., Manistee, Fruit Pak, Inc., Benton Harbor (formerly Pearl Grange Fruit Exchange), and New Era Canning Co., New Era, — have agreed to asking prices of $10 per hundredweight for Northern Spys, $8.75 or in one case $9 per hundredweight for "preferred" slicing varieties and $8 per hundredweight for sauce apples, according to Thomas C. Butler, manager of the growers.

"The prices are just starting to settle down and the processors are coming around," Girardin said, adding that negotiations are currently underway with a number of other companies. Girardin said that although grower representatives have met with representatives of the larger processing companies, "We haven't gotten together on a serious basis yet."

With the exception of Jonathans, the prices are for apples of US 1 processing grade, sized 2½ inches or larger. A price of $4 per hundredweight is asked for juice apples and apples smaller than 2½ inches, Butler said.

The asking prices were based on a 1976 Michigan apple crop that the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) estimated would be 11.9 million bushels. Last year's crop in the state was 17.1 million bushels.

The prices asked for this year in some cases are three times higher than processors paid last fall when processors agreed to hundredweight prices of $3.25 for Spys, $3 for slicers and $2.25 for sauce apples. Girardin said that this year's crops in New York, Pennsylvania and other processing apple states are expected to be relatively small, and processors there are also agreeing to asking prices.

One of the asking points and one agreed to the four companies processors agree to pay to move apples from the farms to the plant (FOB the farm). The companies have agreed to pay cash within 30 days of delivery or in two separate payments, Girardin said.

During the past five years an average of 64 per cent of Michigan apples marketed were sold for processing. In 1973, when conditions were quite similar to this year, the percentage of Michigan processed apples rose to 73 per cent, according to Glen Antle, extension marketing agent.

Nationally the apple crop is estimated at 147.3 million bushels, similar to the 1973 yield of 148.3 but down from last year's 178.3 million bushel, Antle said.

New 'Low Acid' Tomatoes Just Have More Sugar

Modern "low-acid" tomato varieties present no greater home canning risk than older varieties, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) food scientist.

Some recent reports have suggested there may be a threat of botulism poisoning from canning some of the "low-acid" varieties.

But according to Dr. Gerald M. Sapers of USDA's Agricultural Research service (ARS), today's tomatoes are similar in acid content to most older varieties. They are in fact, "not low in acid, but high in sugar — which masks the tart, acid flavor of the tomato," Sapers said.

"One myth that people believe is that white and yellow fleshed tomatoes are lower in acid than red tomatoes," Sapers said. "This misconception isn't based on scientific research."

However, he said, "Tomatoes of any variety that are overripe should not be canned whole or used to make any other related product such as juice, soup, paste or sauce."

Current USDA research indicates that adding lemon juice, vinegar or acetic acid at commonly recommended levels will not substantially increase the acidity of canned tomato products.

But, according to Dr. Ted Wishnetsky, extension food specialist in fruit science, "We normally tell housewives who are concerned about it to add acid in either the crystal or powder form, if they can find it in a pharmacy."

Wishnetsky said adding acid can do no harm to the canned tomatoes if some people care to do it as a safeguard until scientists actually determine if any there is risk in the varieties they are testing.

Dr. Sapers evaluated about 50 tomato varieties in his laboratory at the ARS' Eastern Regional Research Center (ERRC), Philadelphia, Pa. None of the tomatoes he evaluated had acidities low enough to permit the growth of bacterium that causes botulism.

New Storage System To Be Discussed

EAST LANSING — Hypobaric storage, a new system for handling perishable commodities, will be explained and discussed Sept. 8 through 10 at the International Conference on Handling Perishable Agricultural Commodities at Michigan State university.

Developed by Grumman Industries of Garden City, N.Y., the system is in the evelopment stage buz has proved very successful for fruits, vegetables, meats, potted plants, and flowers, according to Dr. David Dilley, MSU horticulturalist.

A commodity is placed in a low pressure atmosphere established by a vacuum pump. As pressure is reduced, temperature and levels of gas are lowered, and biological activity in or on the commodity is slowed down and storage time is lengthened. A constant flow of air saturated with water prevents shrinking and weight loss.

Storage And Dryer Financing Available

Financing for farm storage facilities and dryers is still available to eligible producers through county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices according to Robert Zeeb, chairman of the Michigan ASCS committee.

The loans are financed by the Commidity Credit Corporation and are available at a 7½ per cent interest rate. The number of loans has increased recently because of a drop in the interest rate from a high of 9⅜. The 7½ per cent rate will continue in effect until at least March 31, 1977, Zeeb said.

Hand-Picked Grape Premium Offered Again

The National Grape Cooperative Association, Inc., will again be offering up to a $10 a ton premium this year for hand-picked grapes, according to Bill Grevelding, area manager for member relations for the cooperative.

"The program worked out pretty well last year and we would anticipate that this year members will again take advantage," Grevelding said.

The cooperative, parent organization of Welch Foods, established the premium in 1975 in order to encourage growers to hand pick at least some of their crop. "We find that for our grape jam base it is better to have hand picked grapes free of any metal contaminates that sometimes occurs with mechanically harvested grapes," Grevelding said.

Plant After October 1 For Better Wheat Yields

Grain farmers will have better yields of wheat if they plant after Oct. 1, according to a newly-released study conducted by Michigan State university.

The findings from the five-year study by Dr. Alvin Ravenscroft and Dr. Maurice Wiese showed that winter wheat planted in the early fall was heavily infested with aphids carrying barley yellow dwarf virus. Normal wheat planting time in southwestern Michigan has been around mid-September.

Records show that there is a sharp drop in temperatures between the fourth and tenth of October, the period when continental air masses begin to predominate over the warmer gulf air masses. Wheat-plantings made just prior to or during this period were found to be more insect and disease free, and therefore, more vigorous, the study said.

The optimum yields were obtained when wheat was planted during the first week of October. The study said it's best to plant wheat after navy beans, soybeans, corn (where herbicide use has been minimal), oats or barley.

To assure maximum yields it is better not to plant after pasture sod, hay, or in fields that have a lot of quackgrass. The study said that those fields are high in organic matter and can be favorable to breeding of eye spot, strawbreaker foot or root rot diseases.

The Southwestern Michigan area had a poor wheat crop this year because of several diseases caused by a host of fungi. According to G. Wayne Hothem, Cass county extension director, the drought this year only accentuated what has been building up for several years.

Root and stem diseases have been severe this year but can be controlled if the fungi that cause the disease is not allowed to live in the open where they survive better. Hothem recommended that the deeper farmers plow residue under, the less the diseases will be able to survive. Wheat planted 7 to 14 days after the Hessian fly-free date, which is usually between Sept. 20 and will also be more disease free, Hothem said. He added that the date agrees with the findings in the study and the practice is accepted agronomically.

Because of a lack of seed treatment since mercuries were outlawed, many grain farmers have been neglecting to treat seed at all. The neglect, Hothem said, has caused stinking smut and common bunt to spread so badly this year that spores could be scooped up from the floor of the combine during harvest.

Hothem said hexachlorobenzene or carboxin can be used for treatment.

Study Proves Michigan No. 1 In Blueberries

Just as the Michigan Blueberry Growers association claimed about five years ago, Michigan has passed New Jersey in cultivated blueberry production, making it first in the nation as a blueberry producer, according to the results of a recent survey.

The survey, the first attempt to provide accurate statistics concerning blueberry production in Michigan, was conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and the Michigan Crop Reporting service in late 1975.

According to the results of the months-long survey, Michigan produced 32.1 million pounds of blueberries, 40 per cent more than New Jersey, its closest competitor, and well beyond North Carolina, its next biggest rival, said C. A. Hines, statistician in charge of Michigan Crop Reporting service.

Through available sources a master list of every available grower was made, and about 1,200 people were eventually mailed questionnaires. A second questionnaire was sent out to those who didn't answer, and for those who didn't respond to either, telephone calls and personal interviews were conducted.

Of the 1,200 persons originally contacted, only 580 actually operated commercial outlets. (For the report, a grower had to maintain a minimum of one-half acre of berries for sale.)

The survey asked growers to list acreage given to blueberries, the age and variety of the bushes, crop use, and production and harvesting methods. The final tally showed Michigan producers had roughly 9,700 acres planted in blueberries in 1975. Of that total, an estimated 8,500 acres, or 88 per cent, were bearing age — five years or older.

Three blueberry varieties dominated. Jersey, the overwhelming leader, accounted for 56 per cent of all acreage planted. Bluecrop and Rubel followed with 14 per cent each. The remaining acreage was divided among at least 25 other varieties.

The bulk of Michigan's blueberry crop is harvested along Lake Michigan, where blueberries thrive in moist, acidic soil. Five southwestern counties — Ottawa, Van Buren, Allegan, Muskegon and Berrien — produced 83 per cent of the total Michigan crop for 1975.

Roughly 65 per cent of last year's crop went for processing; the remainder went for fresh use. Producers sold around 91 per cent of the harvest to commercial firms and the remaining nine per cent through roadside stands, pick-your-own operations, and other local outlets.

Machines harvested the majority of Michigan's blueberries. About 64 per cent were mechanically harvested while the remainder were hand picked or picked with the aid of a hand held shaker.

FHA Loans Available

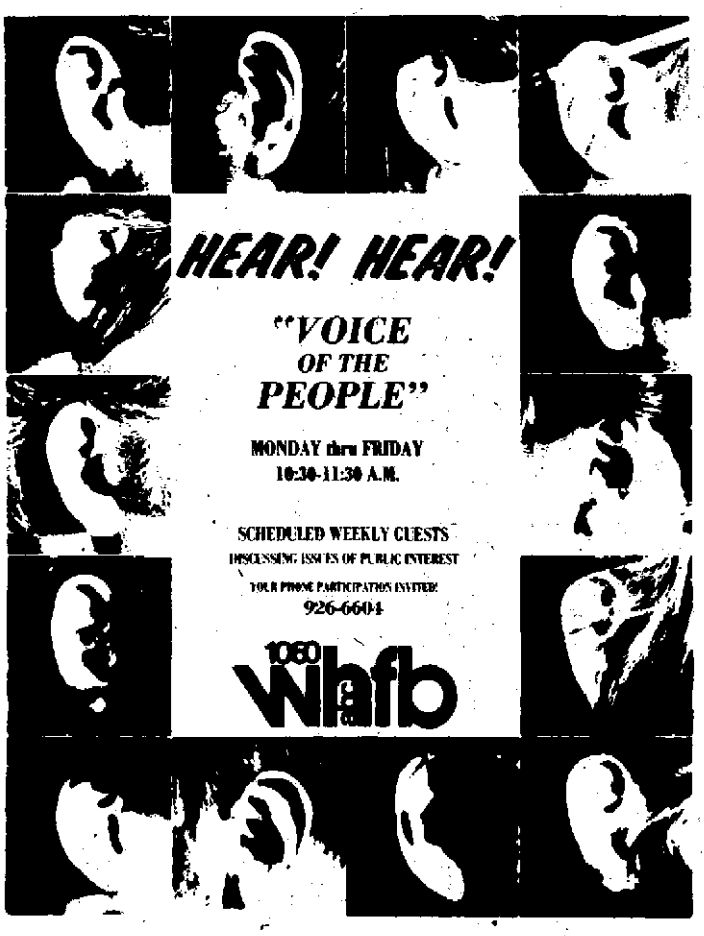

PAW PAW — The Farmers Home administration office here has announced it is now accepting emergency loan applications from Van Buren county farmers for crop losses due to spring frosts.

Loan applications for physical losses (actual damage to trees or physical structures) must be submitted no later than Oct. 18, 1976. Loan applications for production losses (crops) must be received no later than May 20, 1977.

Emergency loans have been approved for farmers in 11 Michigan counties, including Cass, Allegan, and Berrien. The loans must cover damages caused by sub-freezing temperatures, heavy frosts, snowstorm and hail occurring April 9 to mid-May.

The loans are only available to growers who can't get credit from usual commercial sources.

The Van Buren county FHA office is located at 303 Paw Paw street, Paw Paw.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE IS HELPING TO KILL ONE-SEVENTH OF AMERICA'S ADULTS. AND THEY DON'T EVEN KNOW IT.

Every year, hundreds of thousands of Americans die needlessly from heart disease, strokes and kidney failure. Many more are crippled for life. They didn't know they had High Blood Pressure.

It strikes like a time bomb. The victim feels fine, but all the while the time bomb is ticking away. And then, suddenly, it explodes.

But treating High Blood Pressure is usually as simple as taking a pill every day. And you can lead a longer, healthier life.

So when you finish reading this, see a doctor or visit a clinic.

Because, it's a lot better to know if you have High Blood Pressure than to die from ignorance.

New 'Low Acid' Tomatoes Just Have More Sugar

Modern "low-acid" tomato varieties present no greater home canning risk than older varieties, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) food scientist.

Some recent reports have suggested there may be a threat of botulism poisoning from canning some of the "low-acid" varieties.

But according to Dr. Gerald M. Sapers of USDA's Agricultural Research service (ARS), today's tomatoes are similar in acid content to most older varieties. They are in fact, "not low in acid, but high in sugar — which masks the tart, acid flavor of the tomato," Sapers said.

"One myth that people believe is that white and yellow fleshed tomatoes are lower in acid than red tomatoes," Sapers said. "This misconception isn't based on scientific research."

However, he said, "Tomatoes of any variety that are overripe should not be canned whole or used to make any other related product such as juice, soup, paste or sauce."

Current USDA research indicates that adding lemon juice, vinegar or acetic acid at commonly recommended levels will not substantially increase the acidity of canned tomato products.

But, according to Dr. Ted Wishnetsky, extension food specialist in fruit science, "We normally tell housewives who are concerned about it to add acid in either the crystal or powder form, if they can find it in a pharmacy."

Wishnetsky said adding acid can do no harm to the canned tomatoes if some people care to do it as a safeguard until scientists actually determine if any there is risk in the varieties they are testing.

Dr. Sapers evaluated about 50 tomato varieties in his laboratory at the ARS' Eastern Regional Research Center (ERRC), Philadelphia, Pa. None of the tomatoes he evaluated had acidities low enough to permit the growth of bacterium that causes botulism.

New Storage System To Be Discussed

EAST LANSING — Hypobaric storage, a new system for handling perishable commodities, will be explained and discussed Sept. 8 through 10 at the International Conference on Handling Perishable Agricultural Commodities at Michigan State university.

Developed by Grumman Industries of Garden City , N.Y., the system is in the evelopment stage buz has proved very successful for fruits, vegetables, meats, potted plants, and flowers, according to Dr. David Dilley, MSU horticulturalist.

A commodity is placed in a low pressure atmosphere established by a vacuum pump. As pressure is reduced, temperature and levels of gas are lowered, and biological activity in or on the commodity is slowed down and storage time is lenghtened. A constant flow of air saturated with water prevents shrinking and weight loss.

Storage And Dryer Financing Available

Financing for farm storage facilities and dryers is still available to eligible producers through county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices according to Robert Zeeb, chairman of the Michigan ASCS committee.

The loans are financed by the Commidity Credit Corporation and are available at a 7½ per cent interest rate. The number of loans has increased recently because of a drop in the interest rate from a high of 9⅜. The 7½ per cent rate will continue in effect until at least March 31, 1977, Zeeb said.

Plant After October 1 For Better Wheat Yields

Grain farmers will have better yields of wheat if they plant after Oct. 1, according to a newly-released study conducted by Michigan State university.

The findings from the five-year study by Dr. Alvin Ravenscroft and Dr. Maurice Wiese showed that winter wheat planted in the early fall was heavily infested with aphids carrying barley yellow dwarf virus. Normal wheat planting time in southwestern Michigan has been around mid-September.

Records show that there is a sharp drop in temperatures between the fourth and tenth of October, the period when continental air masses begin to predominate over the warmer gulf air masses. Wheat plantings made just prior to or during this period were found to be more insect and disease free, and therefore, more vigorous, the study said.

The optimum yields were obtained when wheat was planted during the first week of October. The study said it's best to plant wheat after navy beans, soybeans, corn (where herbicide use has been minimal), oats or barley.

To assure maximum yields it is better not to plant after pasture sod, hay, or in fields that have a lot of quackgrass. The study said that those fields are high in organic matter and can be favorable to breeding of eye spot, strawbreaker foot or root rot diseases.

The Southwestern Michigan area had a poor wheat crop this year because of several diseases caused by a host of fungi. According to G. Wayne Hothem, Cass county extension director, the drought this year only accentuated what has been building up for several years.

Root and stem diseases have been severe this year but can be controlled if the fungi that cause the disease is not allowed to live in the open where they survive better. Hothem recommended that the deeper farmers plow residue under,the less the diseases will be able to survive. Wheat planted 7 to 14 days after the Hessian fly-free date, which is usually between Sept. 20 and will also be more disease free, Hothem said. He added that the date agrees with the findings in the study and the practice is accepted agronomically.

Because of a lack of seed treatment since mercuries were outlawed, many grain farmers have been neglecting to treat seed at all. The neglect, Hothem said, has caused stinking smut and common bunt to spread so badly this year that spores could be scooped up from the floor of the combine during harvest.

Hothem said hexachlorobenzene or carboxin can be used for treatment.

Study Proves Michigan No. 1 In Blueberries

Just as the Michigan Blueberry Growers association claimed about five years ago, Michigan has passed New Jersey in cultivated blueberry production, making it first in the nation as a blueberry producer, according to the results of a recent survey.

The survey, the first attempt to provide accurate statistics concerning blueberry production in Michigan, was conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and the Michigan Crop Reporting service in late 1975.

According to the results of the months-long survey, Michigan produced 32.1 million pounds of blueberries, 40 per cent more than New Jersey, its closest competitor, and well beyond North Carolina, its next biggest rival, said C. A. Hines, statistician in charge of Michigan Crop Reporting service.

Through available sources a master list of every available grower was made, and about 1,200 people were eventually mailed questionnaires. A second questionnaire was sent out to those who didn't answer, and for those who didn't respond to either, telephone calls and personal interviews were conducted.

Of the 1,200 persons originally contacted, only 580 actually operated commercial outlets. (For the report, a grower had to maintain a minimum of one-half acre of berries for sale.)

The survey asked growers to list acreage given to blueberries, the age and variety of the bushes, crop use, and production and harvesting methods. The final tally showed Michigan producers had roughly 9,700 acres planted in blueberries in 1975. Of that total, an estimated 8,500 acres, or 88 per cent, were bearing age — five years or older.

Three blueberry varieties dominated. Jersey, the overwhelming leader, accounted for 56 per cent of all acreage planted. Bluecrop and Rubel followed with 14 per cent each. The remaining acreage was divided among at least 25 other varieties.

PSYCHOLOGY IN PLAIN LANGUAGE

New Book Maps Phases Of Adult Life

By PETER H. KING
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young Ivy League graduate charges off to law school, his imagination naively flushed with fantasies of invincibility. It's his time for the Trying Twenties.

Like the song, the 30-year-old junior executive wonders, "Is that all there is?" He doesn't know what is missing, but he itches to expand his boundaries. He's caught in the clutches of the Catch 30s.

"I can't blame those wrinkles on my smiling eyes any longer," muses the housewife, 35. It's half-time in her life, and she feels the pressure to form a game plan for the second half. It's the dawn of her Deadline Decade.

Trying Twenties, Catch-30s and Deadline Decade are some of life's landmarks as plotted in "Passages: Predictable Crises of Adult Life," a new book by journalist Gail Sheehy.

Miss Sheehy, 39, contends that almost all adults face crises, or passages, in their lives which can be predicted and perhaps coped with. Her best-selling book, she says, attempts to serve as a sort of map, charting the personality changes common to each stage of life.

The original idea, Miss Sheehy said, was to research the notion that adults go through stages similar to the "Terrible Twos" and "Noisy Nines" of childhood.

"We've not been very good to ourselves as adults," she said. "I mean, here we are, out there trying to make sense of the world as its most active members, and so much time is spent studying children and adolescents that we almost totally ignore ourselves."

In the course of her three years of research, Miss Sheehy interviewed hundreds of adults, compiled 115 case studies and consulted more than 30 psychologists and analysts. But after wading through all that material, she said, she had to make a "passage" of her own before beginning to write.

"It was a big step when I decided I had the right to do that sort of book," said Miss Sheehy, who previously had written about such nonscientific subjects as the Black Panthers and New York prostitutes.

"For me, it was a breaking out of a pigeon-holing role where people would say: 'Look, you're a journalist, you can't write a scientific book.' I was totally determined not to use the jargon the professionals use to set themselves apart from the public.

"I don't think it's necessary to put psychology into abstract prose no one but psychologists understand. I decided that if I couldn't figure a way to say it in a way I could understand, then I had failed as a writer, which is supposed to be my area of expertise."

Within a few weeks of publication, the book had penetrated best-seller lists. But Miss Sheehy says a perhaps better measure of response is the letters she receives from its rsportion are gee-whiz letters: 'Gee, you're writing about me. How did you know?'"

Faced with criticism that her book borders on pop psychology, the author counters that "Passages" was not meant to be the definitive work on adult cycles.

"I consider it exploratory," she said. "There will be arguments, refinements, additions, revisions. That's how concepts gain validity."

What the book does provide, Miss Sheehy believes, is consolation for adults who feel they are the only ones faced with the difficult crises spawned by passage from one cycle to the next.

"People in the Twenties category seemed to have a crawl-under-the-covers reaction to the book," she says. "They don't want to believe it's going to happen to them.

"But people who are over 30 are ready to want to hear that they are not alone in their hang-ups."

Such hang-ups can be overcome only when they are faced, Miss Sheehy contends.

"Generally, we think of crises as being bad; change is the thing that makes us the most anxious," she said. "If you know they are normal changes, however, then you can accept them more easily."

Early New Cars Hike August Output

DETROIT (AP) — An earlier-than-normal new model startup helped push passenger-car production figures for U.S. automakers to their highest August level in more than 20 years.

Production rose more than eight per cent over last August figures, and even topped totals for July, normally a bigger production month than August.

The entire 40,000 unit increase over last August came at General Motors, which built 278,035 units compared to 208,544 last year. GM has built a total of 3,158,691 cars this year, compared to 2,205,847 by this date in 1975.

Both Chrysler Corp. and Ford Motor Co. showed slight declines from last year's figures.

Chrysler turned out 94,478 cars in August, compared to 98,425 for the same month last year, putting the company's 1976 production total up to 872,294, a big increase over the 1975 year-to-date total of 571,365.

Ford built 149,795 units in August, down from last August's 158,753. For the year, Ford has built 1,492,488 autos, compared with 1,134,158 through August 1975.

American Motors, which has slowed production because of a small-car sales slump, showed a 45 per cent production drop from last year. AMC produced 18,058 cars this August, compared with 33,104 last August.

Within a few weeks of publication, the book had penetrated best-seller lists. But Miss Sheehy says a perhaps better measure of response is the letters she receives from its rsportion are gee-whiz letters: 'Gee, you're writing about me. How did you know?'"

Faced with criticism that her book borders on pop psychology, the author counters that "Passages" was not meant to be the definitive work on adult cycles.

"I consider it exploratory," she said. "There will be arguments, refinements, additions, revisions. That's how concepts gain validity."

What the book does provide, Miss Sheehy believes, is consolation for adults who feel they are the only ones faced with the difficult crises spawned by passage from one cycle to the next.

"People in the Twenties category seemed to have a crawl-under-the-covers reaction to the book," she says. "They don't want to believe it's going to happen to them.

"But people who are over 30 are ready to want to hear that they are not alone in their hang-ups."

Such hang-ups can be overcome only when they are faced, Miss Sheehy contends.

"Generally, we think of crises as being bad; change is the thing that makes us the most anxious," she said. "If you know they are normal changes, however, then you can accept them more easily."

Early New Cars Hike August Output

DETROIT (AP) — An earlier-than-normal new model startup helped push passenger-car production figures for U.S. automakers to their highest August level in more than 20 years.

Production rose more than eight per cent over last August figures, and even topped totals for July, normally a bigger production month than August.

The entire 40,000 unit increase over last August came at General Motors, which built 278,035 units compared to 209,544 last year. GM has built a total of 3,158,691 cars this year, compared to 2,205,847 by this date in 1975.

Both Chrysler Corp. and Ford Motor Co. showed slight declines from last year's figures.

Chrysler turned out 94,478 cars in August, compared to 98,425 for the same month last year, putting the company's 1976 production total up to 872,294, a big increase over the 1975 year-to-date total of 571,365.

Ford built 149,795 units in August, down from last August's 158,753. For the year, Ford has built 1,492,488 autos, compared with 1,134,158 through August 1975.

American Motors, which has slowed production because of a small-car sales slump, showed a 45 per cent production drop from last year. AMC produced 18,058 cars this August, compared with 33,104 last August.

Canonization Likely In Spring

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The ceremony to canonize 19th-century American Bishop John Neumann as a saint of the Roman Catholic church will probably be held next spring, according to a Vatican official.

The official, who declined to be identified by name, confirmed today that the Vatican Congregation for the Causes of Saints has decided to recommend the canonization of Bishop Neumann, a parish priest in Baltimore and Pittsburgh and the bishop of Philadelphia until he died in 1860.

Watergate Bill Hits A Snag

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposition by the influential chairman of the House Judiciary Committee to a permanent special prosecutor raises a obstacle to the Senate-passed bill that would create such a post.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who presided over the committee's 1974 impeachment proceedings in the Richard M. Nixon case, was joined in opposing the bill by other figures who were prominent in uncovering the Watergate scandal.

Canonization Likely In Spring

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The ceremony to canonize 19th-century American Bishop John Neumann as a saint of the Roman Catholic church will probably be held next spring, according to a Vatican official.

The official, who declined to be identified by name, confirmed today that the Vatican Congregation for the Causes of Saints has decided to recommend the canonization of Bishop Neumann, a parish priest in Baltimore and Pittsburgh and the bishop of Philadelphia until he died in 1860.

Watergate Bill Hits A Snag

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposition by the influential chairman of the House Judiciary Committee to a permanent special prosecutor raises a obstacle to the Senate-passed bill that would create such a post.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., DN.J., who presided over the committee's 1974 impeachment proceedings in the Richard M. Nixon case, was joined in opposing the bill by other figures who were prominent in uncovering the Watergate scandal.

Buchanan Steel Has New Pact

BUCHANAN — A new three-year contract for 227 hourly workers at the Buchanan Steel plant here has been ratified by members of Local 1 of the United Auto Workers.

Robert Powers, director of industrial relations for the firm, said the new pact, approved by union members Wednesday, was affective immediately. The previous three-year contract expired on Aug. 31, he said.

Terms of the new agreement call for an unlimited cost of living factor to be based on the federal government's Bureau of Labor Statistics figures; a 33-cent per hour pay raise to be spread over three years; addition of a dental insurance plan and improvements to health insurance, vacation and pension plans.

Buchanan Steel is a division of National Standard, Niles.

Market Turns Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed today in early trading.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down more than a point. But advancing New York Stock Exchange issues held a slim lead on those declining.

At the start of the session, the government reported that the unemployment rate rose to 7.9 per cent in August, the third monthly rise and the highest the rate has been since last December.

Wall Street was still studying the wholesale price statistics released Thursday. Although they showed a .1 per cent drop in wholesale prices last month overall, prices for industrial commodities rose .7 per cent.

Early prices today included Sears, Roebuck, up ¼ at 68⅜; Dupont, down ⅜ at 131½; and Halliburton, down ⅞ at 65¾.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.16 to 984.79. Stocks advancing in price on the NYSE led those declining by a 7-6 margin.

Big Board volume totaled 18.92 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .07 to 102.48.

South Haven Hospital

SOUTH HAVEN — Patients admitted to South Haven Community hospital yesterday included Mrs. John Braunz, Mrs. Eloise Johnson, Mack Pettie, Mrs. George Webb, South Haven; Mrs. James Johnson, Glenn.

SJ Planners Delay Apartment Ruling

The St. Joseph city planning commission yesterday postponed a decision on a proposed 48-unit apartment complex because of a request for more time by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, developers and builders of the project.

In a letter to the commission, the Smiths requested a decision on the $800,000 project be postponed for 30 days so they could give the planning commission "a complete picture" of what they intend to do.

Commission Chairman James Heathcote said the Smiths want to show planners designs of some apartments in South Bend that would be similar to what they intend to build at 1401 Langley avenue, St. Joseph. The postponent was granted by the planning commission.

Details of the proposed apartment complex were presented in the Aug. 3 edition of The Herald-Palladium.

The Smiths, of St. Joseph, are requesting a special use permit necessary to build the complex. The planners must make a recommendation to the city commission on a special use permit because the site is currently zoned for two-family housing.

City Commissioner Warren Gast after a recent commission meeting said it was a "foregone conclusion" that the apartments would be turned down because among other things the city commission had taken a position that the city does not need any more apartment complexes.

In other action at the planning commission meeting, the planners approved both the downtown development plan and the St. Joseph master plan for the city.

James Muldoon, of the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission (SMRPC), said the downtown plan was prepared by Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc., planning consultants of Evanston, Ill.

A result of the Barton-Aschman plan the city is setting up an office development district. The city is in the process of buying property for the district.

The downtown development plan is separate from the downtown development authority being proposed by the St. Joseph Business association of merchants. However the projects are considered compatible.

Muldoon said the master plan is intended to guide orderly, efficient growth and development of the city. The SMRPC and the planning commission have been working on the master plan for about a year. Muldoon said it covers transportation, housing, economic profile of the city and other matters. The Herald-Palladium has detailed each phase of the master plan after they were discussed at the planning commission meetings.

Carl L. Conklin, city building inspector, said city commission approval is not needed in adopting the plans. He said they go into effect immediately.

The planning commission also:

—Approved a request from Southtown Car Wash, Inc., to install four gasoline dispensing pumps at the Southtown Car Wash located at 808 Highland avenue.

—Approved lot splits for Karl Gersonde, 2701 Cleveland avenue; Fred Schneck, 703 Comings avenue, and Richard Lambrecht for his business at 2916 Niles avenue.

Lambrecht, a member of the planning commission, abstained from voting on his request. He wanted a lot split so he can expand his liquor store and add parking space. His liquor store is located at 2926 Niles avenue. He also owns the Clothesline at 2916 Niles avenue.

Market Turns Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed today in early trading.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down more than a point. But advancing New York Stock Exchange issues held a slim lead on those declining.

At the start of the session, the government reported that the unemployment rate rose to 7.9 per cent in August, the third monthly rise and the highest the rate has been since last December.

Wall Street was still studying the wholesale price statistics released Thursday. Although they showed a .1 per cent drop in wholesale prices last month overall, prices for industrial commodities rose .7 per cent.

Early prices today included Sears, Roebuck, up ¼ at 68⅜; Dupont, down ⅜ at 131⅛; and Halliburton, down ⅞ at 65¾.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.16 to 984.79. Stocks advancing in price on the NYSE led those declining by a 7-6 margin.

Big Board volume totaled 18.92 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .07 to 102.48.

Buchanan Steel Has New Pact

BUCHANAN — A new three-year contract for 227 hourly workers at the Buchanan Steel plant here has been ratified by members of Local 1 of the United Auto Workers.

Robert Powers, director of industiral relations for the firm, said the new pact, approved by union members Wednesday, was affective immediately. The previous three-year contract expired on Aug. 31, he said.

Terms of the new agreement call for an unlimited cost of living factor to be based on the federal government's Bureau of Labor Statistics figures; a 32-cent per hour pay raise to be spread over three years; addition of a dental insurance plan and improvements to health insurance, vacation and pension plans.

Buchanan Steel is a division of National Standard, Niles.

SJ Planners Delay Apartment Ruling

The St. Joseph city planning commission yesterday postponed a decision on a proposed 48-unit apartment complex because of a request for more time by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, developers and builders of the project.

In a letter to the commission, the Smiths requested a decision on the $800,000 project be postponed for 30 days so they could give the planning commission "a complete picture" of what they intend to do.

Commission Chairman James Heathcote said the Smiths want to show planners designs of some apartments in South Bend that would be similar to what they intend to build at 1401 Langley avenue, St. Joseph. The postponent was granted by the planning commission.

Details of the proposed apartment complex were presented in the Aug. 6 edition of The Herald-Palladium.

The Smiths, of St. Joseph, are requesting a special use permit necessary to build the complex. The planners must make a recommendation to the city commission on a special use permit because the site is currently zoned for two-family housing.

City Commissioner Warren Gast after a recent commission meeting said it was a "foregone conclusion" that the apartments would be turned down because among other things the city commission had taken a position that the city does not need any more apartment complexes.

In other action at the planning commission meeting, the planners approved both the downtown development plan and the St. Joseph master plan for the city.

James Muldoon, of the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning commission (SMRPC), said the downtown plan was prepared by Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc., planning consultants of Evanston, Ill.

A result of the Barton-Aschman plan the city is setting up an office development district. The city is in the process of buying property for the district.

The downtown development plan is separate from the downtown development authority being proposed by the St. Joseph Business association of merchants. However the projects are considered compatible.

Muldoon said the master plan is intended to guide orderly, efficient growth and development of the city. The SMRPC and the planning commission have been working on the master plan for about a year. Muldoon said it covers transportation, housing, economic profile of the city and other matters. The Herald-Palladium has detailed each phase of the master plan after they were discussed at the planning commission meetings.

Carl L. Conklin, city building inspector, said city commission approval is not needed in adopting the plans. He said they go into effect immediately.

The planning commission also:

—Approved a request from Southtown Car Wash, Inc., to install four gasoline dispensing pumps at the Southtown Car Wash located at 808 Highland avenue.

—Approved lot splits for Karl Gersonde, 2701 Cleveland avenue; Fred Schneck, 703 Comings avenue, and Richard Lambrecht for his business at 2916 Niles avenue.

Lambrecht, a member of the planning commission, abstained from voting on his request. He wanted a lot split so he can expand his liquor store and add parking space. His liquor store is located at 2926 Niles avenue. He also owns the Clothesline at 2916 Niles avenue.
